LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The Proposed Bry Bock. [To the Editor of THE DAILY NEWS.]

Dear sir, -I notice in the issue April 7th of your valuable paper an article in reference to the proposed building of a dry dock. This is an udnertaking that has been talked of for a great many years, and very few men can realize its want in the city of Kingston except those who keep themselves posted in the marine with pneumonia, the result of a severe business of this section. Most people can remember that a dry dock was started here some years ago by a private company composed of men well able to complete it; but, after spending some twelve or fifteen thousand dollars on it, they stopped and applied to the corporation to have a bying the danger of floods at that city. law passed for the purpose of having said corporation take $15,000 stock said dry dock. Some people who were anxious that dry dock should be built, opposed this bylaw, believing that, if the by law passed, the money got from the city would go to pay off the debts then standing against the structura. Consequently, it remains the same as when the by law was defeated, and it now occupies the foot of Union street. The Alaska seal fisheries were discussed rector; service at 3. with a view to their better protection from foreign interference. It is represented that the interests are now threatened by the wanton and wholesale slaughter of seals in the open ocean. It seems that during the day the female scals leave their young on the shares of the islands in charge of the males while they go miles away in search of food, with which they return at night. Recently a practice has sprung up of catching the female seals while they are in search of food. Their young perish as a matter of course, and the perpetuation of the animals is endangered The difficulty of controlling this matter arises from the want of jurisdiction beyond the three mile limit Rumored Marriage in High Lite-New foundland Troubles. London, April 9 .- A marriage is in process of arrangement between the Grand Duke Paul, the youngest brother of the czar, and the Princess Alexandra, eldest daughter of King George of Greece The eccentric proceedings of the proposed bridegroom during his recent visit to Athens nearly led to the breaking off of the march, and the marriage will certainly not be one of affection. The young prinwho is in her seventeenth year. might take warning from the fate of Princess Elizabeth of Hesse, who married the Grand Dake Sergius, from whom she would long ago have been separated but for the interference of the emperor. NEWFOUNDLAND'S TROUBLES. London, April 9 -A letter signed by members of the Newfoundland legislature appears in the Daily Telegram in which they appeal on the basis of the recent despatches of Sir George William Desvocux, the governor of Newfoundland, to the British sense of justice for compensation for losses sustained under the disallowance clause of the bill regulating the export of bait, and ask that the operation of the clause be not extended beyond a year on the ground that the French had ample notice of the passage of the bill and that the colony has the right to control the fisheries in its own waters.
