Suspicion is expressed that the Canadian parliament should have interfered with home politics.

A Popular Officer.

The Saskatchewan Herald, referring to Major Cotton, of the mounted police, brother of Lieutenant-Colonel Cotton, "A" battery, uses the following eulogistic language: "Major Cotton has, during the short time he has been here, won the esteem of all who came in contact with him. Though far from wishing to curtail the rest and relaxation from official work he requires, yet he who bears the feeling of all in hoping to have his presence soon with us again. The duties of a police officer is called to perform in this country are many and often delicate in nature, but Major Cotton has proved himself equal to them all. As a magistrate his judgments have been impartial; as an officer he has the esteem and confidence of his men; his kind and ever ready sympathy as a government official are evident, while those who have the privilege of his friendship know that his services are a valuable asset to the public. It is much to be hoped that the government will feel it necessary to remove from Battledore a gentleman who has won the respect of all as Major Cotton has, and that the summer will bring him back again with renewed health and strength to resume his official duties here."

Concert at Battledore.

A very pleasant concert was given in the town hall, Battledore last evening in aid of St. Mark's church, by a party of ladies and gentlemen from the city. It was chiefly a repetition of the concert given in Newburgh a few weeks ago with several important additions and consisted of songs by Mrs. Bette, Mrs. Dacon, Misses Keeley, F. Strange and L. W. Shannon; duets by Miss Bates and Wilson, and Miss Wilson and Mr. F. Strange, a trio from the Mikado, in costume by Misses Gildersleeve, Cooke and Britton, two choruses by the company, the solo being taken by Mr. Baldwin and Mr. Oliver; a piano solo by Mr. Harvey, a whistling solo by Mr. Sistrunk, and a breakdown, in clown's costume, by Mr. Palmer. All the parts were well taken and highly received, especially the songs of Mrs. Bette and Mrs. Dacon, the duets, the quaint Mikado trio, the comic songs of Mr. Keeley and the clown's breakdown by Mr. Palmer. "God save the queen" was sung at 10:30 p.m., after which the performers were hospitably entertained by Rev. K. L. and Mrs. Jones.

A Good Example.

The saloon keepers of Watertown, have had business cards printed with the following inscription: "Know ye that by payment of a large sum of money I am permitted to retail intoxicating liquors at my saloon in this city. To the wife who has a drunkard for a husband, or any one having a friend unfortunately dissipated, I say emphatically, give me notice in person of such case or cases in which you are interested, and father, mother, sister or brother, of such persons do the same, and their request will be kindly regarded."
