AYER'S Hair Vigor has given me perfect satisfaction. I was time I used many hair preparations, but without success. Indeed, what little hair I had, was grewing thinner, ustil I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor. I used two bottles of the Vigor, and my head is now well covered with a new growth of hair:

LEWIS W. SHANNON, EDITOR AND PUBLISHER.

A SENSIBLE AMENDMENT.

Mr. McNeil, M.P., has introduced bill to amend the civil service act so that promotion shall not depend upon the passing of an examination, but upon duties; and the common sense of the public will applaud a suggestion at once reasonable, intelligent, and business like. At the present time there are many competent men who have grown grey in these vice of the country who are debarred from promotion by the existence of an absurd clause in the civil service act which compels the passing of a perfectly useless examination before a step can be gained. Proficiency in the various might possibly fit the candidate for a schoolmaster's position, but in so far as the duties of his office are concerned no benefit of any kind is gained. As the law now stands, barristers, attorneys, engineers, officers of artillery, and certain others, are exempt from examination, and persons without their having the slightest knowledge of the requirements of the situation. A barrister is a very good man in court, but in the post office department

The examination for promotion to the grade of first class clerk is the same for all departments but the knowledge acquired does not make the candidate a bit more useful than his department found from this there is something painfully absurd in the spectacle of an elderly or middle-aged gentleman struggling with Aigebra and vulgar fractions after thirty himself for the duties of the dead letter office where he has spent the last fifteen years of his life.

This should be the only qualification necessary outside of personal respectability, and we cordially wish the member for North Bruce the pay, a rent of £760, Griffith's valuation, success which the good sense and common inatice of his proposed legislation amply

O'BRIEN IN TORONTO. The village down the lake, called by its admirers the Queen city, has done itcelf proud by its notable display on Tues day on the occasion of Mr. O'Brien's visit. It seems a pity that she did not borrow a leaf from the note-books of her sister cities in Quebec. Whatever opinion we may have about the expediency of things ought to be patent to has been careful in his speeches hitherto to cast no reflection upon her majesty, or upon Lord Lansdowne in his official capacity as our governor general. Secondly, that the attempt on Tuesday to prevent freedom of speech by rowdyism CARPET ROOMS. does no honor to Canadian intelligence. We often hear the am bitious hamlet with the euphonious name prate about Quebec's inferiority to our province: it pains us to think that the fraces in Queen's park does not seem to bear out the belief. If the people of Canada do not approve of Mr. O'Brien's opinions on the landlordism of our governor-general, there is no need of a miniature Donnybrook fair to show their sentiments; it would be more in accordance with the dignity of the Canadian people to manifest its disapproval of these sentiments by declining to go to

One or two new points which he touched or attempted to touch upon yesterday or which have been recently produced in his behalf, may, however, be referred to for the sake of vindicating the truth. It is alleged, for instance though this is uncient history and has no bearing this is ancient history and has no bearing around us ready to apon the Queen's county cases, or indeed apont. We may apon the present Lord Lanedowne's treatment of his tenants there or elsewhere, that the governor-general's grandfather evicted his Kerry tenants during the ships to perish miserably. The fact is dominion.—House cleaning is the order plainly to the med cal director, that the Kerry of that day, like the whole of the west and south-west of Ireland, was congested. The sotato famine bad overwhelmed soil; no one could pay rent; the country was stricken and bankrupt. In this crisis Lord Lanedowne's grandfather, who over 2,000 acres of a belt. H. Orser left had not received a sou from his Kerry estates for four or five years, offered to send to America, at his own expense, all who desired to go; and a large number of tenants eagerly seized the chance. Sir Charles' statement was founded on defective information supplied to him by persons who probably had no great desire to supply him with the truth; and Lausdowne in letters to the London Duils Telegraph, the vehicle employed by Sir Charles in making the charge. It may be well to add that the charge was sprung immediately after Lord Lanedowne had broken with the Gladstone cabinet on its Irish policy and joined the liberal-unionists. The facts are simply these : In 1879 Lord Lansdowne, under an act still in force, obtained loans aggregating £6,500 from the board of works for improvement purposes. Times were hard, great distress existed in Kerry, and the money was applied to the construction of drains, etc., at which a large number of the sufferers found employment.
