CANADA'S IMPOT ON IRON

A DEBATE ON THE SUBJECT IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

The View Taken that the Duties were Not Imposed in a Spirit of Hostility to England, but to Foster the Dominion's Mineral Wealth.

London, June 17.—In the House of Lords to-day Lord Lansdowne called attention to the prohibitory duties which the Canadian Government proposed to place upon English iron.

Lord Carnarvon said he regarded the proposed duties as purely a matter of home finance, and that it would be regrettable if the English Government allowed the impost to affect the proposed invention of the Vancouver Steamship Line.

Lord Onslow reminded the House that the Government had no practical power to interfere in the matter. He said that a number of representations were made to the Colonial Office to be forwarded to Lord Lansdowne were receiving the firm support of the Government. He could not think the duties would be imposed in any spirit of hostility to England. In view of the Canadian Government's policy was to foster the Dominion's immense undeveloped mineral wealth, and it was with a view of obtaining iron and its products which were directed principally against the United States, rather than Great Britain. (Cries of "heavens! heavens!" here.)

Lord Salisbury concurred in the belief that there were no animosities against England in the Canadian party. The new iron duty was part of the increased protective feeling existing in every country. Probably the Canadian party's chief protection was mercantile was defensive, it was sincere. The Government would do well if it would behalf of British manufacturers, but he would not move to give confidence in their efforts.

PETROLEUM AS FUEL.

An Experiment with a Pennsylvania Engine Proves a Success.

Pittsburg, June 18.—The first train that ever ran or attempted to run west of the Allegheny mountain with crude petroleum as the only fuel in its locomotive tender and fire box was the mail train west on the Pennsylvania railroad that arrived in this city last night. It came through from Altoona on time, and it came without a stick of timber or a scuttle of coal to make steam for its motor. The train was drawn by engines No 408 with Engineer Burback at the throttle. There was entire uniformity of heat in the fire box without any smoke to make it. The pipes from the 200 gallons of crude oil in a tank in the tender did the business. The experiment was a decided success. Splendid time was made, and there was no annoyance from smoke or fenders. Experiments in this line have been quietly progressing under Pennsylvania railroad auspices at Altoona, but this is the first time the long run to Pittsburg has been attempted with only oil for fuel. The process is the invention of a Russian scientist and Mr. Dudley, of the Altoona shops, has been developing it slowly but surely. It will prove a great stroke of economy. The second section of the day express left this morning for the east with the same locomotive and fuel.

Lake City News.

Great bargains at 75c. store to-night. The U.S. will play the Waterlows on July 2nd.

Chinese lanterns, flags, fireworks of all kinds at 75c. store. Don't fail to see them.

Between four and five hundred went down the river on the St. Lawrence this afternoon.

On Tuesday, the 21st, the Kingston club will play the Picton baseball club on the Reginopolis collage grounds.

A "black list" has been published for circulation among business men in Kingston. The names on it are numerous.

To night—at the 75c. store, milk strainer 5c., large dinner pail, iron dripping pan 5c., iron bread pan 5c., and hundred of other articles for 5c.

At the water works arbitration this afternoon, Manager Wilson produced figures to show that the Kingston water rates were lower than those in Ottawa.

Two hundred children assembled at the city hall this afternoon and practised for the jubilee celebration under the instruction of Prof. Raynor.

Mr. Brown, caretaker of the court house, has placed and arranged a beautiful flower bed on the grounds at his own expense. He is the right man in the right place.

These were thirty-eight candidates in all at the Royal military college examinations in the different cities just concluded. Every district was represented except British Columbia.

Ely's Cream Biscuit made me of Cataract so many years standing—restored my sense of smell. Felt it in the head in works like magic. E. H. Shorewood, National State Bank, Elizabeth, N.J.

Only one witness, Mr. J. S. Irwin, plumber of the water works company, was examined by the arbitration this afternoon. It was the intention of the counsel to finish up to day, if the summing up took till midnight.

The papers at the examinations for admission to the R. M. C. were more severe this year than usual. The number of applicants for admission to this institution has been so great year by year that this course has been adopted to make matriculation more difficult.

The collections for the celebration are doing well, so well that they expect to secure about $900. Already the licensed victuallers have subscribed close on to $250, and the total contributed is over $400. The collectors have no time to lose.

Navy blue serge, just the thing for camping suits and boating dresses, very cheap, at R. McFea's.

Tickets for Montreal.

The 14th battalion have been granted leave by the G.T.R. authorities to take with them to Montreal friends to the extent of their accommodation. This will afford any who are desirous of seeing a grand celebration an opportunity that seldom offered as the jubilee celebration in Montreal bids fair to eclipses all previous efforts in this direction.

Giving out the Uniforms.

Montreal, June 17.—The Hochelaga Bank has issued circulars to other banks asking for information regarding the number of $10 and $20 bills held by them. This is in view of the fact that Parent had in his possession and has been circulating forged bills of the Hochelaga Bank. To what extent, however, it is impossible to say.

It was rumored today that Parent had offered $15,000 cash to compensate provided he were allowed to return unimpeded.

Mr. S. Charles, the President, said the bank had agreed to do so.

Revard, the other check, who held Parent's check, has also been dismissed.

COUNT LEO TOLSTOI.

The Story of the Life and Works of a Remarkable Man.

The fate of Count Leo Tolstoi's work "The power of darkness," is the subject of much speculation in literary circles.

The Imperial Alexandra theatre of St. Petersburg was about to perform the play.

It was suddenly its appearance was prohibited not only in that city, but on any Russian stage and in every bookshop and bookseller at the same time, strenuously prohibited.

If Count Leo Tolstoi had never written anything but this, he would have world-wide recognition as one of the most remarkable men of the age. But Count Tolstoi has written also a number of novels which are considered by the Russian, German and French critics as equal to the best productions of Dickens, Thackeray, George Eliot, or any other master of the first rank.

"War and peace," "Anna Karenina" and "Cossacks" by

Tolstoi, will live as long as any novel by Turgeneff. Add to being a consummate writer in every respect. He is a man who has lived through all the intellectual and moral crises to which Russia and the world have been subjected for the last quarter of a century. He has experienced personally all the pleasures of the world and he has found them all to be vanity and vexation of spirit. His birth and education had balanced to the best society, and yet that society had no charms for him. He took part in the Crimean war, but the soldiers' plot was not to his liking. He was made a courier, but the life at the imperial court did not please him. The opposition again maintained that a commission should be appointed to investigate the whole conduct of the management, and Sir John in reply held that the Indians were rich and he tried in good earnest to reform the degraded classes in Moscow; but when he learned how deep were the social wounds his hands dropped in despair and he left the court.

Mr. Perley of Aspinwall said that from personal observation he knew that the Indians were not half as bad as they were described.

The Fisheries Question.

OTTAWA, June 17.—On the fisheries estimates this afternoon, Mr. Elton and Davies spoke on the fisheries question, and Mr. Rich and Cartwright said this was a good opportunity for the Premier to express the views of the Government on that subject.

Mr. John Macdonald: There can be no objection to the hon. gentleman making the enquiry. The member for Prince Edward (Davies) was good enough to say that he has the correspondence that passed between the two Governments and that he cannot disapprove of the points taken by the Particulars of the fisheries question.

We stood simply on the convention of rights.

We stated and held to it that the change of years and the other conventional treatment which had been made by the Particulars of the fisheries question and could not in any way, in the most remote degree affect the terms of the convention of 1818.

That convention was made after the delivery of the Particulars of the fisheries question, to which a good deal was given by the United States, as well as something given by England. We hold to that now. He added further that it has no way been altered, nor that it can be altered.

Mr. John Macdonald: There can be no objection to the hon. gentleman making the enquiry. He became a philanthropist of the most pronounced kind, giving his money and much of his time to the distressed and needy. It is said he now lives in a common, country house, consisting of one immense room, and filled with all sorts of necessary articles, including libraries of useful books and musical instruments. His children work in the house.
