The Gospel Tent.

The Committee on Parks did not report last evening regarding the removal of the gospel tent in the cricket field. Ald Redden, chairman of committee on parks, says that he has had the tent removed towards the centre of the field so that now the difficulty is at an end and everybody concerned should be satisfied.

Racing in the Park.

On Sunday night officer Burnett had a ively chase in the city park. He was or duty in that vicinity, and was attracted by seeing two horses having a race arc und the big ring. He gave chase and around the ring went the horses, while the policeman cut across here and there. He did not aucceed in securing the names of the drivers of the animals.

The Rotel Trade.

A hotel keeper on being asked why as many strangers did not visit Kingston this year as came here last season, replied that agents were at the depots and wharves sending Tourists on down the river and preventing them from remain ing over night here. However, travel is getting better than it was, and a busy time is expected next season.

The Poundman. Ald. Thompson, last night, wanted to know what the poundman was doing these days, and if he was engaged to sit in the park all the time. Cows were running the streets in the upper part of the city. Alf-Redden said he arese at 4 a m. arc found the poundman attending to his duty, and Ald. McIntyre said he found the man on hand early, also. The latter remarked that the poundman was not omnipresent, and that he thought he was doing his duty well.

An Open Air Assembly.

Yesterday afternoon a private open air assembly was held at Channe! Grove, at which there were about one hundred ladies and gentlemen present. Dancing began at 2 p.m. and continued until ten clock, to the inspiring strains of Profi Byrne's string band. The affair was a decided success, was enjoyed by all who attended, and reflected great credit or those who composed the committee of management. Open air assemblies are something new.

The Coon Again.

Officers Duncan and Small took the low famous coon from the police cells to J. Theobald's barber shop, where it now is an object of great curiosity. On the way up the street the coon tripped the officers several times, and once seized hold of Sandy's trousers and tested the quality of the cloth. Dogs gathered around the animal and kept up a continual barking till the coon disappeared in the shaving saloon, where it was given a warm reception. It is said that John Theobald will enter a suit against Purtell for false arrest.

The Late Mr. Z. Guy. Last night Mr. Zschariah Guy's death occurred, after an illness which lasted over eleven years. The disease was muscular rheumatism of the chest, which thought that Ald. J. G. HUTTON IN NEW YORK.

He Came Near Seeing the Inside of th Toombs-Be Lost a Horse.

Recently an item appeared in the News the effect that J. G. Hutton, livery keeper, of this city, had been arrested in New York city and confined in the Toombs. Yesterday Mr. Hutton returned from New York. He said that, in company with Mr. Elder, of this city, he left six weeks laced the animals in the care of Messra folf & Brady, livery keepers, No. 217. West 58 h street. On the day of their arrival in the city, the partnership existng between Messrs. Golf and Brady was dissolved. Mr. Golf continuing the business. On the third day, Brady went to the stables and took away a sorrel mare belonging to Mr. Hutton, telling the stableman that he had received permission to take the animal, and would return it in an hour. When Brady did chartered to carry grain from Chicago t not return with the horse, Mr. Hutton went to the police headquarters and secured the services of two detectives, who soon found Brady He acknowledged taking the horse, and said in excuse that Mr. Gulf owed him money, and he took the horse in part payment. He was arrested and lodged in the Toombs, but fortunately for Brady, and unfortunately for Mr. Hutton, Mr. Brady is a ward politician of influence. Besides, he votes the same way as the magistrate who was to try the case, Mr. Hutton says that the magistrate decided the case was a civil and not a criminal one, and ordered Brady's release. This gentleman must have thought that revenge is sweet, for he swore out a warrant for the arrest of J. G. Hutton on a charge of false imprisonment. Two bonds men for $500 each had to be secured by Brady before the warrant could be executed. The bondsmen were secured, but at the has his yach!, and one day last week last moment, one of them skipped out, and the warrant was never executed.
