DOMINION INVESTMENTS.

Those despicable politicians who, for the sake of making a point against the party in power...

They assert that Canadians are groaning under a load of debt sufficient to discourage the bravest-hearted people.

They point to the fact that the United States debt is being rapidly decreased while that of Canada is increasing...

They tell Canadians that owing to their heavy burden of debt they are not made more heavily taxed than they ought to be.

They ignore the fact that in the republic the various states provide the funds needed for many public services which in this country are paid for out of Dominion funds.

These unfair, partisan critics carefully abstain from any reference to the fact that Canada's public debt has been incurred in the construction and maintenance of immensely valuable, permanent and indispensable public works and services.

The net debt of the Dominion at confederation was $75,728,641. On June 30, 1886, it was $283,159,107. The increase since confederation has therefore been $147,430,466.

An appendix to the annual report of the Minister of Public Works for the year ending June 30, 1886, has just been published, which gives particulars of the expenditures on public works, such as railways, canals, etc., since confederation, and we commend the digest of the report published in our news columns on Thursday to the perusal of every Canadian who desires to know what we have to show for our federal debt.

It is there shown that the total expenditure on public works since 1867 has been $201,369,976. So we have here made apparent the fact that a people numbering less than five millions have, since July 1, 1867, paid their way and constructed public works of great permanent value to the amount of $50,000,000 more than the increase in the public debt.

In other words, since confederation we have paid current expenses and invested over $50,000,000 in public works. Canadians have no reason to be ashamed of this showing.

One legitimate effect of idleness and dissipation when continuously indulged in is shown by Prof. Cope's remark in the American Naturalist that the Negro type of physiognomy is becoming common in the progeny of the loungers and frequenters of the club-rooms who spend their time and wit solely in seeking to gratify their human senses and lusts.

The milling firm in which Senator Ogilvie is interested has received an order for flour from Japan. This is one result of the opening up of the C.P.R. route to the east.

Mr. Vanhorne announces that in future the transfer of business from the C.P.R. to the St. P. M. & M. will take place at Oregma, instead of at Emerson as formerly.

The Carleton Place Canadian says: "Two commercial men fresh from the seat of the campaign in South Renfrew, said Mr. McIntyre would probably lighten the avoirdupois of his health by $15,000 as the financial result of the election."

There is nothing so abominable as the Carleton Place Canadian. If that town does not prosper, having such a lively newspaper to boom it, there is something wrong with the town.

The bachelor editor of the Toronto Telegram declares that Toronto girls are prettier and more amiable than those of any city on this continent. But then, he has never lived in Kingston.

It is a tough season for milkmen when cows and pigs go dry together.

A Fussy Trio. Boston Herald. There was a young lady in Worcester who was chased by a big black rooster. No frightened was she when the "chicken" was in a tree. No one being present to witness.

These are dog days, and they aren't fit for anything else. Boston Courier. The man who makes boots that he never wears.

The Wanted Band. Boston Budget. On the beach's sandy floor where the ocean lapped the shore he had traced out joined lock names, and then turning with a sigh.

Commercial union journals are the victims of several delusions. One of them is that Canadians will be bamboozled by arguments like this: The present Canadian tariff is arranged on the principle of making the tax higher in proportion to the amount of the variety of goods imported from Great Britain.

Dr. Widdows, convener of a committee appointed by the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church in Canada to visit as many Indian reserves in the North West as they could, has published in Knox College monthly an article on what the committee saw. He says:

The committee appointed by the assembly are satisfied that all is being done by the government for the welfare of the Indians that could reasonably be expected.

A BIG RANCHMAN KILLED.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—The police received information to-day of the tragic death of William Campbell, a big ranchman of Texas, who was robbed in this city about a year ago.

That was a memorable performance of "As you like it" which was given by a company of the best American actors and actresses in the open air at Manchester-by-the-sea.

The following evening Campbell found himself in a stable-street saloon $2500. The huckster who had taken the unfortunate man to Connelly's place was Campbell on the street and had been the manager of the saloon and furnishing the names of the gamblers.

They were all tried and convicted, but only the negro went to the penitentiary. Farrell was successful in his appeal for a new trial and July 26, arrived in McHenry, Kan., with a herd of ponies, heading for Chicago to assist in the prosecution of Farrell, who came to a barber shop on that evening the two went to a larder shop. They left together, and that was the last seen of Campbell.

A large amount of cash was found in the pocket of one of the gang.

The Consequence of Walking on a Slippery Log at Niagara Falls.

By Falls, Aug. 11.—J. F. Neville and Peter Harkness of Montreal started out yesterday morning to take in Niagara Falls, going first through the park to the Horseshoe Falls.

Close to the bank beyond the Terrapin Bridge are three logs and beyond these a large rock which Neville wanted to visit. He started out on the slippery log, but came back and took off his shoes and stockings, saying he would reach the desired spot if he persisted in the attempt.

He reached a point where a green slime covered the logs, and as he stepped on it he slipped. He fell, and in an instant he was swept under the logs, which he caught hold of, but being under water, was obliged to let go.

He caught hold of a log with his feet and projected over the brink. Finding Neville was unable to get up, he called for assistance. He found a boatman and a man in a boat who drove to Mrs. McGeorge's, where he was stopping.

A THIEVES' FROLIC.

A Gang of Thieves Terrorize an Excursion Party. Detroit, Aug. 11.—A gang of thirteen professional and general thieves went to Put-in-Bay yesterday morning on steamer City of Cleveland.

Their conduct on the way was such that the officers of the boat put them ashore and returned to let them return on board. As a result they took the steamer to Alaska on her return trip.

When the steamer reached Detroit she stopped in midstream and sent two patrol boats filled with detectives came down to the dock. The officers got into the boats and rowed out to the Alaska. A thorough search of the boat was made, and the thieves were taken to the dock an hour later eleven persons were brought off and taken to police headquarters.

Two of the gang on the approach of the police jumped overboard. One, said to be the ringleader, reached shore and escaped. The other was taken to the hospital of the ladies of the wheel. Ex-Deputy Sheriff Downie and George Campbell of this city were badly beaten by the gang. A large amount of cash was found in the pocket of one of the gang.
