In Brief, and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

The Kingston Dry Dock.

At a meeting of the Trades and Labor Council at Toronto last night, it was decided to send a protest to the Minister of Public Works at Ottawa against the use of convict labor in the construction of the dry dock at Kingston. George Harris, D. J. O'Donoghue and Charles March were appointed delegates to the Labor Congress, to be held in Hamilton on September 27th, 28th, and 29th.

Why Did He Come Here?

The police yesterday received a telephone message from Deseronto, to look out for Peter Shanveand, who had hired a horse and vehicle and disappeared. Detective Aiken discovered Shanveand yesterday, but he again disappeared, when Officer Snodden found him and brought him to the station house. Deseronto was called up, and as the prisoner claimed to be going back again, the owner of the animal said to allow him to go.

A Distinguished Visitor.

Yesterday the city was honored by a visit from a most distinguished gentleman in the person of Mr. T. W. Cowan, of England, member of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, member of the Royal Geographical Society, editor and proprietor of the British Bee Journal, chairman of the British Bee keepers Association, etc., etc. Mr. Cowan is on a tour through Canada, accompanied by Mrs. Cowan.

The Maud's Own.

If the steamer Maud intends continuing her own excursions, she will either have to be enlarged or go down the river oftener. Yesterday afternoon, after she took her full complement on board, there were fully 150 disappointed people left on the wharf, showing that over 500 citizens desired to take advantage of her special trip among the islands. She touched at Thousand Island Park and allowed some passengers to land. At Alexandria Bay, one passenger got left, but the captain kindly returned to the wharf and took him on board. The Maud's Own Excursions are very popular.

What Is Going On at the Y.M.C.A.

The association has added to its list of papers on file the Ottawa Daily Citizen, the Peterboro' Review, the Renfrew Mercury, the Napanee Express, the Pembroke Observer, and the Charlottetown Examiner. Another interesting addition to the rooms will be a fine collection of proof copies of engravings from the Century and St. Nicholas, which when bound will be placed upon the tables. If the management can secure from the friends of the work some good pictures, as they hope to, the appearance of the rooms would be greatly improved, and made more attractive to the young men of our city. The young men's meeting which will be held to-morrow afternoon at 4:15, will be led by Mr. John Veale. A large attendance is expected.—Com

The Chemical Engine.

The new chemical engine has arrived, and presents a fine appearance. The agent of the company from which the machine was purchased is in the city, and will, he says, give an exhibition. The machine can be used very quickly, and its best points are shown when it is used in buildings where a too great supply of water would do as much harm as fire or smoke. Kingston, it is hoped, will be benefited by the engine. It is painted a brilliant red, and the polishings and mountings make a fine appearance. A box under the driver's seat contains the tool and soda chest. A quantity of drugs and acids can be carried to be used if necessary. The name of the fire department is painted in a conspicuous place, and the bright cylinder is suspended between the two hind wheels. The hose is in a coil on the top of the engine. Parties wishing to view the engine can do so by calling at the station.

THE STREETS COMMITTEE.

A $m II Account to be Paid—Preparing for the Budget Debate.

Yesterday afternoon the Committee on Streets met, and those present were Alds. Thompson, C. Robinson, Downing, Wilson and Drennan. Esther Mair sent in an account for $5.75, for damage done to the window in her house by a blast in the Arch street drain. It was decided to pay the bill. Several other accounts were passed. One for $53 was presented by Mr Jamieson for laying the pipes at the military camp. Ald. Thompson remarked that only $300 were granted for the camp and that if the account mentioned were paid the grant would be overrun by $30. It was decided to lay the account over till another meeting.

Ald. Thompson said that in order to avoid the cost of an arbitration regarding the extension of Sydenham street, he asked Mr I. Newlands to value the Rogopolis outbuildings which would have to be removed. He valued them at $1,500 and the two piers at $70. Some of the aldermen thought to pay these sums would make the opening of the street quite costly.

WILL STAND BY THE REPORT.

The Streets Committee asked the Council to grant $28,000 for streets, but the Finance Committee cut the sum down to $25,000. As the committee was about to rise, Ald. Thompson reminded the alderman of the reduction and asked them if they were going to allow it without raising an objection. He said further, that money had been granted for the Ottawa Guards and other things, while an attempt was being made to reduce the sum which should have been spent on streets. He then asked each member of the committee if he intended to support the report, and each one in turn said: "I will." "That's right," said the chairman; "we'll all stand by our word." The committee then adjourned.

ANOTHER MYSTERIOUS FIRE.

P. Bureau's Heavy Loss—Badly Burned—T. Jamieson Saves a Life.

Another mysterious fire took place this morning about three o'clock, by which Peter Bureau, Johnston street, met with a heavy loss. The stable owned by him and adjoining his residence, was destroyed with all its contents. Only yesterday he purchased a load of hay, and this with two horses, numerous coal buckets, and two carts were burned. Neither the building nor anything in it were insured and the loss will amount to a large sum. Mr. Bureau was awakened by some person knocking at his door. Knowing that his horses were in the stable, and hearing them neigh, he attempted to effect a rescue, but failed and was badly burned about the arms head and face. His hair was singed and to day his injuries were very painful. The horses were both good animals and worth $125 each. Outside of the horses he estimates his loss at over $300. When he went into the stable to untie the animals, one of them was lying down and unable to rise. When the other one was untied it kicked its rescurer out through the door, and as he was then very weak, he considers it a lucky thing for him that the horse did kick him out. A house owned by Mrs McGill was damaged to a certain extent. In this place slept an old man named Donovan who was asleep alone in the house. Thos. Jamieson rushed in and bravely carried the old man out, thus saving his life. How the fire originated is a mystery.

MR. MATTHEW GAGE.

The Comment His Passage Through Toronto Caused.

There passed through the city the other day, says the Globe, on their way to visit their former home, several relatives of Mr Matthew Gage, formerly of Kingston, now of San Bernardino, Southern California. Mr. Gage's history since leaving Kingston a few years ago is an intensely interesting one. Going first to Riverside to carry on his business as a watchmaker and jeweller, he prospered for a time, but was compelled to quit, owing to some affection of the eyes. Looking about for something to do, he struck the idea of artesian wells to supply a never-failing stream of water to a large tract of arid land, which lacked only water to make it blossom as the orange grove. He followed this plan without flagging, working in the face of tremendous financial difficulties, for the project would have been a big one even for a great capitalist to undertake. The people had no faith in him or his scheme, as shown by the fact that they called him "Crazy Gage" for a couple of years. But he struck the water, and so well had he planned that he holds now the virtual control of thousands of acres of land. He is about building a town near San Bernardino, for the bare site of which he has been offered a fabulous sum.

Cricket Match.

A match was played yesterday on the cricket field between Kingston and Brockville players, and resulted in favor of the visitors. The game was a short one, which was owing to the brief stand made by most of the batsmen on both sides. Dobbs did well in the first inning for Kingston, and made a long stand, and Greet came next. These alone secured double figures. The side was disposed of for the small score of forty runs. Field did very well in the second inning, he being the only one who secured a double. Rivers played exceedingly well for Brockville, and secured double figures in each inning. The rest were easily disposed of. The bowling of Taylor and McGiverin for the visitors and that of Pearson and Betts for the home team was very good indeed. Field got several wickets, but he was not on "the spot" in the first inning as well as he generally is, and the consequence was that many runs were made, which an earlier change might have prevented. Many runs were also got in consequence of no fielder being placed at "long leg."

A Yacht Capsizes.

The yacht Minnie A, of Gananoque, was struck by a squall near Tremont Park on Friday afternoon, and she capsized completely throwing her only occupants, Mr. Wm Lashay and Master Richard Byers, into the water. The yacht, fortunately, did not sink and the pair climbed up on her hull, where they remained till rescued. The sole cause of the accident, which fortunately did not have a fatal termination, is said to be in having the sheets made fast.

A FINE AND EVEN GAME

THE BELLEVILLES' FIRST DEFEAT BY KINGSTON.

A Very Costly Error by a First Baseman—Whitewashing the Order of the Hour—How the Two Runs were Scored.

It was a fine and even game of baseball which occurred yesterday afternoon between the Kingston and Belleville teams. There was a good audience, and one that appreciated the good play by both sides. The umpire satisfied everybody except about half a dozen spectators, who yelled at him on one or two occasions, but as he is an old timer in the business he proceeded with his work without noticing the disorderlies. Strangers thought that if there was any difference in the teams the Bellevilles were the stronger, for the reason that up to the end of the fourth inning twelve Kingston men went to the bat and were put out before they reached a base. The Bellevilles got as far as second in the first inning. Eight base hits were made by Belleville, and one ball was sent over the fence by Dyson, while the Kingstons made only three base hits, thus showing that Belleville did the best batting and that McNicol's pitching was more effective than Young's. Both sides made very few errors, but those made by Belleville were the most costly. In the fifth inning two Kingstons were on bases and Garret and Johnson were out, when Jamieson broke a bat, and third threw to first to cut off the batter. The ball was dropped, and the result was two men got in. Had he held the ball three men would have been put out and no runs could have been counted, even if the man on third reached home. But it is often by errors that games are lost and won. The fielding on both sides was good, and the match gave the spectators great satisfaction.

THE PLAY.

Belleville went to the bat first and Dyson opened well by hitting between Trainor's legs. In attempting to reach the second bag he was caught by Young. Farrell hit to Allen, who played shortstop, and Gilman took his base on five called balls, but was left there on Lyons' out to the pitcher. The second and third innings were very short. Jones gave Macklin on first a fly. O'Leary, Kenean and Farrell struck at air, Morrison and McNicol went out from the shortstop and pitcher to first, and Dyson knocked the ball over the fence and stole to third, but was left there. In the fourth, the batters were Gilman, Lyons and Jones. The first two flew to the second baseman and right fielder, and Jones gave the shortstop a slow grounder. No batter reached first base in the fifth. O'Leary gave the pitcher a grounder, Kenean failed to bat the ball, and Morrison went out from the catcher to the first baseman. McNicol in the sixth gave the catcher a foul tip. In the fifth inning, Kingston scored two runs, and Belleville made an effort to score, but failed. Dyson stepped to the front and made a base it, but for the second time was put out on the second bag. Farrell made what would have been a two-bagger, only for his falling after striking the ball. He reached first and Gilman went to bat. He struck a fly to centre field, and Johnston let the ball slip through his hands. Farrell had run to second, and touched the bag, but, thinking that Johnston had caught the fly, ran back towards first when the ball was thrown to second, and as Farrell had been forced off first and touched second, the side was retired. Lyons in the seventh failed to hit, Jones made a base hit and O'Leary and Kenean went out from the pitcher to first. In ning eight was a narrow escape for Kingston. Morrison took his base on five called balls, and staid there while McNicol made an attempt to bat. Dyson hit a ball to left field, and Jamieson made a very difficult catch. There were two men out, with Morrison on first, when Farrell pounded one of Young's curves and got to second, Morrison going to third, and starting for home, when he was caught on that base. The ninth inning was their last hope, and Gilman went to the bat, going out by the pitcher to first. Lyons made a clean two base hit, and went to third, but was left there by Jones fouling out to the third baseman, and O'Leary striking out. The plucky little player who was left on third base, tried hard to run home but was unsuccessful.

In the first inning for Kingston, Allen flew to Lyons, Barnfather to the left fielder, and Young went out from the shortstop to first. McNicol made three batters pound air in the second. Their names are Trainor, Garret and Macklin. Johnston, in the third, pounded air, and Jamieson and Ambach gave the pitcher and shortstop flies. Allen, in the fourth, was retired from the pitcher, and so was Barnfather. Young made all kinds of attempts to hit the ball and failed. The inning in which the runs were made opened by Trainor being struck by a pitched ball and stealing second on a close decision. Macklin made a base hit, and, with Trainor still on second and Macklin on first, Johnston came up, and retired without touching the ball. Two men were out when Trainor reached third, and Macklin second. Jamieson broke a bat in hitting to Jones, who threw to first, and the base runner coming in violent collision with the base man, the latter dropped the ball and the runner was safe on first. Kenean, the baseman, did not at once pick up the ball, and Trainor who was on third base had started for home, quickly followed by Macklin, and both scored before the ball was thrown into the hands of the catcher. There was excitement for a few minutes, and then quietness and peace reigned. In the sixth, Allen and Young made base hits, but were left on their bases by Barnfather and Garret giving Jones and Dyson flies and Trainor striking out. In the seventh and eighth, Macklin and Johnston went out at first from the shortstop and second baseman, and Ambach went out from the third baseman to first. Allan hit to Dyson, and so did Barnfather, and for the second time, Young struck out.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

The gate receipts were $115 85.

Ambach made a nice throw to the catcher from right field and stopped a run.

The umpire was Mr. Sagendorf, of Watertown. He will likely umpire the game to day. He says that McNicol is a fine pitcher.

McNicol struck out eight men in eight innings and Young seven in nine innings.

Barnfather played a good game, and so did Jamieson, the latter taking a difficult fly.

Johnson's "birdie" in centre field did not cost Kingstons anything, because he put his man out on second.

Nearly every other inning fault was found with Young for violating the rules by stepping out of the box. The umpire drew a line in the ground, but as that had not the desired effect a piece of stick was placed in front of him to keep him down to the rules.

Baseball Notes.

Tim Doolan gave the Kingstons a lunch last night.

Young, the Kingstons' pitcher, is pitching in Watertown to day.

The travelling umpire system has been abolished by the Southern league.

Garret, of Toronto, who played with the Kingstons, was disappointing in his batting.

Manager Stroud says the report that he was negotiating with a Brantford amateur to catch for the Hamiltons is a libel.

The Park Nine, says the Ontario, "draws" better in Kingston than the city club, and therein lies the sole cause of dispute about the gate receipts.

The great New York team that will go to California in September will consist of Kelly, right field; Brown, catcher; Keefe, pitcher; Connor, first base; Richardson, second base, Danny, third base; Ward, short stop; Ewing, left field, and Gore, centre.

The Boston Courier has hit on a plan for remedying the trouble that all the baseball leagues have with umpires. It says: "Appoint a man like 'Bob' Ferguson in charge of the staff of umpires and let him be responsible for the supply of good men. The plan is worth trying. It can't result half as badly as the present one of home umpiring."

This is a specimen of ball reporting in the Binghamton Leader:—"The Buffs didn't raise any more fuss to speak of, although ther made a pilgrimage to third ottoman once or twice during the residuum of the egging. Once that tanned guardian of the intermediate pillow came within a soul harrowing distance of the platter, but he was subjected to a timely extinguishment."

The reason why the Cuban Giants are batting so well of late is that they have originated a new plan in the batting order. In every game played the player making the greater number of base hits leads the batting order for the next game, and the player coming next to him in hits is placed second, and so on. This is one of their own ideas, and it incites the boys to do their best all the time.

A despatch from Elmira says: When the Elmira baseball players were paid to day Manager Smith deducted a five dollar fine from the money due pitcher Wm. Callihan. Callihan immediately resigned, as did his brother, the catcher, and three other players. This disbands the club. The Binghamtons are in bad shape financially, and it is believed the disbandonment of the Elmiras will soon be followed by the withdrawal of the Binghamtons from the International League. There is much feeling over the dissolution of the Elmiras. Pitcher Callihan was the lion of the team, and only the other day was presented with a $120 gold watch by enthusiastic citizens.
