THEIR RIGHT KIND OF TALK.

On Saturday last the St. Thomas Evening Journal celebrated its sixth birthday by issuing a sixteen page edition printed from new type.

The Journal is now one of the handsomest dailies in the Province, and is a live, interesting newspaper, ever on the lookout for an opportunity to boom the city in which it is published.

The special edition referred to contains well written articles showing the growth of the mechanical, manufacturing, railway, educational and religious interests of St. Thomas, which is called "the railway city of the West," and there can be no doubt that the publication of such a record of growth and prosperity will do much to attract the attention of outsiders to the advantages of the place.

We rejoice in the evident prosperity of the "Baby City." And we call attention to the fact that although, according to the Brits, the country is rushing on to ruin, here is a Grit journal publishing columns of evidence showing that at least one section of the country is prosperous, for it must certainly be admitted that no city could prosper as St. Thomas is doing unless the surrounding country were prospering also.

Our contemporary publishes in an editorial article words which are worth quoting:

St. Thomas, we repeat, is all right. But the croakers must stop their croaking, take off their coats, and go to work with a will, if they desire that the prosperity of the city shall continue. Either let them do that or get out. If the city is not good enough for them, and they lack the inclination to help make it good enough, they would be conferring a favor by leaving. St. Thomas is all right, but only if thought and action must inspire its residents. They must know no east or west if they would have it grow. They must interest themselves in public affairs, not leave the burden to be borne by a few. They must be liberal in encouragement to every home enterprise, be it manufacturing or educational.

They must be ready at all times to encourage, in all manner within reason, the introduction of new industries.

This paragraph has the right ring about it. We commend it to the attention of Canadians generally, asking them to read "Canada" for St. Thomas, and to Grits and commercial unionists who are croakers particularly. Canada is all right. It is only the croakers who would make it appear otherwise. The progress of St. Thomas is by no means exceptional. In the five years ending with 1886 the population of Toronto has increased fifty per cent; that of Montreal 32 and 9 per cent; respectively; Hamilton, 16 and 31 per cent; London, 32 and 22 per cent; Halifax, 10 and 46 per cent; Winnipeg, 252 and 109 per cent; Bradford, 19 and 29 per cent. There is no good reason for despondency because of the present condition or future of Canada. Let the fearful take courage, and let the croakers stop grumbling, take off their coats and go to work to help make this country even more prosperous than it is.

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.

In the controversy now being carried on concerning commercial union, so far as the News is concerned we propose to do what we can to show that up'n business and patriotic principles Canadians ought to reject the Winan-Butterworth scheme. We believe that the adoption of that scheme would result in material injury to Canada, and put us in the position of a tributary country. We have nothing but words of strong condemnation for those writers and speakers in this country who so persistently represent Canada as a land without a future except by grace of its powerful neighbor to the south, and Canadians as a helpless and hopeless people whose only salvation is commercial union with the United States. We strongly oppose C. U. also because it must lead to annexation, and that result is one that no true Canadian would wish to see brought about. We object to annexation because we believe there is a glorious future for Canada in which she shall be wholly independent of her great neighbor. There are, too, many points on the American system for which we have no admiration. On these lines we are ready to do our part to oppose the C. U. scheme; but we do not see that it is just or wise to make a general onslaught upon the morality of the American people. A correspondent who feels justly indignant with those Canadian writers and speakers who depreciate their country in order to further commercial union, points out particulars in which he thinks our neighbors are no better than they should be. There is no doubt that they have their faults, but it cannot be shown that as a people they are depraved. Notwithstanding the loose ideas of morality to be found in that country, chiefly among its large foreign-born population, we believe the great heart of the American people is sound. Their magnificent record for the past fifty years in the field of Christian civilization at home and abroad, in works of charity, and innumerable enterprises of different kinds calculated to elevate humanity proves that. We are opposed to commercial union, nevertheless we have no idea that the Americans are not such bad people to associate with after all.

MJL. COLGROW'S GREAT SPEECH.

Bill Nye Reports It and Explains His Indian Policy.

My policy—no when I regret to say, has been to give the government the right to hire a sufficient number of armed borderers to take the entire grand remnant sale of Indian tribes out on the plains and watch them all summer, every morning and evening to see that they are all there. Through the day they might be kept busy pulling up the "pien wood" which grows all over the grand remnant of the west, and thus they would get plenty of fresh air and at the same time do good in a modest way. But this scheme of "Holding" the Utes is a hundred years ahead of the age, and I do not expect that it will meet with the indulgence of the administration.

There are, however, two sides to the Indian question—there is a right and a wrong side. That is why the Indian question wears so wet.

One of the great wrongs incident to the matter is the great delay in officially recording the war against the Indians. By the time a courier can get into a telegraph station and wire the governor of a state, who notifies the Indian agent to write a dictated letter with his treacherous typewriter, appointing some commander of the department, who is at Conoy Island or Caribana, with no typewriter, the Indian agent has written a dictated letter to make active inquiries about the matter, and by the time the governor has sent a committee, who go to within fifty miles of the scene of hostilities, and return at the end of six weeks to report that they do not know whether there has been an outbreak or not, and then when a ranchman is really killed and reputable eyewitnesses who were personally acquainted with deceased, and will witness they have no interest in the result of the outbreak, come in and make a written and grammatical request for troops, and the war against the Indians is then declared.

The Indians are quick and impulsive in the adjustment of a quarrel, and will not quarrel with anything of a humorous nature, and all the humorous lectures who have been on the Ute lecture course have lost money, but in the lowest line of general amusement they have no interest in the result of the outbreak, come in and make a written and grammatical request for troops, and the war against the Indians is then declared.

THE CAUSE OF FAILURE.

Why the Son of a New York Divine Lost Dakota.

In the spring of 1877 a young man, the son of a quaker preacher, New York divine, arrived in Fargo, Dak. He had $2,000 which his father had given him with which to start in the west and grow up with the country.

For weeks and weeks he searched for a house for money enough to buy a return ticket. It was promptly sent and a few days after the young man walked into his father's house in New York, finding his paternal relative in his study preparing a sermon. The old gentleman regarded him anxiously over his spectacles and seeing that he appeared to be a good husband, and somewhat severely, "I did the best I could, father."

"Were you robbed of anything of that kind?" "Oh, no."

"Then I must say emphatically that you have been an unfaithful steward. If I had been in your place I could have done better with that $2,000 than you did."

"I am positive that you couldn't have," replied the young man firmly. "I had a royal success, and I put all my money on it, but when it came to the show down a big fat man across the table had five aces and a revolver and took the pot."

"I never played poker in Dakota before and didn't know anything about that hand, so I don't see how I could have done any better."—Dakota Bell.

AN OTTAWA LADY'S EXPERIENCE.

How a Pretty Married Woman Convicted a Detective of Her Identity.

Maad Durnbaugh, who has got back from one of his regular "monthly" "five stacks" trips to Washburn county, is responsible for the following, though all the arts of science reportorial failed to draw from him a disclosure of the chief character's identity.

"It happened at Lawrence," said Maad. "With me waiting at the station for the train to get ready for Ottawa was a lady, whom I subsequently learned is a fashion leader of this city. She is married, and I learn about 22 years old, but her beauty is of that fresh type—that fresh, peach bloom that is full of being ten years younger."

"Well, as we sat there three policemen entered the waiting room and walked through it, eyeing all the inmates closely. They eyed the lady from Ottawa more closely than any one else. They walked through the room again, and then again, and then they consulted, and then two of the policemen took seats on one side of the lady and one on the other. At last one of them came forward to the face and inquired her name, her residence, her age, her destination and a hundred other questions that policemen and you newspaper fellows only can think of. These inquiries were all answered frankly. The police held another consultation for about fifteen minutes. At last one of the blue coats approached the lady and, in a voice saturated with John Walrus and authority, demanded:
