PAPER TOWNS.

A Montreal deputation waited on Sir S. L. Tilley the other day concerning the abolition of the duties on tea and coffee. The Finance Minister said that the abolition was impossible, and had to leave the matter settled in the early days of the session without waiting for the presentation of the budget as usual. The trade is also to be convenience by being allowed to take off and coffee out of the bonded warehouses without regard to the customary duty of ex-warehouse entries of $20.

The Canadian spectator considers the death of patriots to be imminent in Canada, the Reform Party being incapable of offering anything to command patriotic support in their opposition to the Government. Says our contemporary: "It is difficult to find the line which divides parties, excepting it be the mere grab for offices. The 'outs' want to be in and the 'ins' have a strong desire to remain in their position. Mr. Blaikie, Mr. Macdonald and the rest, the Globe have no well-defined ideas as to what would take place with regard to the existing tariff if they were to return to power. The Liberal Party is a hopeless bandit; indeed, it can hardly be called a party, but a mass of incoherent mass. Sir John Macdonald to make his appeal to the country at any time during the next few months he would achieve a triumph through the Dominion equal to that gained by Mr. Gladstone in the province of Quebec."

We have been told, and the argument has been repeated ad nauseam, that the present government is not doing the best three years have brought them.

Political Education.

Every boy ought to have regular instruction in grammar, drill and tactics. I am in a position to prove, by regular kept a record of his studies, that a boy of nine years of age, was a factor in the family, and outlasted his mother, who died when he was but a year old.

Shakespeare was to an amateur of these posts around its town is still standing. Falstaff, out in Cheshire, is another of the old kites. The town was founded in 1800 for a lot, now they won't stand for an acre. But a hard-earned dollar was lost there in lots. One man bought a house in the town for $200,000, and John Macdonald and Mr. Blaikie both thought that the Local Legislature and properly gave the Act to him for $200,000 and $200 each. They held on for years and years, but the Troy Council decided otherwise, and the town was sold by auction in Montreal and other towns for $100 a lot, even though an acre of land was worth $1000 a lot, and a good deal more.

SITUATION WANTED.
