The Daily News.

TUESDAY EVENING, APRIL 18.

The London Advertiser says "We openly charge the Tories of Ontario with treason to this Province in the matter of the Boundary award." You do, do you! And what do you charge Mr Blake with, who sat as mute as a mouse when the subject came up for discussion! Is he also an enemy of Canada!

The finances of France are in a bad state and are giving trouble to the rulers of that country. About $60,000,000 per annum of redeemable bonds have been issued for some years past, and there is a floating debt of $190,000,000 more. The savings of the people have been mortgaged beyond recall, and the Government is put to provide for future deficits. M. Leon Say has a difficult task on hand.

Mr Charlton is a delightfully consistent gentleman. In 1876 he was a most thorough going protectionist: now he is a free trader. The other evening he introduced an amendment condemning the Government land policy. Mr John Macdonald was able to show that he enthusiastically supported a similar policy under Mr Mackenzie. It is needless to say that Mr Charlton is an admirable specimen of the Grit politician.

The occurrence recently reported from Lord Macdonald's estate shows that Skye's land is as full of Legree as have a "two reel" agitation of its own. Scotland is a much less fertile country than Ireland, the land is monopolised to a still greater degree there by the aristocracy, and the result of American competition have been just as injurious to the Scotch as the Irish. Home rule may also be desired by the people of that country, as it is quite apparent that much important legislation is neglected under the present system.

The effect of the President's veto to the anti-Chinese bill has been to depreciate the value of property fully ten per cent in San Francisco, the tone of society in that city is despondent, and the investment of capital is checked. There are, accordingly to an estimate recently made by the Trades Assembly, 180,000 Chinamen on the Pacific coast, of whom 120,864 are in San Francisco. In three years the number of Chinese cigar makers has doubled, the number of white men engaged in the same trade has decreased by two thirds. The Mongolian, having crushed the Caucasian cigar maker out of the market, is now gradually underselling eastern manufacturers on their own market. There are seven times as many of them employed in the manufacture of clothing as there are whites, and they work for half of what the latter can. It is the same in every branch of trade. The almond-eyed foreigner is coming in and underbidding white competitor, whose wages, although they have reached almost a starvation point, are still far above those of his keen rival. The consequence is that, no matter what philanthropic and high flown theories about truth, right, and eternal justice we may talk about in the east, the Californian hears them with intense disgust, prompted by a galling actual experience.

Our educational system is elaborate and costly and much boasted of, especially in Ontario it has one grave defect, amidst many others, which makes it unsuited to a modern progressive state, viz its want of schools of handicraft. It is not ordained that we should all earn our living in the same manner; the economy of the world requires that there should be shoemakers and carpenters, merchants, manufacturers, and men of science, as well as ministers, lawyers, and professors; nevertheless, this fundamental fact is to a large extent overlooked in the education afforded in our common schools, high schools, and colleges. The training is framed in these institutions upon scholars is almost entirely literary, whereas those whose future employment will be literary are few. The many, on the other hand, while devoting themselves to the study of subjects which have only an indirect bearing or perhaps none at all upon their life work, are using up the very period of life in which they should be acquiring a few days later, and the secretary, on re-entering the office, said to the clerk "I advocated the case of your protege—he has had 60 florins granted him. What is a the formula usually put in these protocol?" "A mediocre talent," was the reply "Well, then, write:—"A medicore talent, for which not more than 60 florins could be granted." The young aspirant gratefully took the money and went to Vienna, where, but a few weeks after, he exhibited a painting for which he received 120 florins. This first success was reported to the society at Pesth and on hearing of it the secretary remarked:—"That young fellow must have had more in him than we ever thought." The "mediocre talent" of twenty years ago is now the laurel crowned boy of Pesth—his name is Michael Munkassy—Paris Register.

DESPATCHES IN BRIEF.

Cotton at Liverpool fair demand, freely met, at previous prices.

Five hundred and thirty-one Italian immigrants, who landed yesterday at New York, brought on an average only ten cents per capita.

Thos. Harrison, a boy preacher, closed a series of revival services in New York last night, which have extended over nineteen weeks. There have been over 8,000 conversions.

Jos Brown, one of the men who murdered the Sam Boys a year ago at Hilliard, Texas, horribly mutilated their bodies, and then arrested them, was shot and killed yesterday by a Sheriff's posse while resisting arrest.

Murical Criticism

To the Editor of the DAILY NEWS.

Dear Sir,—In your issue of yesterday, I notice a criticism on my musical compositions, as copied from "Mabel," a New York musical journal. I am not at all surprised to hear such a criticism, as several imperfect copies of my compositions had been circulated, and probably one of those fell into the hand of the musical Editor of "Music, and I'd him to deal as harshly. Whether the criticism was written by the New Yorker, or a Kingstonian it would be difficult to say, as there are a few here who might be ready to deal such a blow in the dark as the trumps. However, in my future compositions, some of which will soon be published, I will leave some bare, or imperfect, common chords for those parties, who are always ready to go round and look for bits at, in case they might go mad. As the writer says I am incapable of writing a "sequence of common chords," and that I have mistaken my vocation, I only reciprocate the sentiments of the Musical Editor, by saying that he does not know what a common chord is, and also that he has decidedly mistaken his vocation. The mere fact of throwing cold water on my compositions offers no barrier to my love for composition, but will only serve to stimulate me in my study, that I may reach the top of the ladder at some future date. The musical journals of Canada commented favourably upon my compositions, and I will only give a very short paragraph copied from the Canadian Spectator of November 5th 1881, which was written by O. F Telgmann, of Kingston, which has come to us for notice. Of course we are always disposed to welcome and encourage any effort at composition that Canadians, by birth or adoption, may launch in the musical world; but in the case of Mr Telgmann's first essay, no compliances or indulgence is required of us to give this brakhy composition a hearty welcome, and we predict that it will become a favourite in all Canadian salons."—I remain, yours, etc,

O. F. TELGMANN,
Student of Music.

A Young Artist's Mediocre Talent

Some twenty years ago a poorly clad boy entered the office of the secretary of Pest Arts at Pesth, and asked to see the secretary himself. He was told by a clerk that the important functionary was absent. "Never mind," said the boy, "the would not know me if he were here, and I might just as well leave my pictures with you. I should be glad of some pecuniary aid to enable me to pursue my career as an artist and I beg you to say a good word for me to the secretary." The society had a meeting a few days later, and the secretary, on re-entering the office, said to the clerk :—"I advocated the case of your protege—he has had 60 florins granted him. What is a the formula usually put in these protocol?" "A mediocre talent," was the reply "Well, then, write:—"A medicore talent, for which not more than 60 florins could be granted." The young aspirant gratefully took the money and went to Vienna, where, but a few weeks after, he exhibited a painting for which he received 120 florins. This first success was reported to the society at Pesth and on hearing of it the secretary remarked :—"That young fellow must have had more in him than we ever thought." The "mediocre talent" of twenty years ago is now the laurel crowned boy of Pesth—his name is Michael Munkassy—Paris Register.

IRISH AFFAIRS.

Policy of the Conservatives—A New Scheme—Liberation of Suspects.

London, April 17.—Four American steamers now confined in Kilmainham gaol have again been offered their liberty, provided they leave the country. The suspects, however, have refused their freedom on those terms, acting on instructions from Washington. Minister Lowell has demanded their immediate trial or release.

The report that the general release of the imprisoned suspects is imminent is contradicted on high authority.

In the House of Commons to day Sir Charles Dilke said it was true that the American suspects had been offered conditional liberty, but he knew nothing of it. Mr Lowell demanding their immediate trial or release.

The Standard says correspondence is still proceeding between the United States and British Governments regarding the imprisonment of Americans.

Mr Parnell started from Paris to day for London. The London Observer says that the release of all the other suspects will be released. Mr Parnell will retire to his country residence at Avondale, and remain in seclusion during the remainder of his parole.

Mr Parnell arrived at Kingstown this evening, and will probably proceed to Kilmainham by road to avoid a demonstration.

Five hundred and thirty-one agrarians outrages were reported to Ireland during March, including 38 murders, 12 firings at persons, 7 aggravated assaults, and 36 arsons. Two hundred and fifty-one outrages were committed in Munster, 124 in Leinster, 122 in Connaught, and 69in Ulster.

The World's London special says The policy of the Conservatives with regard to Ireland is developing the central feature in contemporary politics, and now that it has been partly revealed by the Marquis of Salisbury in his recent speech, has thrown the Radicals into a state of panic. They exclaim that it is revolutionary. The men ideal is to have the State buy out all landlords who are willing to sell their estates on a basis of 21 years of judicial rent (which ranges about 25 per cent below rates hitherto charged), land it bodily leasing for per cent interest being invest to sellers, the State of course guaranteeing payment of the debentures at maturity, and the surplus of the Irish Church funds being made part of the fund. This probably the amount of actual cash required from the Treasury would be gladly accepted by the landlords. The Spectator, which is consistently liberal, declares that a £200,000,000 or £300 000,000 would be needed. A good authority says the real amount required would not exceed $20,000,000, and would probably fall much lower than that. If the payment to deal with arrears of rent on the same principle, the State advancing the money to pay off rent charges, and taking the debentures. The whole details of the scheme are to be explained at length in the forthcoming number of the Quarterly Review, and the proposition to carry it out will be laid formally before the House on the first Monday in May by Mr W H Smith This new departure leaves the Government high and dry, and must cause a deep and wide sensation as soon as it is thoroughly understood throughout the country. As for other problems presented in Ireland for solution, the Conservatives are willing to be in favour of liberating suspects, while, at the same time, they would take energetic measures to preserve order by strictly legal means.

London, April 18.—The report of the release of a large number of suspects from prison is partly sensational and exaggerated, but is a move hopeful. Parnell has grown up from the fact that the liberations are far in excess of fresh arrests.

JESSE JAMES

The Murderers Found Dead in Their Beds.

St. Louis, April 3.—Jesse James and the grand jury at Gallatin, Mo., indicted the Ford brothers, who killed him, for murder in the first degree. The suspects, however, have refused their freedom on those terms, acting on instructions from Washington. Minister Lowell has demanded their immediate trial or release.

Brilliant Scientific Triumph.

IN FRANCE AND ENGLAND

It is now recognized by the leading medical men that Dr. M. Souvaine's Spirometer is the most wonderful inventions of the age for the cure of Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, and all lung diseases. After having been used in the leading hospitals, it was proved that 75 per cent. of those cases, by many called incurable, can be cured by the Spirometer, an instrument which conveys medicinal properties direct to the parts affected. This discovery is proving a blessing to mankind and a credit to his name. Many persons in the city of Montreal, and all over the Dominion, have been cured of the above diseases. Below are a few of the many hundreds :—

Mr. C. Hill, Montreal, catarrh and bronchitis.

Mr. DaBoucherville, of the Indian Department, Ottawa, catarrh of many years, now cured.

Mr. Geo. Agar, Ottawa, catarrh and lung disease ; cured.

Mrs. Smith, London, wife of Medical Detective, cured of catarrh.

Mr. Hartley, Toronto, 482 Adelaide street West ; daughter cured of asthma.

Robert Gault, of Gault Bros., Montreal, can tell you all about the Spirometer for bronchitis.

Chas. Willis, Exeter, Ont., catarrh and bronchitis.

John Dunn, 8 Robert street, Toronto, bronchitis

J. D. Armstrong, 186 Yonge street, Toronto, catarrh and catarrhal deafness.

Thomas Watson, St. Melinda street, Toronto, asthma, cured.

Mr. Bain & Drake, St. Urbain street, Montreal, for many years suffering from bronchitis and asthma, is now cured.

Mr. Mitchell, a student of McGill College, who suffered from chronic catarrh, is now cured. Also the no less surprising cure of Mrs. Bryson, 114 Cathcart street, daughter of Mr David Ewart, who suffered from asthma and bronchitis for over eight years, and who is now perfectly cured.

Thousands more could be given, but the above is sufficient to convince the public of the merits of the Spirometer. Call or write, inclosing stamp, to M. Souvaine, M.D., 484 Sussex Street, Ottawa, Ont., Surgeon of the French Army, 13 Philip's Square, Montreal.

Physicians and sufferers can try it free.

Another Tragedy.

Niagara Falls, April 17. Another accident is added to the already long chapter of accidents which have made one citizen sick this afternoon, a row boat containing two men came down the river through the rapids and over the falls. The indications are that they attempted to cross from the river front to the Canadian shore above the rapids, and after battling themselves in the swift current, took their oars in there efforts to reach the American shore. Who they are or where they came from is unknown at present.

American Appointments

Washington, April 18.—Among the appointments expected to be sent in this week, are those of Wm. Walter Phelps, of Clinton Pah, to be Minister to Belgium, and John W. Foster, of Indiana, to be Minister of Foreign Affairs to Portugal. An effort is being made by the New York Republicans to secure the revocation of the appointment of A. B. Alexett, of Lunenburg, as Consul in Ontario. It is believed that the effort will be successful.

Dr. Lamson Again Respited.

London, April 18.—Sir William Harcourt, Home Secretary, has granted a further respite to Dr. Lamson until the 28th of April. Sir William says :—"No further respite will be granted, and no evidence than far submitted to the Queen's advisers, either from England or the United States, affords any justification for allowing interference with the sentence of the law.

Explosion at Poughkeepsie.

Poughkeepsie, N.Y., April 18.—The explosion heard at midnight is explained by the malicious blowing up of a steel drill and boiler in the Gardner's contract, West Shore Road, near West Park. Four boxes of cartridges were placed under them. The shock was felt over ten miles. Nobody was hurt. Damage, $1,500 No clue.

American Suspects.

Dublin, April 18.—The officials of the prisons say that not one of the Irish suspects is in any way connected with Fenianism. Several suspects in jail claim to be citizens of the United States, but their claims are not supported by the American Minister.

Mormons Boycotting Christians.

Salt Lake City, April 18.—The resolution on Sunday at the Mormon tabernacle was that saints must not trade with or patronize Gentiles. Gentile merchants will probably retaliate by discharging all Mormon employees. Class feeling is growing more bitter daily.

Seven professors in the medical department of the University of the City of New York, including Drs. Rosse, Hammond, and McDonald, have resigned on account of disagreement and may found a new medical faculty.
