SABBATH SCHOOL CONVENTION.

Paper by Principal Grant The Infant Classes. The Closing Debate.

The session opened at half past two yesterday afternoon, Mr. Wood in the chair.

INFANT CLASSES.

Mr. H. Thompson, teacher of the infant class in St. Andrew's Sunday School, read a very interesting paper on "Infant Classes." She would like to have the infant class a model for all the other classes, that is to say, to have six or eight teachers under one lady superintendent, divided by age and attainments, and have the children taught closely around the knee, and then opening question of each teacher a Sabbath in turn. This method would secure a closer relationship to the teacher, which is very desirable. Infants could be drawn out and forward ones repressed, absentees more quickly noticed, and the children more interested. The necessity of the primary teacher to tell the truth in such a way as to give the children a love for it, and a thirst for more, in speaking of the International Lessons she had thought that they gave the children a wrong idea of the whole. She would like to see a similar system in connection with the infant class, and then opening question of each teacher a Sabbath in turn, and as much of the previous Sabbath's lesson as possible, before proceeding with the lessons of the day. In this way those who were absent the previous Sabbath, had what they had to do, and the children would be shown how much they have remembered from the text for the day is repeated, those who have prepared it standing up and repeating it separately, and those who do not know it saying it over until it is learned. Then she told us from the lesson story, keeping as near to the Bible words as possible. She gave instances of how she explained the feeding of the 5,000, and of the blind man at the well. As to the results of this system of teaching, the children seem very happy and love to learn. If the little truth be told, in this way, it will give the children more interest in the morning school. The paper is in the press.

REMARKS AND ENTERTAINMENTS.

A paper on the above subject was introduced by Mr. A. G. Northrup, of Belleville. In his experience he has found that a school can and will prosper without rewards by merit cards or otherwise. He suggested that a method be used in the infant class to show how much they have remembered from the text for the day is repeated, those who have prepared it standing up and repeating it separately, and those who do not know it saying it over until it is learned. Then she told us from the lesson story, keeping as near to the Bible words as possible. She gave instances of how she explained the feeding of the 5,000, and of the blind man at the well. As to the results of this system of teaching, the children seem very happy and love to learn. If the little truth be told, in this way, it will give the children more interest in the morning school. The paper is in the press.

REMARKS AND ENTERTAINMENTS.

Mr. W. Craig read an interesting paper on "Libraries, and how to make them efficient in Sunday School work." He said there was a difference of opinion as to whether there should be secular books in the library. In the country, where people live at a distance from the church, it is advisable to give a wider latitude of secular books to those from the city, where almost every house is full of secular works. He thought the Sunday School library might be restricted more closely to religious books. He referred to the size of library books, and said that small ones should be made a preference, as they would insure the regular attendance of the pupils. They could get through with a book in a week, at the end of which time the scholar would desire to change it. A competent library committee (who would select the books) should be appointed in each school, and an annual sum set apart with which to obtain a supply of books. If the proper kind of books were kept in the library, they would be a great assistance in making Sunday School work a success.

RELATION OF THE HOME TO THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

The Rev. Mr. Mitchell, of Belleville, gave an interesting address on this subject. He maintained that the Sunday School is the afternoon for the purpose of being instructed in the Word of God by question and answer, and that the home was in the same proportion to the Sunday School as a part to a whole. Therefore the parents should assist the children with their lessons, which would enable the latter to answer the questions in the Sabbath School more correctly. A bond of friendship would then be created between home and the school. The home is often benefited by the Sabbath School. The Sabbath School scholar may be the means of re-educating the parents in the family which, by the grace of God, may gradually leave the whole lump.

RELATION OF THE SABBATH SCHOOL TO THE CONGREGATION.

The Rev. Mr. McLean, of Belleville, spoke on this subject. He said that the remark was often made that flourishing Sabbath School implies a flourishing congregation. The Sabbath School is not distinct in itself and independent of the congregation, but part and parcel of it. The Sabbath School, therefore, being a portion of the congregation is subject to the Kirk Session, and the minister de facto superintendent of the school. He next referred to teachers, and said that a teacher should not only be capable, but be able to say that he knows that God is good. The Kirk Session should be the judge of whether a teacher is competent. He referred to the libraries in Sabbath Schools, and said that the selection of books was not what it should be, that there were many books in the libraries that could be looked upon with grave doubt. He thought the relation of the Sabbath School to the congregation was very same as that between the State and the public schools. The State is taxed to support the public schools, so also should the congregation be taxed to assist in supporting the Sabbath School. The congregation is responsible for the moral training of the children of the congregation.

A PASTOR'S DUTY.

Mr. Wilson said that the General Assembly at its next session would take up the question of library books. He would like to hear some ladies take part in the discussion. He was sure there would be no objection. Rev. Mr. Chambers said that if Mr. Wilson did not object, none else would. (Laughter.) Mr. Thompson, of Portmouth, gave an account of his experience with Sunday School libraries. He found that the children soon knew all the books in the library, and therefore lost interest in them. He considered that Sabbath School papers were the best for children.

A VOICE FROM THE COUNTRY.

Rev. Mr. Chambers rose and stated that he took exception to the distinction drawn by Mr. Craig between the class of books required in the country and those required in the city. He belonged to the country, and considered the people there just as intellectual and just as particular about the morality and religious character of books as were the residents of the city. He had found it necessary to keep books of the highest order for people in the country. There the libraries not only provide books for the children, but for the parents as well. Mr. Craig explained that he had not reflected on the people in the country in the least. The Rev. gentleman had misunderstood his remarks. He considered that all books in Sabbath School libraries should be up to the Bible standard.

Mr. Chambers was satisfied that he had misinterpreted Mr. Craig.

Rev. Mr. Wilson quoted a remark made by Dr. Hall, of New York: If the Sabbath Schools relieve the parents of the responsibility of giving religious instruction to their children, they remove every one of them. He considered that homes are the primary Sabbath Schools.

DISCUSSION BOILED DOWN.

Moved by Mr. McConig. That it is the opinion of the Conference that a Sunday School library is indispensable to every school, and that congregations are bound to provide a suitable library; and the Kirk Session is bound to see that the books are suitable for a S.S. library.

That it will greatly assist teachers in their arduous work, that parents should sympathize, cooperate and assist, and pray for them in their work.

That all the ministers of this Presbytery superintend the schools under their charge, and that sessions, if they see fit to appoint an associate assistant superintendent over each school, and as far as possible, take care that the teachers should be communicants in the church.

Rev. Mr. Mitchell—I did not hear what the Rural School said.

Rev. Mr. Chambers repeated his statement.

Rev. Mr. McLean claimed that his paper was de facto the superintendent of the school, and should not be superseded.

A discussion then ensued on whether it be made compulsory for teachers to be communicants in the church.

Rev. Mr. Cumberland, of Amherst Island, said the best teacher in his school was a non-communicant. He would not like to lose him.

The Chairman thought that non-communicants should be admitted as teachers in Sabbath Schools.

Rev. Messrs. McConig and McLean and Mr. McArthur were of a different opinion, and spoke in favour of their views.

The latter paragraph of the resolution was struck out and the following substituted: It was seconded by Rev. Mr. Chambers, that Kirk Sessions be respectfully urged to take order, that schools be properly superintended and officiated, as far as possible, by teachers in full communion with the church. Carried unanimously.

On motion of Mr. McConig, votes of thanks were tendered to the G. T. G. for reduced fares, to Mr. C. F. Gildersleeve for return tickets on one fare, to the Folger Bros. for extending single fare tickets, to the friends in Kingston for their hospitality, to the trustees for the use of the hall, to the Rev. Mr. Gray, to Mr. A. F. Wood, Chairman, and to Mr. N. Greenwood and choir.

The convention then adjourned.

NOTES OF THANKS.

On motion of Mr. McConig, votes of thanks were tendered to the G. T. G. for reduced fares, to Mr. C. F. Gildersleeve for return tickets on one fare, to the Folger Bros. for extending single fare tickets, to the friends in Kingston for their hospitality, to the trustees for the use of the hall, to the Rev. Mr. Gray, to Mr. A. F. Wood, Chairman, and to Mr. N. Greenwood and choir.

The convention then adjourned.
