THURSDAY EVENING, JUNE 22.

ELECTION OF MINISTERS.

An excellent sign of the standing of a government in the country is afforded by the opposition offered to Ministers of the Crown in their constituencies, and, as we anticipated, the onus has proved a favorable one in the present contest. Sir Alex. Campbell, Hon. J. L. Macpherson and Hon. Frank Smith are saved from the inconvenience of a struggle by the necessity of assist on the Senate; Sir Charles Tupper, Hon. John Costigan and Hon. I. A. Mousseau have had similar good fortune vouchsafed them on account of their strengthened position in the confidence of their constituencies. Sir Hector Langevin must also be added to the list.

Among those who have had a contest the Premier has been returned for Kingston by a handsome majority of over 200. This success was achieved in the face of great odds arising out of Kingston's history, for, to say, the greatest measure passed in that period, the accumulation of surplus funds in the treasury, the probable free use of these funds, the favorable loans made to England and other similar matters have shed lustre upon the financial ability of the Administration. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that Sir S. L. Tilley, who, in 1878, obtained a majority of nine only, should have been returned, with 136 to spare, in the city of St. John's, which was said to be suffering much than any other from the restriction of trade between New Brunswick and the United States.

The Hon. John Carling, lately taken into the Cabinet, had his majority increased from 64, which he obtained over Major Walker in 1878, to 256. Hon. A. P. Caron received the fine majority of 501. Hon. M. Bowell's modest defeat was boasted of as certain, has been returned with the magnificent majority of 450. Altogether the result has been unexpectedly favourable.

NOTABLE DEFEATS.

The result of Tuesday's struggle shows that it was a veritable Waterloo in the contest. Prominent amongst the victims to the slaughter which fell upon the leaders of the opposition it resembled the disastrous and ever-memorable Roman de'uat at Cannae. Various arguments and analogies were used by the opposition press to show that the character of modern political fortune is marked by a regular reversal at each election of the verdict of that preceding, and it was insisted that the Government, which had come into power on the flood tide of patriotism and abnormal prosperous, would be borne out again by the ebb in popular feeling. Kingston are isolated in their Gethsemane. Possessed by the evil spirit of intolerance and captured by the seduction of golden arguments, Kingston is the sole exception to the grateful approval by all the prosperous cities of this dominion of the policy of the Government whose has made them so. The friends of the good old town cannot but regret that a few narrow-minded and unscrupulous men should, by their false cries and other disreputable devices, have been the means of placing it in a position so opposed to the best interests of the country, of Kingston itself and its inhabitants, and of making it a laughing-stock and a scorn.

ONTARIO ONTARIO!

"The traitor's hand is on thy throat, Ontario! Ontario!"

There is a remarkable dulness of perception about the Province of Ontario. While the Dominion Government has been contemplating the robbery of her territory, and she has been grouped under the head of French domination, while the traitor's hand has been on her throat, Ontario seems to have been fond of the villain and correspondingly true to her deliverer. The truth is that Ontario has completely accepted the rule of Gordon. The days when the bible was the farmer's bible, and there was no great opponent to indulge in biblical criticism, have passed away. The farmer of to-day has been deported the veneration for the name of Reform, and that distrust of Quebec which has been so readily turned to account by unprincipled politicians. The cries have failed to rouse sectional feelings, instead of there being jealousy between the two Provinces they have wheeled into line together, and have fallen an easy prey to Gordon in concert. Ontario embraces the so called "traitor" in the confusion of the Dominion, and proves a lion to whom a mysterious Providence entrusts with edible legs.

TRANSLATION.

It is really astonishing to note how little attention is paid to the study of the English tongue in the simple art of punctuation. Nearly every one knows the meaning of commas, colons, semi-colons and periods, but fully five per cent of our public speakers, writers and clergymen treat these little dots with undisguised contempt. In order to give point and meaning to a sentence a comma here and there is of immense value, and in many cases the neglect to do so weakens the language and degrades its expressiveness. It is by the means uncommon to find orators who never dream of pausing, even when compelled to take breath, or when forced by indignant nature into a timely rest. But unhappily the worst class of gaolbirds are to be found in the church, the place of all others where solemnity and decency are to be most expected. Here one frequently finds clergymen who are in too great a hurry to what is commonly called "mind their stops," and who rattle through the service as though they were doing it for a wager. Another peculiar feature of unpunctuated church worship is the reckless off hand style in which the psalms are read alternately by pastor and people between whom there apparently exists a force rivalry, each striving to get through their respective verses a little faster than the other. The effect is to do away with the expression, the verses being run into each other in such a way as to destroy both euphony and meaning. We have no desire to be hypercritical, or to find fault unnecessarily, but in these days of high art and sweet culture the subject we have suggested is surely worthy a serious thought, not only among the public at large but in the minds of those to whom is entrusted the important task of educating the children.

Did not Canvass

To the Editor of the DAILY NEWS.

DEAR SIR,—In answer to "Fair Play I would state that I did not canvass in company with any of the parties named in your letter. "I did not canvass Mr McEachren, not having been to his house during the past sixteen years, and I did not leave my school before four o'clock at any time to visit the neighbourhood and can testify to, as well as the sincere, unsolicited support of Mr. Carnegie. And as to Mr. Ferguson or any other member of ladies I can assure Canadian that I have no interest in, and do not make rash or untrue statements. I can assure him that such conduct is not to be shown himself to be in pure any party much more than they do stand. Yours, &c.,

Kingston, June 21, '82.

The foregoing the above is a note to the effect, from Mr Gunn and Mr Delaney, that Mr Godwin did not canvass in their company, and a note from the teachers of Queen Street School, expressing their opinion that Mr Godwin could not have canvassed as stated in "Fair Play's" letter, since he is always present at the closing exercises of the school.

That Dismissal.

To the Editor of the DAILY NEWS.

DEAR SIR,—Will you please allow me a small space in your columns to briefly contradict that lying report regarding my dismissal from Mr Britton's office in the Whig of Monday last. I certainly did tell Mr Ponse if he would contradict that part of it wherein it stated that I not only took the polling day at former elections, but took three or four succeeding days, he replied he would see the party who gave him the information. I told him to look in the mirror and he would see him, for no one believed me. He said he could have told him this. Subsequently I asked Mr Price and Mr Whiting if I had ever done so, and they denied it, Mr Britton said, he thought perhaps, (but was not sure) I did a little running round on the day following the elections; perhaps I did. The whole of the report is false from beginning to end.—Yours truly,

CHARLES HENTIG.

Haunted Me.

A workingman says "Debt, poverty and suffering haunted me for years, caused by a sick family and large bills for doctoring, which did no good. I was completely ill-encouraged until one year ago, by the advice of my pastor, I procured Hop Bitters and commenced their use, and in one month we were all well, and none of us have been sick a day since, and I want to say to all poor men, you can keep your families well a year with Hop Bitters for less than one doctor's visit will cost."—Christian Advocate.

THE EGYPTIAN CRISIS.

Donad and the Khedive—The New Ministry

Alexandria, June 22.—The Egyptian ministry yesterday was informed that the British Government has refused to recognize it, and was determined to carry out the terms of the Dual Control, and in addition demand reparation for all that has taken place lately. Yesterday Donad Pacha, father of the Commander of the troops at Alexandria, appeared before the Khedive. It was reported that two boats containing fugitives upset and the occupants were drowned. Donad called on God for the disaster. The Khedive was shocked and remonstrated, telling him that Christians had souls. Donad cursed all the Christians saying that he hoped all would meet the same fate. Donad then left and attempted to kiss the Khedive's hand, but the latter refused.

The Commission of Inquiry is not going on as rapidly as hitherto, and is not giving signs of a speedy termination. Riaz Pacha Arabi will have the virtual control of the new ministry. It is reported that the agents of Germany, Austria and Italy are all at agree with the English and French agents. It is said that they will support the latter. The greatest anxiety is felt here the Khedive. Sir Edward Malet, Sir Auckland Colvin, Drs Watson and Cattani left for Cairo yesterday to attend to their private affairs. Sir Edward will return to Alexandria. Much distress is appearing among all classes. It is stated that the ministry will now definitely formed, in due to the arrival of the Austro-German agents, the English and French agents holding aloof.

How Garibaldi Disposed of His Body

The following is a translation of the autograph letter written by Garibaldi from Caprera on the 27th of September, 1877, to Dr Frandina, regarding the cremation of his body:

MY DEARBY FRANDINA You kindly undertake the cremation of my body I am grateful to you. My body is bounded by a wall from the house northwards to the shore there is, at a distance of 1,300 yards to the left, a depression in the ground, bounded by a wall. Upon that corner you will erect a pile of timber, two metres high, of acacia, lindon, myrtle, and other aromatic wood. On the pile you will place an iron couch, and upon that the embalmed body, with my remains upon it, dressed in the red shirt. A handful of salt, a small bottle of oil, and an urn of any kind, and this is to be placed in the middle of the pile which contains the ashes of my daughters, Rose and Anita. Ever yours,

G. GARIBALDI

Guiteau's Reprieve

New York, June 22.—The Tribune's Washington despatch says that an earnest effort is making to secure the reprieve of Guiteau and the appointment of a commission to make a thorough examination as to whether or not he is insane. The President to-day gave a hearing to Miss Cheralier, Secretary of the National Society for the protection of the insane. She requested Dr Beard, of New York, and others to be present. A strong appeal will doubtless be made to induce the President to postpone the execution.

Dr George M. Beard went to Washington last evening bearing a petition for the reprieve of Guiteau and for the creation of a sane commission to determine the question of assassin's insanity. The petition was signed by the signatures of many medical experts. Beard, however, has not come to see the President as to the insanity of Guiteau will be presented in the interview on the petitioners with the President to-day

Rare Coins

New York, June 22.—At the sale of the Bushnell collection of coins and medals yesterday the rare celebrated "Good Samaritan" shilling of Maryland, 1659, and supposed to be the only one ever struck off, brought $650 The "Lord Baltimore" penny piece, of Maryland, dated 1659, brought $550. One of the only three silver Virginia shillings of 1774 which are known, brought $105. Other of them sold for $100 in 1865. The celebrated Pine Tree shilling of Massachusetts, of 1652, brought $105. A New Jersey copper piece sold for $250.

The Lost Rodgers

Washington, June 22 Perry, commander of the Guard steamer Rodgers, reports that the crew was probably caused by the heat from the Dowley engine room being too much underneath. The crew made desperate efforts to extinguish it. The boat was steered for the sea and bowed between Sitka Island and Low Spit and grounded five hundred feet from the latter. The crew got ashore. The anchor was then lowered and the steamer allowed to drift to the shore. She was got off on Thursday 22nd, 10 a.m. She was still upon and will up in the harbor The official records were saved.

The Chicago Strikers

Chicago, June 22.—The condition of the workmen of Pendaly, who struck against the wages averaging $1.50 to $2 per day, is becoming pitiable. The boasted reserve fund does not exist. Many are actually suffering, but they only grow firmer, however. Pendaly has authorities assurance that they will under no condition aid the strikers.

Chicago, June 22.—The brickmakers of the south side who struck recently and received an advance of 12½ cents per day, demand another advance of 12½ cents. It is thought that the employers will yield. Thirty-five hundred men are concerned.

The Prize Ring

Brooklyn, June 22.—It is reported that Leonard Tracy and Alef. Brown had a prize fight last night in a boat in Queen's county. The men fought fifty seven rounds at Gravesend on June 11th, Tracy winning.

Special Dispatch Sheriff, Mr Michael Shelly, residing at No. 28 Oliver Street, New York city, says "My wife would not be able to walk to day, but for the benefit she has received from St. Jacobs Oil. It is a most wonderful medicine, an unequalled remedy." My wife was an invalid when she began its use, now she is well.
