Cupard have about concluded to make Portland the terminus of their line of steamers in tieu of Boston as at present. This will undoubedtly, be a wise measure, and will be greatly to the advantage of the company and of international trade.

Paris, March 3 .- The Moniteur contains a message from M. Thouvenel to the French an.bassador at Turio. M. Thouvenel proposes the complete annexation of Parma and Medena to Sardinia: the vicarial government of Romagna by Sardinia, in the name of the Holy See, and the re-establishment of Tuseuny in her political and territorial autonomy. France would not only support this combination in a Confere see or Congress, but would also proclaim that no foreign intervention be allowed to attack it France would, at no price, assume the responsibility of any other policy.

The annexation of Savoy and Nice to France becomes a Inecessity, and would also protect Switzerland. France, however, does not wish to force the will of the inhabitants, and would consult the great powers. France desires universal suffrage in Italy, but this England abstains from advising, and the existing governments of Central Italy think it useless to appeal again to a vote of the inhabitants. M Thouvenet makes the above proposals to Sardinin and forwards a copy of the despatch to Lord John Russell Turia March 2 .- A circular of Count Cayour to the diplomatic agents abroad, calls attention to an Austrian circular which orders the forced enlistment for penitentiary discipline of all Venetions whose antecedents appear hostile to Austria. This expression allows the whole male population to be so classed. Count Cavour draws the attention of the Austrian foreign Minister to this matter.

The Opin one asserts that Count Carour has given his reply on the subject of the settlement of the allains of Central Emiy, by bringing forward the motives which prevent the Sardinian Government from accepting the counsels given, and requesting France to agree to the annexation, should the inhabitants affirm it by their wishes.

LONDON, March 3, P. M .- The Paris correspondent of the Herald states that negotiations are now pending, the object i which is to bring about a meeting at Olmuz of the Emperors of Russia and Austrin and the Prince Regent of Prassia.

One of the Turin journals announces that a French camp is to be formed in the vicinity of Pavia. The Electoral Committee of Florence has requested the electors not to require of candidates any other pledge than to support the annexation.
