---- Anna Bella, Smith, Caraquet, order, codfish and oysters. Boston, Oct. 30. It is reported that a mackerel schooner of Gloucester was recently run down by a steamer ia a dense fog, near Canso, and after floating two days waterlogged, seven of the crew were washed overboard. The remaining nine took voured by sharks. The remaining seven recovered the boat, when two more died of exhaustion. The survivors were rescued by a Portugese vessel, and carried to St. Domingo, where the American Consul entertained them kindly and would send them home. No names are THE 'JOHN BELL' IN A GALE. The Quebec Mercury of Saturday says :- 'A gentleman from Blanc Sablon, Labrador, who came passenger in the Lady Head, reports that the steamship John Bell put back to Forteau Bay, after being on her beam ends and throwing 400 barrels of flour overboard, during a gale on the 6th and 7th instant. She sailed again for her destination on the 11th instant. The John Bell cleared at this port for Glasgow on the 1st instant. The master of the Canadian says that steamship encountered a series of the most violent gales he ever met, and but for the speed of that fine vessel her passage would have been considerably delayed.' THE GREAT EASTERN .- The London Commercial Record says that the Great Eastern steamseaworthy, until a further large expenditure is

SEVERS GALE IN THE GULF OF ST. LAWRENCE. -The telegraph has given information of a severe gale at the east on the 11th and 13th. and we now have particulars from our Nova Scotia and New Brunswick exchanges. It is said to have been one of the heaviest storms, ever experienced in the St. Lawrence Gulf. The tide was much higher than ever witnessed before, and flooded cellars, stores and wharves. The loss sustained in consequence is very heavy. Large quantities of salt stored in warehouses, Tabusiutac Beach; she had on board a cargo of 349,000 deals and deal ends, and was bound by Mr. Cunard, and used as a sail loft, was blown off. The men in the building became alarmed at its rocking and left it; three minutes afterwards it came down with a fearful crash. At Caraquet, the damage to small craft has been considerable; over sixty vessels, from schooners down, have been destroyed. In Caraquet harbor the schooners are on shore, all nearly loaded for Quebec, and about forty of the finest fishing barges are also broken up and destroyed. It is not yet ascertained how many
