BAWDEN ON FORESTRY.

ONE OF HIS SUGGESTIONS IS NOW COMMANDING ATTENTION.

Facts and Figures that Speak for Themselves-That Which is Profitable to Other Countries Should be Profitable to Canada-A Correspondent on the Right Tract Certainly.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 6th. - (To the Editor) and meeting on Tuesday. It is gratifying to know that the views on forestry, which I have been urging upon the government for the past year through your columns, have at last feceived the endorsation of those whose utterances command public attention. I refer to the suggestion advanced by Sir Richard Cartwright at the opera house on the 18th Dec., and commented favorably upon by the press, that the government should take into consideration the advisability of establishing crown forests in that portion of Ontario lately acquired under the boundary award.

While recognizing the fact that in reserving large tracts of virgin forest for that purpose there would be less difficulty to encounter in the shape of "vested rights" which exist in the older pertion of Ontario, it must be borne in mind that not only for obtaining beneficial climatic effects, but also that our needs for future supplies for fuel, building and manufacturing purposes, make it necessary that our timber reserves shall not be so remote as to entail excessive charges for transportation.

I am thoroughly convinced that this subject is the most important that can occupy the attention of statesmen in the present day. The statesman who will devise and practically put in operation a system that will check the present waste and replant the denuded portion of the country that is unfit for any other purpose than the growth of timber, thereby converting our forests into an inexhaustible mine of wealth will confer a greater benefit upon his country than can be obtained from any other source, prohibitory tariffs not excepted. It is to be hoped that since the Mowat administration have been re-invested with the management of our woods and forests, with an increased volume of public confidence in their ability to manage public affairs, that they will take immediate steps towards exercising their duties to the people by the establishing of crown forests of sufficient dimensions to ensure all the benefits already mentioned as desirable. That they have not heretofore paid proper attention to the management of our woods and forests, as a source of revenue, is patent to any one who is curious enough to investigate the public accounts. It is unnecessary to repeat the figures I gave your readers some weeks ago, comparing returns from European state forests with those obtained in our own province; sufficient to say that they were very disparaging to our manage-

Since confederation the average area under yearly license has been about 15,000 square miles, yielding an average return to the province of $450,000 per annum, that is $30 per square mile or less than 5 cents an acre, from which has to be deducted cost of management. It would be unfair to the government to say that all the lands had been sacrificed at this ridiculously low figure, as they obtained $200 per square mile as a bonus in June, 1877, and $310 per mile in Oct., 1885, or 31 and 48 cents respectively, with an additional ground rent of a trifle over 3 mills per acre per annum. Despite the sale of timber berths by auction to the highest bidders we do not obtain one hundredth part of their value, and the consequent result has been the creation of a gigantic monopoly, controlled by a comparatively small number of capitalists. I am indebted to the American report upon foresty for 1877 for the following estimate of the actual value of an acre of pine or spruce timber as it-stands, before the lumberman begins his operations of destruction: "According to a calculation made by a Mr. Somson, a Norwegian gentleman who made a large fortune in the timber trade, an acre of pine or spruce timber is worth the sum, that the lowest price of wild land -say $1 per acre-would amount to as invested capital, drawing interest at 5 per cent., at the expiration of the period required for timber to develop. It may be assumed that 180 years are required for the growth of a pine tree to maturity, which would make the original investment with interest amount to $256. If a thing is worth, under favorable circumstances, what it costs to produce it, then $256 represents the value of an acre of pine or spruce, originally worth $1 at the time pine or spruce timber will have arrived at maturity, and this without including the charge of taxes upon the land."

To realize what a "dead gift" our timber reserves are to the lumberman we can discount the above estimate, 98 per cent., without getting down to the actual bonus paid for the exclusive privilege of cutting pine over prescribed areas. Politicians evince no hesitation in piling up a national debt that succeeding generations of taxpayers will find a heavy burden to liquidate, while they display the utmost indifference towards devising or adopting a system of investment in woods and forests, which will not only -yield present profitable results, but will also return an ever-increasing profit to generations yet unborn.

In the short space of twelve years after the establishment of a state forest in India the surplus over cost of management amounted to $1,400,000, and the greater benefit of checking the destruction of existing forests had been realized., Knowing that the state officials in that country receive very large salaries, compared with what is obtained in this country, thereby entailing increased cost of management, the result is surprising. There are large areas in this province unfit for settlement, portions of which have been swept by fire again and again. These areas are contiguous to well-wooded districts, which would furnish the necessary seeds and seedlings for resowing and replanting all bare spots on which remained sufficient soil to produce plant life. Where private ownership stands in the way grant fair compensation for the relinquishment of title. If private owners will not accept such compensation exercise the right of eminent domain for the public benefit, and the injustice to individuals will be so insignificant, compared with the general good to the community, that it should not be conwho married him and has supported him sidered a serious obstacle in the way. McCorkill, defeated in Missisquoi, who contested the election of Mr. Spencer, has withdrawn the charges of personal corruption preferred. The St. James' Gazette deglares that Lord

The latest election rumors state that the dominion geveral elections will take place on Thursday, February 3rd, but the actual date depends on whatever reports the cabinet ministers now in the maritime provinces will make.

Dr. Dowling has, on a recount of the ballots, lost South Renfrew by nine majority. This gives the seat to Mr. McAndrew, another liberal. Several ballots for Dr. Dowling were wrongly initialled by the returning officers and thrown out. A scrutiny will be demanded. Churchill offered to resign three times, once when Lord Iddesleigh was going to send an anti-Russian envoy to Bulgaria, which would have brought on war, and a second time when Lord Salisbury was going to offer a fighting alliance with Austria. Both designs were stopped by Churchill's threats of resignation.

A most successful dinner was held at the Reform club, Toronto, on Thursday. The attorney-general, in a speech, alluded to the recent campaign. He said the opposition had raised false issues only because they had no others to raise. An attempt has been made to drive the Roman catholics into one camp and the protestants into another, but with what success could be judged by the recent verdict of the people.

A TERRIBLE AFFLICTION.

A Woman Loses Her Husband and Children in the Railway Holocaust. Among those who were saved from the train wreck on the Baltimore & Ohio railway were a mother and three children, hardly out of their swaddling clothes, the husband and father, and two sons having been devoured by the flames. In some way the mother got out of the car in which she had been travelling, and, wandering away from the burning train, carrying her two youngest children in her arms, entered the first house in which she found a light. She was almost crazed. With difficulty it was ascertained that her name was Mrs. Mary Postlethwaite. The family were on their way to Missouri. They had been living near the town of Belton, Wetzel county, W. Va. Wm. Postlethwaite was 58 years of age, and the sons killed with him were aged 18 and 11. The agents of the Baltimore & Ohio endeavored to take care of the mother and children by sending them to Chicago junction, where the company have a hotel. On advice, however, of her friends, who were telegraphed, she consented to remain in Republic until she should hear from her son, who remained in West Virginia. It was a pitiful sight to see the poor woman, now breaking forth in the wailing tones of her awful grief and then to see her little boy not over 4 years of age, endeavoring to comfort her with the words, "Oh, mamma, don't cry, don't cry, mamma I'll get papa,' little realizing the terrible grief of his mother. Postlethwaite had with him $600 in money, a draft for $500, a government cheque for $18, and a note for $350, besides tickets and money for immediate use. With one awful stroke all that the woman had in the world of support and property was swept away, and she was left with her fatherless children among strangers.

Chinese vs. French Pirates.

London, Jan. 3.—The Hong Kong Mail says the troubles on the frontier of Tonquin and China have assumed most serious proportions. Large bodies of Chinese pirates have attacked the French pirates at Hakoi on November 24th. After a three days' siege they completely annihilated it. They also attacked Mongkai with similar result. At Hakoi, 30 miles south of Mongkal, on the coast, the French had a small fortification with a garrison of 60 men under command of Lieut. McMahon, nephew of Marshall McMahon. After three days' siege only 23 of the garrison remained alive. These made a sortie, but not one survived. The latest information states Hakoi and Mongkai in themes.

in One-An Adjournment. This morning Walsh and Morris, two exconvicts, were brought before the magistrate charged with having stolen a silver watch from A. Spence, on 30th of December. Mr. Britton, Q.C., prosecuted; Mr. McGuire appeared for Walsh and Mr. Shannon for Morris. Walsh was tried first. Spence could not identify him, but knew that the watch, which the prisoner had traded with Mr. S. G. Stewart, belonged to him. Stewart identified the prisoner as the man from whom he got Spence's watch. The evidence produced at Morris' trial did not connect him in any way with the robbery. The magistrate found Walsh guilty, but reserved sentence in his case. At the request of Mr. Britton, Morris' case was enlarged until Monday.
