The Slide Tested Last Night.

Last night the toboggan slide was in a condition to be tested, and a dozen of gentlemen ventured upon it. One who has glided down Montreal slides says the Kingston one is superior to them in many ways. There is positively no danger of the toboggans upsetting. The slide will be formally opened on Tuesday night the weather being favourable.

Opening a New Church.

An inaugural meeting was held in the new Methodist church, Bath Read, last evening, and a number of people, notwithstanding the disagreeable and cold weather, attended from the city. An excellent entertainment was given, the musical part being furnished by the members of the Westbrook choir. Addresses were given by Messrs. A. Chown, R. D. Anglin, T. G. Rudd and others.

Asked to Meet Here.

An endeavour will be made by the board of trade to have the royal railway commission to set here and consider various matters. The object of the commission, as explained by Sir A. T. Galt, is to ascertain whether it is not possible without any improper interference with the railways to provide greater facilities for trade, and with a view to this, to obtain the opinions of merchants and traders in the various sections of the dominion.

In the Hands of his Friends.

Three delegates from each of the polling sub-divisions of the city met/at the conservative head quarters last evening, but, though it was understood that a caudidate for the dominion house would be proposed nothing was done. There was evidently some mistake as to what was required. The hopes of the conservative party are, however, centred upon Hon. G. A. Kirkpatrick, and it is generally considered that he will run. The leaders feel that without him there is no prospect of winning. A high official of the party said to-day : "Personally Mr. Kirkpatrick does not want the nomination, but he is quite willing to place himself in the hands of his friends." No date is named for the conservative conven-

A Parlor Entertainment. A very pleasant time was spent last evening at the residence of Mr. George Creeggan, the occasion being a parlor entertainment for the benefit of the improvement fund of All Saints' church. The programme was commenced by the band of "A" battery playing selections of Scotch airs. They also played several selections during the evening which were well received. "Cousin Jedediah," by the choir was very interesting. Miss Bateson sang sweetly as well as Miss Thompson. Mr. Crumley was at home in several comic songs. Mr. Creeg. gan was loudly encored after his rendition f "Ben Bolt." Mr. Moore in his song, "The Queen's Jubilee," was quite happy. Messrs. ### THE PRINTERS' RE-UNION.

The Ball Given in the City Hall-Memorial of Benjamin Franklin.

Benjamin Franklin, patron saint of those wedded to the "art preservative of all arts," had his memory commemorated last evening by a ball in the city hall. It was held under the auspices of Limestone City Typographical Union, No. 204. Cood old Benjamin Franklin, statesman and philosopher, was born in Boston in 1706, and when but twelve years of age was apprenticed to the printing trade, and in 1730 had soprospered that he became proprietor of a newspaper, the Gazette, of Philadelphia. He held many offices under British rule, and pursued various investigations with such success as to gain for himself a lasting name in the world of science. He assisted in the framing of the declaration of the independence of the United States, and in 1790 died so greatly respected that congress ordered general mourning throughout the States for a period of two months.

This was the man whose memory the typos honored by their ball. The hall looked very attractive, most of the decorations erected for the bachelors' ball having remained. The printers and their friends were

THE MESMERIST AT WORK.

Magnetic Forces and Their Effects-The Laughter Long and Loud.

The largest audience since Monday greeted Prof. Reynolds in the opera house last evening. After the mesmerist had made a few remarks he asked for volunteers. None responded. By dint of much coaxing fourteen presented themselves, but of these only two were impressed. Another half hour was spent in collecting subjects, and two more were found to be impressionable. One, an Englishman named Robert Stanford, was particularly suspceptiable. He was slow, but decidedly interesting when impressed. Keelev, a lively Englishman, was drawn out of his seat by the professor's magnetic force, though several men clung to his arm. He was surprised, when the influence was removed, to find where he was. An attempt was made to "burn" out a youth, and the professor did well until people interrupted his view and the youth escaped. Mr. Durrey, who was on the platform the night previous, was deeply affected, while Mr. Binkley, a student in dentistry, was entranced but to a limited degree. He was very gentlemanly in his actions. He modestly ate of strawberries while the others were jamming them into their pockets, and, when struck with colic, instead of wrighting with pain, as his comrades did, made few grimaces indicative of his suffering. Stanford and Keeley rowed vigorously for the championship, and the former got helplessly drunk on a glass of water. The party reveled for sometime in a fountain of eau-decologne, but threw away their handkerchiefs in disgust on its being transformed into a well-known malodorous substance. Then they found themselves in deep water and the student was indeed distressed. He, with Keeley and Durrey, tried to find the safest positions on each other's backs. Scenes in a barber shop and photograph gallery, were performed, but the snowballing encounter and horse races were side-splitting. As a rule their antics were similar to those of other evenings, but, if possible, more laughable. The professor will doubtless have full houses the rest of the week. There will be a matinee on Saturday afternoon, at which children will be admitted for ten

A gentleman, under mesmeric influence, said he was conscious of everything that occurred. He knew where he was and heard the laughter of the auditors, and, when not personally engaged, enjoyed the sport himself. As soon as he was interested he became oblivious to his surroundings, the audience became a hazy thing, and he didn't care a cent, so long as the spell continued, for anybody or anything. Professor Reynolds thinks that electricity has something to do with the power he has. He possesses a positive force, his subjects negative force, and one working upon the other forms the magnetic circuit.

FINISHING UP THE WORK

LAST MEETING OF THE SCHOOL BOARD-INCREASING SALARIES.

Passing a Number of Accounts-A Resignation Accepted and an Appointment Made-Objecting to an Increase of the Inspector's, Salary-Brown's Notice of Motion.

The final meeting of the school board of 1886 occurred last evening. There were present the chairman, Mr. S. Anglin; Messrs J. W. Brown, I. Conley, W. Dunlop, A. Horne, J. McCammon, H. B. Savage, R. Shaw, F. Tracey and T. C. Wilson. Communications were read from A. Rousehorn and Sergt. W. Mawhinney applying for the position of caretaker of the new central school. - Fyled. RECEPTION OF REPORTS.

The following accounts were by the finance committee recommended to be paid : T. McAuley, $32.79; R. Crawford, $65.08; N. Wilmot, $2.40; R. M. Horsey, $3.36; F. C. Marshall, $24.47; W. J. Chapman, $5.50; Lewis Bros., 95c.; T. Jenkins, $22. 57; T. W. Milo, $16.80; J. Muckleston & Co., $2.05; W. Follest, $7; L. W. Shannon, $48; W. Dunn, $114.21; S. S. Phippen, $2; J. Dolphin, $2.50.—Report adopt-

The secretary reported that he had collected $25 from non-resident pupils attending the public schools for December. For the year $169 had been collected. He received from Mr. Kidd $2, got on account of motion, authorizing the use of the bible in prize books, and $2.90 the receipts of the sale of catalogues during 1886.

THE SCHOOLS AND TEACHERS. The committee reported that they had received a communication from Miss A. Allen resigning her position as teacher, which was recommended to be accepted. Miss McIntyre was appointed to the position vacated by Miss Allen. The committee urged that J. Gould be paid $6 and W. Arniel $10, for extra services, and that the inspector's salary be increased by $200 per annum.

report stated that after receiving Miss Allen's resignation the committee had appointed Miss McIntyre to fill her place because members of the board had pledged themselves to give her a position. Five years ago she taught in Louise school. She was advised to seek a higher certificate than that which she held. The time taken by her to accomplish this was longer than the board anticipated, and while she was away Miss Holmes was chosen to succeed her. A short | this year. time ago Miss McIntyre applied for a situation. Her application was answered and Ottawa. she was assured that on the first vacancy on the staff of teachers occurring she would be appointed to it. When Miss Allen resigned the members of the committee thought that no better teacher to succeed her than Miss McIntyre could be secured, therefore she was engaged. Regarding the increase in the inspector's salary, which the committee had recommended, the speaker said Mr. Kidd had been in the employ of the board for twelve years during which time he had only received an increase in his salary of $100. The committee, in recommending that he receive another $200, thought he was entitled to it. He was one of the poorest paid school inspectors in Canada, yet his equal, as far as qualifications to fill the office which he held was concerned, were not surpassed.

Mr. Brown asked that the report be considered clause by clause. He thought that the board of 1886 should, not at its last meeting, raise the salaries of its employees. The electors would not be satisfied if Mr. kidd's salary was advanced at the present time. He was perhaps not as well paid as other school inspectors, still the speaker thought him well remunerated for the work

Mr. Shaw suggested that the report be considered clause by clause.

Mr. Wilson drew attention to the many duties which the inspector had to perform be thrown out. Mr. Wilson was sorry that Mr. Brown had objected to the report, because he had assured the committee of management that he would be satisfied with anything it would AIMING AT A REDUCTION. Mr. Shaw moved, seconded by Mr. Savage, that the increase ($200) in the inspector's salary be reduced by $100. Mr. Shaw's reason for the motion was that the board had expended a great deal of money during the year, and of course it was justified. He thought the board would be showing its appreciation of the valuable services of the inspector by raising his salary $100 instead of $200. He (S.) had learned that dissatisfaction existed among the electors in regard to the expenditures of the board, and he therefore thought it would be unwise to increase that dissatisfaction.

Mr. Dunlop said that for twelve years Mr. Kidd's salary had been $900. Since his appointment the school population had greatly increased, necessitating extra work on his part, and when the new central school was finished his duties would be still greater. Mr. Kidd had been a faithful servant, and deserved the increase in his salary recommended by the committee.

Mr. Brown did not depreciate the services rendered by Mr. Kidd, but he did not think the present an opportune time for a raise im his salary. He (B.) was willing, seeing that he could not secure a seconder to his own motion, to support that of Mr. Shaw.

Mr. Shaw's motion was put and lost on the following division: Yeas-Messrs. Brown, McCammon, Savage and Shaw-4. Nays-Messrs. Anglin, Conley, Dunlop, Horne, Tracey, and Wilson-6. A motion was then made that the report as a whole be adopted. The yeas and nays were called, and the vote was the same as that on Shaw's motion, with one exception, that McCammon voted for the report. Mr. Shaw contended that the committee on school management had no power to deal with the salaries of officials of the board the regulations did not allow it; and Mr. Brown thought that the report was illegal. THE BIBLE IN THE SCHOOLS. Mr. Brown said that some months ago he gave notice of a motion he intended to move, that the bible be read in the schools The minutes were referred to and it was learned that no such notice had been minut-Mr. Brown moved, seconded by Mr.

Dunlop, that the bible be used as a text book in the public schools. Considerable discussion ensued, and some of the members thought Mr. Brown should leave his motion until the new board met. Mr. Brown, on a reconsideration of the matter, said he would give a notice of motion regarding the use of the bible in the schools, so that it could be discussed by the new board. If trustees were not present when his motion was submitted, he would consider that they wanted to shirk the

Mr. Savage continued to say that the matter was important and should be carefully considered by a full attendance of the school board, Mr. Brown then submitted the following notice: "Take notice that I will at the next meeting of the school board bring in a motion respecting the use of the bible in the schools." At this junction Mr. Anglin vacated the chair, and Mr. Horn was elected to preside. Votes of thanks of thanks were tendered Mr. Anglin for the efficient manner in which he had fulfilled the duties of chairman, and to Mr. Phippen, the secretary of the board. Both these gentlemen made suitable replies. The board adjourned at 9:30 o'clock.

What's the Matter with the Board?

At the next meeting of the school board a the public schools as a text book, will be submitted for consideration. Several of the trustees think there is no need of such a motion, because the bible has not been withdrawn from the schools. Neither has it been ordered by the board that the book of scripture readings shall be read in the schools. In three of the schools the teachers read to their pupils selections from the bible; in the other schools the teachers read passages from scripture readings. Who gave the teachers authority to adopt the scripture Mr. Wilson, chairman, in referring to the | selections no person knows; the regulations clearly state that the selections must be used under the instruction of the trustees. And they contemplate undoing what they have
