Two Pension Bills Refused.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Bills granting pensions to Mrs. Logan and Mrs. Blair, widow of Gen. Frank Blair, were defeated in the house committee on invalid pensions. The members were arraigned on party lines, seven democrats voting against and five republicans in favor of the bills The majority of the committee believe it would be bad policy to follow the precedents already established in view of the fact that there are about one hundred surviving widows of officers who would then be entitled to pensions who are now excluded by the general law.

Killed by Swallowing His Teeth.

MONTREAL, Jan. 18. - A second-hand store keeper named Zotique Sancartier died on Saturday last from the effects of swallowing three false teeth. About one month ago the deceased was in his coach house harnessing his horse, and while raising the collar to the horse's head his three false teeth, which were held by a plate, became detached and went partially down his throat. He went to a doctor, who, he alleged, forced the teeth down. Sancartier suffered intense pain after the operation, and lingered in great ageny until his death.

Drumlish.

LONDON, Jan. 19. -In a speech at Liverpool last night Mr. Goschen said the government was prepared for any obstruction proval of all classes of politicians. He congratulated the country upon its being free from the military incubus with which the continent was burdened. England, he said. equally with Germany, was laboring to preserve the peace. It was false to assert that the British government was inclined to risk the peace of Europe for a particular dynasty or man. The rumour that the government had worked directly or indirectly for the restoration of Prince Alexander was unfounded. The government would give no vinion in regard to the choice of candidate for the Bulgarian throne, except in concert with the other powers.

MR. BLAKE'S DECLARATION OF THE PARTY'S POLICY.

He Quotes His 1882 Manifesto-We Must Have a High Tariff—Any Readjustment Must be Effected With Due Regard to All Interests.

In his speech at Toronto Mr. Blake said: As the election approaches you find, notwithstanding the pledge of 1882 as to the results of a fresh lease of power, the cry is raised again, "The tariff is in danger! To save the tariff you must once again return the conservatives to office." If it be so that it is necessary to give the conservative party a third lease of power in order to save the tariff, all I can say is that this is an acknowledgement that the principal pledge made by the government at the last election has not been fulfilled, and that they have failed to accomplish the promise on which they were returned. (Great applause.) I desire to refer very briefly to the attitude of the liberal party upon the question of the tariff. It has been grossly misrepresented. In 1882 I stated my views upon that subject in the most formal manner, by means of the address I issued to the electors of West Dur-

A MANIFESTO TO THE COUNTRY. By the principles then laid down I still abide. I said:

"You know well that I do not approve of needless restrictions on our liberty of exchanging what we have for what we want, and do not see that any substantial application of the restrictive principle has been, or can be, made in favor of the great interests of the mechanic, the laborer, the farmer, the lumberman, the shipbuilder, or the fisherman. But you know also that I have fully recognized the fact that we are obliged to raise yearly a great sum, made greater by the obligations imposed on us by this government; and that we must continue to provide this yearly sum mainly by import duties, laid, to a great extent, on goods similar moderate protectionists, an ample advantage to the home manufacturer. "Our adversaries wish to present to youan issue as between the present tariff and absolute free trade.

"Free trade is, as I have repeatedly explained, for us impossible; and the issue is whether the present tariff is perfect or defective and unjust. "I believe it to be, in some important respects, defective and unjust.

"We expressed our views last session in four motions, which declare that articles of such prime necessity as fuel and breadstuffs should be free; that the sugar duties should be so adjusted as to relieve the consumer from some part of the enormous extra price he is now liable to pay to a few refiners; that the exorbitant and unequal duties on the lower grades of cottons and woollens suing W. D. Balfour, of the Amherstbury should be so changed as to make them fairer to the masses, who now pay on the cheapest goods taxes about twice as great in proportion as those which the rich pay on the finest goods, and that the duties on such materials as iron, which is in universal use, should be reduced, so as to enable the home manufacturer, to whom it is a raw material, to produce a cheaper article for the benefit of his home consumer, and the encouragement of his former trade." I believe that by changes of the character I have indicated monopoly and extravagant prices would be checked a greater measure of fair play and justice to all classes would be secured, and the burden of taxation would be better adjusted to the capacity of the people who are to pay. Depend upon it, a day will come when by sharp and bitter experience we shall learn the truth, and many, who even now appland, will then condemn these particular incidents of the tariff. My reference there to the fiscal and financial limitations of our condition has increased force to-day, for since that time enormous sums have been added to the public debt, enormous sums have been added to the annual charge, and notwithstanding the great taxation a larger deficit THAN WE HAVE EVER KNOWN since confederation has signalized the last financial year. Therefore the execution even of those measures of readjustment which he suggested in that address, and which we had proposed in parliament in the preceding session, would be found much more difficult to-day by reason of the changed condition of affairs. We have no longer a large surplus to dispose of; we have a large deficit and a greatly increased scale of expenditure to meet. And it is clearer than ever that a very high scale of taxation must be retained, best remedy ever discovered for the speedy and that manufacturers have nothing to fear. and effectual cure of coughs, colds and the I then declared that any readjustment severest lung troubles.
