KNOW THYSELF. A Great Medical Work on Manhood.

Exhausted Vitality, Nervous and Physical Debility, Premature Decline in Man, Errors of Youth, and the untold miseries resulting from indiscretion and excesses. A book for every man, young, middle-aged and old. It contains 125 prescriptions for all acute and chronic diseases, each one of which is invaluable. So found by the Author, whose experience for 25 years is such as probably never before fell to the lot of any physician. 300 pages, bound in beautiful French muslin, embossed covers, full gilt.

The Science of Life is worth more to the young and middle-aged men of this generation than all the gold mines of California and the silver mines of Nevada combined. - S. F. CHRONICLE. The Science of Life is of greater value than all the medical works published in this country for the past 50 years. ATLANTA CONSTITUTION. The Science of Life is a superb and masterly treatise on nervous and physical debility. - DETROIT FREE PRESS.

There is no member of society to whom The Science of Life will not be useful, whether Youth, parent, guardian, instructor, or clergyman. - ARGONAUT. Address the Peabody Medical Institute, or Dr. W. H. Parker, No. 4 Hillmich Street, Boston, Mass., who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Chronic and obstinate diseases that have baffled the skill of all other physicians a specialty. Such treated successfully without an instance of failure. Mention BRITISH WHIG, Kingston, Ont.

'Cheap Drugs are the dearest things on Earth.' The Advantages of Morse's Carbolated Cod Liver Oil. It is believed that the not infrequent and discouraging failures of plain Cod Liver Oil and other tonic and alterative treatment to cure consumption, grow out of the fact they have no positive power to arrest the decay of the lungs; that while Cod Liver Oil supplies the waste of adipose tissue and vitality that the disease has made, as no other known substance can, it does not exercise any controlling power over the disease itself. It only gives Nature a fair chance to work her own cure. Something more is wanted SOMETHING TO ARREST THE DECAY THAT DESTROYS LIFE - some prompt remedial agent that shall act directly upon the disease to check it while the Cod Liver Oil is building up the system. This important addition we have in Morse's Carbolated Cod Liver Oil. The power of Carbolic Acid to arrest decay - something marvelous. The destruction of matter cannot proceed when it is administered. Its disinfectant, purifying and cleansing properties are truly remarkable, and have been of the greatest practical value to medical men. It is palatable, and now put up in bottles holding a full pint. Price, $1. Formula on every label.

DRUGS, FANCY GOODS, PERFUMERY, ETC. Also all the leading Patent Medicines, and a full stock of Paints, Oils, Etc. Prescriptions carefully dispensed. Good value guaranteed. Favor us with a call. J. GEO. KING, DRUGGIST, Oct. 22 Kingston, Ont.

A Creaking Hinge. Is dry and turns hard, until oil is applied, after which it moves easily. Which the joints, or hinges, of the body are stiffened and inflamed by Rheumatism, they cannot be moved without causing the most excruciating pains. Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by its action on the blood, relieves this condition, and restores the joints to good working order.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla has effected, in our city many most remarkable cures, a number of which baffled the efforts of the most experienced physicians. Were it necessary I could give the names of many individuals who have been cured by taking this medicine. In my own case it has certainly worked wonders, relieving me of Rheumatism, after being troubled with it for years. In this and all other diseases arising from impure blood, there is no remedy with which I am acquainted, that affords such relief as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. R. H. Lawrence, M.D., Baltimore, Md.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured me of Gout and Rheumatism, when nothing else would. It was eradicated every trace of disease from my system. - R. H. Short, Manager Hotel Belmont, Lowell, Mass.

I was, during many months, a sufferer from chronic Rheumatism. The disease afflicted me grievously, in spite of all the remedies I could find, until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took several bottles of this preparation and was speedily restored to health. - J. Frank Independence, Va.

A LIBERAL TRIUMPH.

demand such a thing. He believed all that was necessary could have been accomplished by placing Riel under lock and key for the rest of his life. He said that Hon. Edward Blake had, in this case, taken account of the fact that the man had been three times in the lunatic asylum, and there was a strong probability of the return of his insanity, and that in the reign of Her Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria no man had been hanged for treason. Anent Riel's trial he regretted it had not been before twelve jurymen and a chief justice; and the recommendation to mercy made by the jury showed that Riel was not a convicted felon, since Mr. Blake had offered a reward to bring a supposed criminal before the bar of justice, but the leader of the federal government, with one hand raised aloft, wished to God he could catch him, while the other he plunged into the treasury for money to induce the man to leave the country. (Tremendous cheering.) Riel was exiled for five years, and paid the penalty for his first offence. They had no right to punish him a second time for that act. But the blackest part of the affair was what Mr. Boswell had recently made public, that the conservative leaders had threatened to turn Sir John Macdonald from power if the man's life was not taken, and he was hanged! "If," he said, "you want a deeper pit of baseness in which to sink any public man I have yet to read the pages of history which describes it. (Great cheering.) It was a solemn moment when the question of hanging Riel became a question of political expediency; then it became awfully repulsive. It was an awful moment when the life's blood of a being, were he the basest wretch upon earth, was to be taken in order that a party might into power again. (Cheers.) The picture drawn by Mr. Blake was so vivid that for ten minutes there was a deep silence, and when the final thrust was made the audience, with our voice, declared its appreciation of the speech. And the peroration, with every indication of victory for the liberals, was thrilling. Men screamed as Mr. Blake told of the victory that was coming. He appealed to their consciences to have the truth spread throughout the land. He urged the electors to gird themselves for the fight, and to not only use their franchise well, but their influence also, in seeing that bribery did not enter the city, that men would not prove false to themselves, their country and their God by handling filth, or that which would bring the blush of shame to their faces or make them feel that they had sold their country. "Resent it! Resent it!" he cried with rising inflections, and the audience cheered him louder and louder. Mr. Blake told of the old battle, pictured the scenes presaging victory and the advances made in the capture of strong places, and then, in delightful language, told how the liberals should act in the present crisis. In the battle of right against wrong, of truth against falsehood, they knew who must win. (Cheers.) "Let us bestir ourselves," he said, "now that the presaging sounds of victory are advancing; let us wipe out evil, jobbery, dishonesty, trickery, and gross selfishness, and put righteousness, truth, and unselfishness in their place, and thus declare the pride we feel that we live in a day when we cast the evil out and place the good in its stead." (Cheers.)

He sat down at 11 o'clock amid wild enthusiasm. Capt. Crawford, in a felicitous way, moved and Joseph Wilson, seconded a vote of thanks to the speaker, and the audience endorsed it with rousing cheers. The meeting was one of the grandest ever held in the city and had done much to inspire the electors for the battle of Tuesday next.

THE SCHOOL OF SCIENCE.

The Mail in Favor of—A Kindly Word for the City of Kingston. Toronto Mail. It is very essential that a school of science should exist in every important section of the province, especially where there is a variety of industrial interests. The latter eastern Ontario has in a marked degree. It is a vast undeveloped mineral region; Kingston is one of the largest, if not the largest, shipping ports in the province; the Bay of Quinte districts is one of the richest agricultural and horticultural sections of the country; from Leeds to Gengarry the dairy interests is very large and steadily increasing; Trenton, Belleville and Deseronto are centres of the lumber and wooden ware manufacturing interests; and Kingston has large machine shops and manufacturing. All these sections of eastern Ontario are agreed that Kingston is the proper place for a school of practical science, and the need of such an institution was well illustrated the other day by the rev. of Deseronto, who stated that the skilled labour necessary for the chemical and steel ship-building works about to start in that place would have to be imported from Great Britain and the United States. The necessity for practical scientific education being apparent, it is equally clear that the young men who wish to acquire it cannot be expected to go a long distance from home for the purpose or to take a regular university course. There need would be satisfied by short courses of instruction in the winter months, with evening classes for skilled mechanics. Such instructions would arouse a desire for further intellectual training, and the results could not but be beneficial to the community at large.

These are very briefly the arguments advanced by the advocates of Kingston scheme, and we know of no reasonable objection to them. The cost to the country would be trifling, and it is claimed that it is folly for the government to think of spending large amounts on some of the "fancy" subjects suggested in the confederation scheme, when far greater results can be accomplished by a comparatively insignificant expenditure. Harvard possesses a professor of Chinese, who has an average of one-third of a student annually, that is to say, one in three years; but Harvard has an income of about $730,000 a year, and can afford such costly luxuries. In Ontario we may well leave the establishment of such chairs to private liberality and devote the public funds to purposes from which the people at large will benefit.

Trust Not to Luck. Coughs and colds do wear away sometimes, but very often they become so deeply seated through neglect that successful treatment is impossible. How much better it would be to resort to that long tested family remedy for coughs and colds, "Lanman's Balsam Syrup" than to assume a risk so great. This family-remedy is so very pleasant to the taste and may be given to children without difficulty. Try for coughs and colds "Lanman's Balsam Syrup." Sold by N. C. Polson & Co. THE PEOPLE ARE STARVING.

A Dreadful State of Things in Newfoundland—Help Wanted.

St. Johns, Nfld., Feb. 14.—The commercial houses on this island are on the verge of a financial crisis. News from the northern parts of the island represent things in a deplorable condition. The government has already sent thousands of barrels of flour to keep the people from starving, but the supply is altogether inadequate. The most northerly parts are now frozen, and it is impossible to send supplies there in time to save the people. It was a most pitiful sight to witness the scenes at many places at which the coasting steamer Curlew stopped on her last trip north. Scores of people, who had had nothing but codfish and hard-tack (and but very little of that) to subsist on for months, dragged themselves across twenty to fifty miles of barren rocks and wild wastes to where the steamer stopped. They came in hopes of getting supplies of flour, molasses and pork enough to keep body and soul together during the next three months, but the steamer had no supplies for them, and, discouraged, they started to return to their miserable homes to suffer all the pangs of hunger and exhaustion, added to the rigors of a Newfoundland winter. Meanwhile the government has spent such large sums in purchasing supplies and in constructing the Placentia railway to furnish labor and to save the people of this district from starvation, that the treasury is depleted. Newfoundland fish are a glut on every market, owing to inability to compete with bounty fed Frenchmen. The island presents to the world the most mournful spectacle, and its people are the most miserable of all English colonists.

A VERY PECULIAR SECT.

They are Believers in Prophecy—The Expected Fulfillment of it.

ECONOMY, Penn., Feb. 16.—The Economists celebrated the eighty-second anniversary of the formation of that society. The day was devoted to feasting, praising God, rejoicing and making merry. For nearly a century the Economists have been daily expecting the second coming of Christ, as it is believed the glorious advent will take place before the death of the last surviving member of the society. The elder Henri said he believed the time for which they had waited so long was close at hand. The prophecies concerning the last days, prior to the coming of Christ and the destruction of the world, had been fulfilled, and he thought the present troubles in Europe, United States and Canada, would shortly involve the 200,000,000 people spoken of by St. John in bitter strife. He reiterated the firm belief of the Harmonists that Christ will establish a kingdom upon Mount Sinai, and hinted at the removal of the entire society to Palestine as soon as there was an indication of the fulfillment of the last of the prophecies, that they might be ready to greet their Master at his coming and place all their possessions at his disposal. The Economic society numbered nearly 1,000 members at one time, but not more than 500 survive. Their property is valued at from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000.

Discovering his Watch.

On January 31st Horace Harbeck's watch was stolen while he was in the city hotel. He kept an eye open for the thief, and last night Alexander Rushford was found in the Burnett house with it in his possession. He was anxious to raise $10 upon it. A young man named Walker seized it and was later arrested in a Barrie street house. The prisoner said he had taken the watch because it belonged to Harbeck. Both Walker and Rushford are detained at police quarters.

Prohibition and Politics.

The anti-liquor question is a strong plank in the political platform, and one safe to lay hold of. All intoxicating beverages are safest when let alone, even in medicine. Burdock Blood Bitters is not a bar beverage but a strictly pure medicine, reliable for diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels, kidneys and blood, and will not aid in making drunkards.

Sir John Macdonald was to-day to have delivered an address to the electors of East York in support of A. Bonthe. The train being five hours late Sir John had to go to Hamilton.
