Pimples, Boils,

And Carbuncles result from a debilitated, impoverished, or impure condition of the blood. Ayer's Sarsaparilla prevents and cures these eruptions and painful tumors, by removing their cause; it is the only effectual way of treating them.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla has prevented the usual course of Boils, which have plagued and distressed me every season for several years.

I was badly troubled with Pimples on the face; also, with discoloration of the skin, which showed itself in ugly dark patches. No external treatment did more than temporary good. Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected and I have not been troubled since. - T. W. Boddy, River St., Lowell, Mass.

I was troubled with Boils, and my health was much impaired. I began using Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, in due time, the eruptions all disappeared, and my health was completely restored.

I was troubled, for a long time, with a humor which appeared on my face in ugly Pimples and blotches. Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured me. I consider it the best blood purifier in the world.

Is sold by all druggists and dealers in medicine. Ask for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and do not be persuaded to take any other.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Q. "What was your mother's religion?" A. "She tuck whiskey in her tay."

KINGSTON, March 18.—(To the Editor): A short time ago I noticed an article in the Whig, from a hotel keeper, complaining of the handicapping he experienced from shebeens and licensed grocers. Let me inform your correspondent that his part of the community is not the only one which suffers at the hands of the latter. We, the other grocers, compete also at a disadvantage with them. I do not object to the selling of liquor by them so long as it is done in the quantity prescribed by law, but when it comes to the glass "behind the boxes," whereof hotel-keeper complains, I know that in cases not a few, the purchaser receives an inferior class of groceries that he would not accept at a temperance store, and that for these stale goods and the two cents of indifferent liquor he imbibes he is mulcted in a sum of at least ten or fifteen cents. So long, however, as these groceries carry on this illegitimate traffic, so long must honest legitimate trade be injured thereby, and though "good wine needs no bush" in many cases an inferior article is preferred for the sake of the accompanying dram. This hotel-keeper may see that he has not the sole grievance in this clandestine violation of the law.

I think, however, he might have included others in his indictment. What about the licensed houses where, by no possibility, a traveller can secure either a meal or a bed, and where, perhaps during the inspection visit, a few articles of furniture are hired for a short time to fulfill the conditions and then returned? Has hotel-keeper no grievance here? It would appear to me they monopolize all the large easy profit, and leave to the others the least lucrative branch of the trade and all the drudgery of meals, beds, etc.—GROCER.

A Work for Spring.

TORONTO, March 19.—(To the Editor): In some recent letters, advocating the necessity of planting trees for shelter, the value of rows of evergreens as shelter to the most exposed sides of farms has been especially touched on. I would like, with your leave, to mention a method which I have seen adopted for this purpose with great success, at a time of year now rapidly approaching.

In the experiments I am aware a time has been chosen when, after the frost was out of the ground, it had, during a cold night, frozen again to the depth of an inch or so. There having been plenty of young pine trees standing near, in the edge of the bush and in pasture fields, a number of men were obtained, so as to finish the job before the ground should again thaw; trees chosen about six feet high, and the earth cut round them with a sharp spade, so as to leave a circle about eighteen inches across. These then, when lifted, the slight frost above holding it altogether, came up with a circular mass of earth and roots two to four inches deep. They were carried at once and set in their places and the gaps filled with fresh earth. The loss in some hundreds of trees was not one in the hundred. If the chance spoken of be not obtained, it is better, for regular planting, to wait till the middle or last of May, or the first or second week in June.

There are, all over the country, in openings in woods and in fields, many thousands of young evergreens of proper size to move, which it would be extremely valuable to obtain and plant out along the north or most exposed sides of the farms. They are much better for the purpose than deciduous trees, as they give shelter the whole year round, and will be found especially valuable in winter, changing for the better, it has been well remarked, the whole climate of the farm. A couple of days given to such work at the right time would be found the best investment possible.—Yours, etc., R. W. PHIPPS.

THE CONVICTION QUASHED.

A Magistrate Refused to Testify for Fear of Breaking up a Court.

The somewhat celebrated case of the Queen vs. Sproule has been finally decided, by the conviction being quashed without costs. It will be remembered that the license inspector laid a complaint against Joseph Sproule, of Okeana, in October last, for a violation of the Scott act. The case was tried before magistrates H. S. Davy and I. F. Alyworth, and a conviction obtained. The defendant subpoenaed one of the magistrates as a witness but the magistrate refused to leave the bench to give evidence, on the ground that the bench would be broken up and that both magistrates must be sitting and acting together throughout the trial. On this and other grounds the defendant applied for an order nisi to quash the conviction, and after a number of adjournments the matter was finally argued last month. The court held that the magistrate was bound to give evidence and that he need not have left the bench to do so. This settles a much disputed point.

Sale of Jervaulx Abbey, Yorkshire.

This important historical estate, comprising 10,000 acres, with a gross rent-roll of about £11,670 per annum, has just been disposed by Messrs. Chinnock, Galsworthy, and Chinnock to Cunliffe Lister, of Bradford, for the sum of £310,000, the timber to be paid for extra. Mr. Lister is now the owner of one of the finest landed properties in England, he having purchased the adjoining Swinton park estates of Messrs. Chinnock & Co., in 1882, for £400,000, the two together embracing an area of no less than 32,680 acres, and containing the venerable ruins of the Cistercian Abbey of Jervaulx with its Norman arches and memorials.

THE CURRENT MAGAZINES.

The Prominent Features of Them—Articles that are Very Readable.

Peter's Ladies' Magazine for April is a captivating repository of spring fashions. Mrs. Van Rensselaer's articles, on the great English cathedrals, begin in April Century. Pennell will illustrate the series throughout.

Dr. Edward Eggleston's papers on religion in the colonies, for The Century, will begin in the April issue and give peculiarities of service and old church customs.

Mark Twain shows "English as She is Taught," in the April Century, giving remarkable examples found in school exercises with comment by the humorist.

Our Little Ones for April (Russell Publishing Company, Boston), is a charming periodical of young boys and girls. The illustrations are very good indeed, and the reading healthful and enticing.

The Pansy, March; Little Men and Women, April; and Babyland, April, and five specimens of these children's magazines of D. Lothrop & Co., Boston. The cheapest and best entertainment for a young family is not furnished by toys, but these juvenile books.

An entertaining article, apropos of the labor troubles, will be issued in April Harper's, "How Workingmen Live in Europe and America." The Editor's Study presents the interesting feature of a great novelist confronting the charges made against fiction of undermining mental and moral stability.

The Canadian Poultry Review, published by H. B. Donovan, Parkdale, Ont., is a greatly enlarged and improved journal, a credit to Canada, in which it leads in its class. Besides its special work on poultry, it sustains departments upon pigeons, cage birds, rabbits and pets. Every Canadian owner of fancy poultry or birds should sustain the Review.

For the relief and cure of the inflammation and congestion called a "cold in the head" there is more potency in Ely's Cream Balm than in anything else it is possible to prescribe. This preparation has for years past been making a brilliant success as a remedy for cold in the head, catarrh and hay fever. Used in the initial stages of these complaints Cream Balm prevents any serious development of the symptoms, while almost numberless cases are on record of radical cures of chronic catarrh and hay fever after all other modes of treatment have proved of no avail.
