A DIABOLICAL TOUTRAGE.

A Bomb Thrown into a Quebec Salvation Army Meeting-The Results.

QUEBEC, March 23 .- While the French portion of the Salvation army were at worship in the Jeffrey Hale school hall some person placed within a broken pane a bomb, which exploded and caused a fearful wreck of the building, framework and glass. The first meeting was in progress, and but a few persons were present two or three have been seriously injured. The force of the explosion sent the broken glass and debris 40 feet into the interior of the building, and came nearly making a victim of Captain Simcoe. The building wasfilled with smoke and the gas extinguished, women fainted and screamed and men rushed to and fro unable to realize what had occurred. People living two blocks away were startled by the report of the explosion and rushed from their houses imagining that an earthquake, or repetition of the parliament building dynamite plot, had occurred. It seems almost a miracle that the building was not blown to pieces and all the inmates killed. The plotters placing the bomb became nervous and dropped it to the outside of the window, and it spent its greatest force in the air. The conspirators are believed to be young men belonging to the higher class of society, who made themselves conspicuous in the riots waged against these defenceless women when they arrived.

EMPEROR WILLIAM'S FESTIVITIES.

The Old Man Filled With Gratitude-The Political Crisis is Over.

Berlin, March 23.—The emperor gave a dinner at the palace to night and afterwards went to the opera. The emperor's proclamation to the German people, thanking them for their expressions of devotion and joy on the ninetieth anniversary of his birth, is couched in words showing the profoundest emotion. The document contains a long review of the emperor's life. The kaiser dwells on the experiences of his youth and the wonderful help God has vouchsafed to him, and prays that he may be able to preserve during the short remainder of his life the blessings of peace.

This evening the empress, the crown prince and his family, and the royal visitors, attended a performance of ballet "Sardanapaius." Between the acts tea was served in the foyer, which had been converted into a brilliant reception room.

Emperor William has conferred the first class decoration of the order of the red eagle upon Dr. Lauer, his physician.

The kaiser's expressions of belief in the maintenance of peace are everywhere the subject of comment. At Prince Bismarck's dinner it was the common topic of conversation. The general opinion is that the crisis

A. T. STEWART'S PICTURES.

The Sale of them Occurred Yesterday-Value of the Choice Ones.

NEW YORK, March 24. - The sale of the collection of works of art, owned by the late A. T. Stewart, commenced last night. A number of pictures were sold at a sacrifice, but on the whole the prices realized were fair. "Cattle," by Constantine Troyon, of Paris, went to D. C. Lyle for $7,150. "The Chariot Race," by Jean Leon Jerome, of Paris, which cost $30,000, was knocked down to Henry Hilton for $7,100. "Charity," by Meissonier, which cost $20,000, was bought by Henry Hilton for $10,500. "Niagara Falls from the American Side," by Church, was bought by a banker, J. S. Kennedy, for $7,050. The total sales aggregated $110,000. Mr. Kennedy will send "Niagara Falls from the American Side" as a present to the Edinburgh museum.

A GREAT GALE AT SEA.

Were the Yachts in it ! If so They Had a Very Rough Time of It.

PORTLAND, Me., March 24. - The steamer Oregon, from Liverpool, reports that last Thursday and Friday she encountered a severe easterly gale. "If the Dauntless or Coronet were in our vicinity," said the first officer, "and all accounts place them close by, they had a hard time of it, and must have made little or no headway. It was a dead beat to windward in one of the roughest seas ever known on the Atlantic. On Friday the lookout reported a schooner rigged craft away to port, scudding under bare poles. This may have been one of the yachts. If they can make way against a gale like that they are better than most yachts. They will arrive on the other side much later than has been expected.

THE ELECTION REVIEW.

SIR RICHARD CARTWRIGHT'S LATE SPEECH AT TORONTO. -

He Shows That 'it was Impossible for the Liberals to do Better in Ontario-That Eleven Seats Were Taken From Them by the Gerrymander and the Franchise Acts-Outlook for the Future.

At the second annual meeting of the Tor onto liberal club Sir Richard Cartwright, in submitting the official report, said :

"I do not believe that on any occasion in the history of the reform party have reformers worked more cordially than they did in these two contests. (Applause.) The reform party scored one very great victory in the contest which terminated on the 28th December. In the Dominion elections in Ontario we have scarcely been able to do more than hold our own. Some persons, who do not choose to inform themselves as to the actual facts, account for this by the simple explanation that there was in these elections a great change in the feelings of the people that a large number of the men who supported Mr. Mowat chose to support Sir John Macdonald. Now, if I believed that to be the case I would say so at once. I believe that the real facts point to a directly opposite state of things, that there has been no change of any moment in the opinions of the people, that the majority alleged to exist against us in this province is a fictitious majority. There has been a change, but it has been in the crooked and doctored voters' list under which the last elections were held. (Hear, hear.) The majority against us has been obtained by dint of the gerrymander act of 1882, the franchise act, the gross partiality on the part of the returning officers or their deputies. No less than three seats have been taken from us in Ontario by gross misconduct on the part of the returning officers or their deputies. We have in all probability been deprived of no less than eleven constituencies which we would have won had the constituencies been the same as they were in 1881. All the evidence collected since 22nd February points conclusively to this, that the main cause of the apparent majority now against us is to be found in the franchise act of 1885. (Hear, hear.) I do not believe the reform party have any ground to complain of the judges who acted as revising officers. As a rule, though there may have been exceptions, these gentlemen conducted themselves fairly. The real difficulty lies further back. The system itself is irradicably vicious and unfair. The government's partisans who were almost uniformly appointed to construct these initial lists, perhaps without DELIBERATELY DISHONEST BLAS, perhaps from their natural associations with the conservative party, so formed them that in a great many cases the members of the reform party were at extraordinary disadvantage in their subsequent operations. It is quite true that in a few eases where extraordinary exertions were used, where a deal of time was consumed in rectifying these initial lists, we did succeed, or some of our friends succeeded in rectifying them, but anybody who chooses to consider the matter impartially will see that it is impossible for the party in opposition to obtain fair play under a system which allows the original voters' lists to be formed by wellknown partisans of the government. You can understand very easily to what extent the election has been affected by that fact when you look at the extremely narrow majorities by which many of the constituencies have been carried. For instance Kingston was carried by 12, or 17 as given on the recount, Lennox by 23, West Northumberland by 37, West Peterboro' by 13, South Victoria by 47, Peel 43, London 39, West Huron 26, Malton 1, Algoma 34, South Norfolk 61, North Grey 57, Muskoka 44. There you have thirteen constituencies in which the aggregate majority against us could scarcely have exceeded 440. Change an average of seven teen votes in these thirteen constituencies, and you would entirely overcome the utmost majority the government can claim, and would have given us decisive majority in Ontario. (Hear, hear.) Certain persons have argued that this was perfectly fair, because the reform party succeeded in carrying several constituencies by narrow majorities. If the reform party have succeeded in carrying constituencies by narrow majorities, it was not by reason of their power to draw on the dominion treasury, of a gerrymander act passed in their favor, by a franchise bill by means of which the voters' lists could be doctored to suit them. It is against the sinister influences I have enumerated that these were won. And it is

NO ANSWER TO THE ACCUSATION I make, that their majority is a fictitious and dishonest majority, to allege that there was a change of vote given to Mr. Mowat, for the change was not in the real vote at all, but simply a change in the voters' lists by which several thousands of voters have been left off on the reform side, and probably an equal number added on the conservative side.

The reform party hold almost every local government of importance, from one end of the dominion to the other. In the next place the government, largely through their own fault, have created some very difficult questions with which they are called upon to deal, and I do not believe that on their own doctored lists it would be possible for them to show that they possess an apparent popular majority in the five older provinces. Under these circumstances think you will agree with me that the change of a very small number of seats, a gain of four or five, would almost certainly destroy the present government and render its majority for all practical purposes utterly valueless. DUTY OF THE HOUSE. Now, I see no way in which members of this club can aid the reform party or serve their country so well as by applying themselves to re-opening the constituencies, wherever this can be done, and revising the new voters' lists, which are now being prepared, on which, it is well to remember, in case of our success in re-opening those constituencies, in all probability many of these would be fought out. If you agree with me I would ask the present members of our club to bestir themselves wherever they can in order to bring about these results. think myself, that although the situation is, beyond all doubt, a difficult one, there is good reason to hope, if that course be pursued, that these men's career will be brought to a pretty speedy check, and, practically speaking, that is all that now remains for us to do. I don't want to inflict a lengthy harangue upon you, but on an occasion like this I think it is strictly in accord with my duty as chairman to call your attention to these matters. I do not believe a party ever fought a battle more fairly and won it more honestly than we in Ontario in the local. Our course was the same" in the dominion contest, and if we did not score a victory it is not due to any change in popular sentiment or relaxing of effort by the party, but simply to a series of legal frauds by which, for the time being, the will of the people has been entirely baffled and set aside. (Applause.)

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

Matters That Have Been Occupying the Attention of the House Lately.

Toronto, March 23 .-- Mr. Clarke, Wellington, asked whether the regulation regarding the reading of the bible in the schools was still in force.

Hon. G. W. Ross said the object of the action of the government was to have the bible read in the schools generally and systematically. To accomplish that object selections were prepared. Where the trustees had decided that the bible should be read, or passages not in the selections, the government had no desire to interfere so long as the bible was read daily and systematically. If modifications were necessary from these selections they would be made.

Mr. Ingram moved the second reading of the bill to amend the assessment act, exempting $800 on income. Mr. Gibson, Hamilton, said the opposition to this measure came from the rural municipalities. The increased tax worked more oppressively on those with small incomes than on those with large incomes.

Mr. H. E. Clarke thought the measure was reactionary, years ago an agitation was raised in favour of abolishing all exemptions. For this reason he opposed the bill.

Mr. Meredith said the exemption of incomes did not come within the category of exemptions against objection. However, as the labour organizations had petitioned for the measure, there was no reason why he should oppose it.

Hon. Mr. Fraser said the labour or ganizations knew what was in their own interests and they desired an extension of the

Mr. Garson supported the claims of the workingmen to consideration.

Mr. Creighton opposed the bill, also Mesars. Craig and French. Mr. Wood, Hastings, favoured the exemption.

Mr. Clancy favoured the bill going to the nunicipal committee. Mr. E. F. Clarke favoured the second reading of the bill.

The bill was read the second time. Mr. Meredith moved for a return show ing, as to each vacancy which has occurred since the first day of January, 1874, in the offices of sheriff, registrar of deeds, or county crown attorney when the vacancy occurred how it was created when it was filled by whom it was filled, etc. Carried. Mr. Creighton moved that in the opinion of this house it is unjust to other classes of the community who are taxed on their incomes that the salaries of officials holding office under the government of Canada should be exempt from municipal taxation that the constitutional right to tax such salaries for municipal purposes is a subject of such importance that an authoritative decision thereou should be had from the judicial committee of Her Majesty's privy council, and the matter being one of general interest throughout the province, and in which no municipality is exclusively interested, steps ought to be taken by the government of Ontario for obtaining such a decision.

The attorney general moved in amend ment, that all the words after the word "taxation" be struck out, and the following be inserted in lieu thereof: "That this house regrets that the dominion parliament, in the exercise of its jurisdiction under the British North America act, has not passed an act placing or purporting to place such salaries on the same footing in that respect as this legislature has placed the salaries of officials holding office under the provincial government." Carried.

Mr Lees moved for a return giving the names of the rivers or streams on which tolls have been fixed under the statute for protecting the public interest in rivers, streams and creeks, with a schedule of tolls on each, and also to whom paid or to be paid. Withdrawn.

'Great Oaks From Little Acorns Grow."

Sale of a Railroad.

SYRACUSE, March 24 .- In the case of the Central National bank, of Boston, against the New York, Rutland and Montreal R.R. Co., Judge Wallace, in the United States circuit court, decided to-day that the receivers' certificates, issued by receiver Van Volkenburg to the amount of $350,000, are the first lien upon the property of the railroad company in the hands of the purchasers. The decree was ordered for the sale of the railroad to pay the certificates.

The Dakota Ice Gorge,

BISMARCK, Dak., March 24.-All attempts to break the Sibley gorge with dy namite have been unavailing. A man was seen last evening riding down the river on a cake of ice, frantically calling for help, but it was impossible to assist him. Fort Lincoln army officers are of the opinion that the people of the opposite post, on the low lands south of the city perished in the flood.

Young Girls Misled.

St. PAUL, Minn., March 24.-Three girls, Julia Desmond, Mary Keiley and Lottie Farrell, were enticed away by Mrs. Mathers a notorious woman, and taken to a dance house near Crookston. Here they were placed behind barred doors and informed that any attempt to escape meant instant death. The girl Desmond was choked until she fell in a swoon, and when she recovered escaped. Warrants have been issued for the arrest of the procuress.

Rev. Mr. Beecher's Salary.

Did Beecher, at any time, request that his salary be cut down, after his congregation, to aid him financially, had increased it? G.F.

Just after Beecher's trial the congregation of Plymouth church became aware, for the first time that, notwithstanding, the large sums he had received for his literary work, his preaching, lecturing and other services, he was in great financial straits. Plymouth church paid $100,000, the expenses of the Tilton trial, and immediately raised his salary from $15,000 to $25,000. At the latter figure it remained till about four years, when, by a mutual understand ing, perfectly satisfactory to both parties, it was reduced to $20,000, at which figure it remained till the time of his death. It was not at his special request, but by mu tual understanding.
