COMMERCIAL MATTERS.

THE KINGSTON MARKETS. KINGSTON, May 11.—During the past week business has been quiet. The farmers are so busy getting in their spring crops that the markets are not thought of. The only persons on the square the last few days were gardeners, butchers, and a few farmers who had potatoes and vegetables to sell.

A butcher when asked for quotations said: "Prices are the same as last week, with a great deal less sold."

In Montreal supplies of cattle have largely decreased, with consequent lighter offerings and less active trade. Choice cattle have been picked up at 4c to 4 1/2c per lb, live weight. Steamship agents asked 60s as the basis for freights on cattle, but shippers were not anxious to pay that rate. The local demand for cattle was fair and the market ruled steady, with light offerings at 3 1/2c to 4c. Sheep have been in fair request for export at firm prices. An opinion prevails that the export trade this season will show a serious falling off, as it is believed that the supply in the country is much smaller than a year ago. Prices to-day were 5c to 5 1/2c per lb, live weight. Lambs were plentiful at $2.50 to $4 each. Calves $2 to $6 each.

Butter has remained firm at 16c to 18c per lb, and this will probably be the ruling price for the summer. The cheese factories are at work so that not as much butter as usual will be manufactured. Eggs 11c to 13c per dozen, with a downward tendency.

The hide market is unchanged. Wool is expected to arrive during the next two weeks and the clip is expected to range from 20c to 22c per lb. Because of a great falling off in the number of sheep the quantity of wool will not be as great as in previous years.

Hay is still firm at $8 to $9 per ton. The Watertown hay company sent forward a number of car loads to the new England States where the prices rule from $11 to $13 per ton. If there was reciprocity between Canada and the United States hay would be worth $2 per ton more than it is.

Timothy seed is selling at $2.75 per bushel, and clover at $6 per bushel; oatmeal, $4.50 per cwt.; cornmeal, $2.40 per cwt.; cracked feed, $24 per ton, and flour $2.15 to $2.40 per cwt.

The grain merchants are doing nothing locally. They are clearing out their warehouses. Quotations are not given.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

Doran & Wright Company. NEW YORK, May 12.—The bulls were in the majority at the hotels and other uptown resorts last evening, and expressed the opinion that the strength and comparative activity in yesterday's market would continue to-day. They claim that apart from the generally favorable condition of business there are other reasons to warrant higher prices, and mention the favorable traffic returns of L.S., and feel certain that there will be no strike among coal miners, and an improved feeling among the laboring interests. The advance in W. U. was attributed to inside buying, and brokers identified with Gould and Sage accumulated stocks all day. Rumour of a B. & O. settlement was revived, but insiders say that within a short time announcements will be made which will favorably affect this property entirely apart from the rumour referred to. Mr. White is a considerable buyer of stock, and is reported as being bullish, not only on this but the coalers and all other good stocks. Commission people report an increase in business, and are generally advising their customers that the long side of the market will prove most profitable for the present.—D. & W. Co.

QUEBEC LEGISLATURE.

A Compromise With the Council—Want of Confidence Motion—Indemnity.

QUEBEC, May 11.—The premier moved the first reading of a bill from the legislative council, concerning the speaker of that house and the appointment of certain of its officers. The measure was the outcome of a compromise between the council and the government relative to the speakership and the assistant-clerkship of that house. Hereafter, the speaker of the council will hold office, after a dissolution, until the appointment of his successor; the clerk and usher of the black rod will be appointments in the gift of the crown; and the assistant clerk will be named by the government on the recommendation of the council. The two appointments to that office made on the one hand by the speaker and on the other by the government to be cancelled.

On the treasurer's motion to go again into supply on the additional supplementary estimates just brought down Mr. Nantel intervened with another non-confidence motion, and denounced the government as untrue to their solemn pledges of economy by employing an extraordinary number of sessional clerks and messengers. He read a statement showing that there were actually 141 sessional employees, whose cost to the country was $224 a day. The Hon. Mr. Mercier said the government had reduced the daily pay of the clerks and messengers, which enabled them to employ a larger number without exceeding the average outlay under this head in other years. He added that if the member for Terrebonne was so anxious for economy, his anxiety would be satisfied before next session, as it was the government's intention between this and then to get rid of a good many permanent employees who were useless. Hon. Mr. Taillon expressed the hope that the government would not be influenced by party spirit. The division resulted in the defeat of the amendment by a majority of nine in favor of the government, the vote being 25 for and 34 against. Messrs. Beauchamp and St. Hilaire voted with the ministerialists, but Mr. Lapointe, who gave the government a vote on the last non-confidence motion, went back this time to the opposition.

An additional indemnity of $200 to each member of both houses, on account of the length of the session and the frequent traveling necessitated by the adjournment, has been voted. It amounts to $17,800. The controversy about the incorporation of the Jesuits may end in an open rupture between M. Mercier and Mgr. Taschereau. The Vatican does not oppose the bill. The session is near a close.

THE WOMEN'S COLUMN.

The Work of Temperance—The Opinion of Some Distinguished Persons.

President Cleveland says: "No sacrifice of persons private interests shall be considered as against the general welfare." The New Era (prohibition paper) observes: We do not see how an honest man can vote with a party that is pursuing a course he believes to be wrong.

The testimony of Miss Mary Lathrop, is to the following effect: "Trying to regulate the liquor by high license is like closing a rat hole with a stove pipe."

Dr. Karl Earnest Bach, of Leipzig, professional of pathological anatomy, says: "Beer is brutalizing; wine impassioned; whiskey infuriated, but eventually unmanly." The issue remarks that high license, taxation, and such like measures, are to prohibition what colonization and compromise were to the slavery question, heralds of abolition.

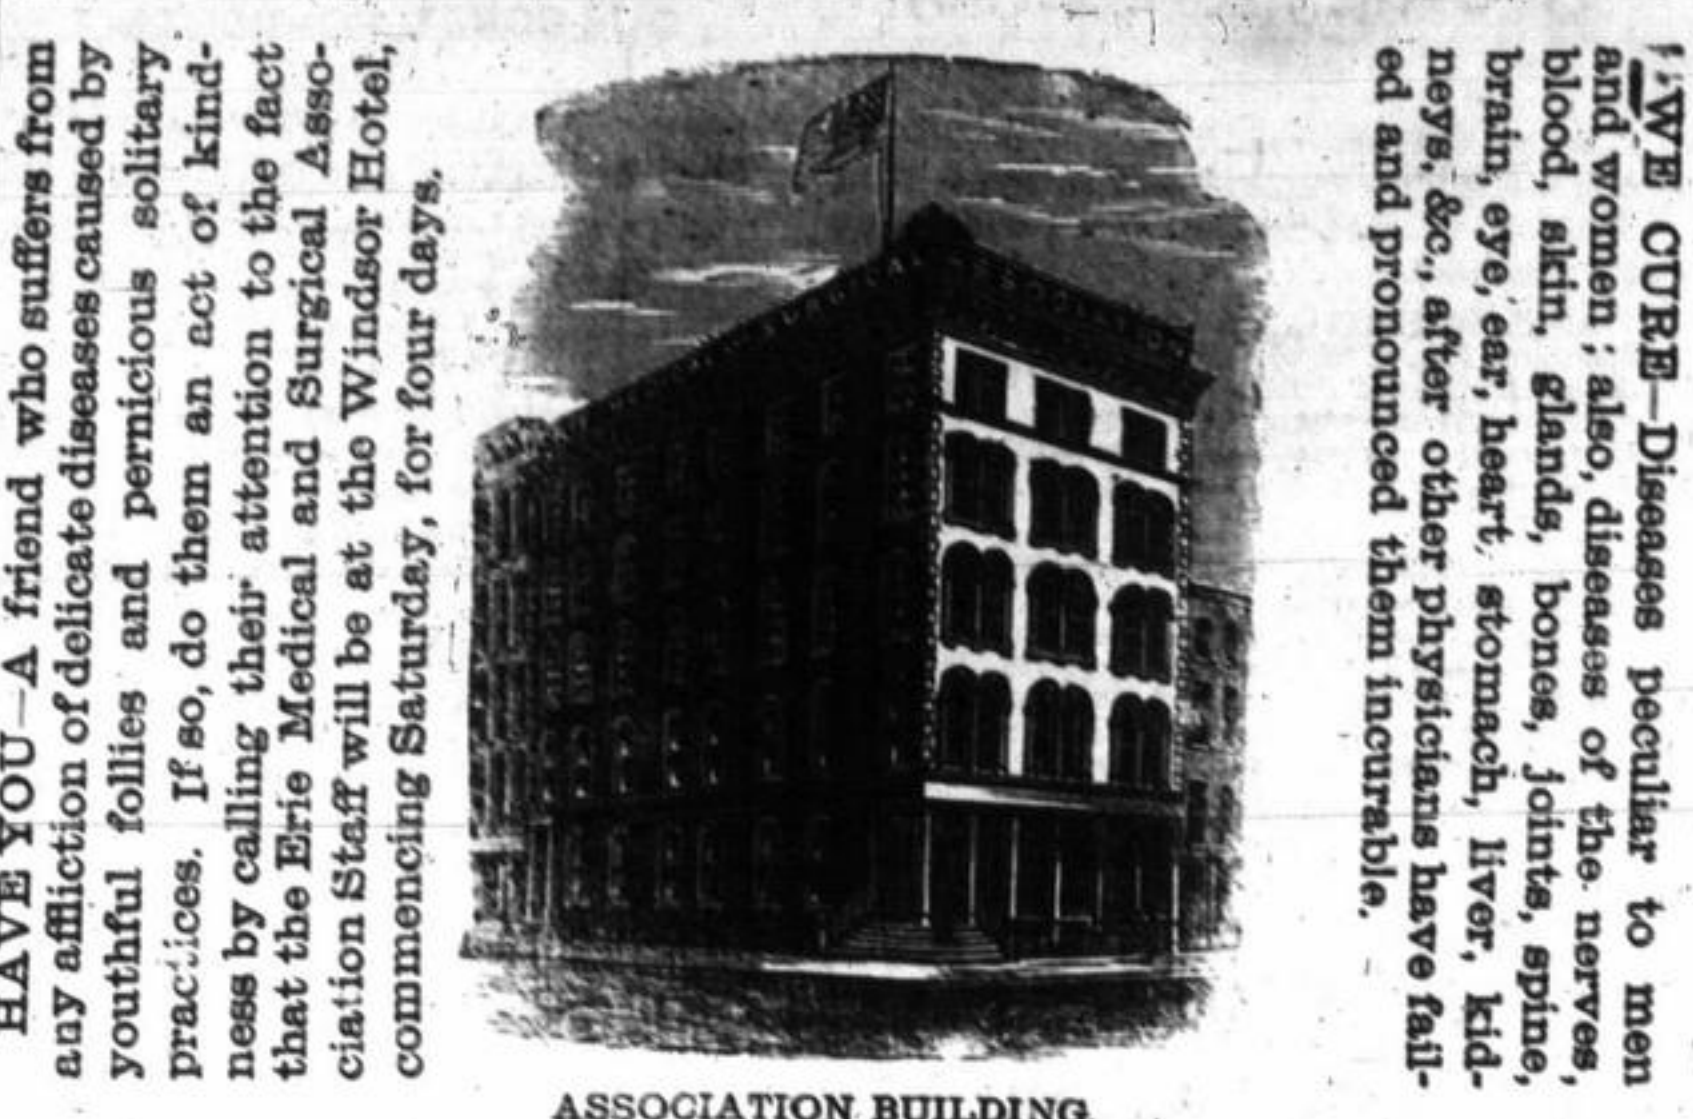

The commissioners of public charities of Pennsylvania hold: "The effect of prohibitory laws is strikingly shown by the comparatively vacant apartments in the jails of counties where the local option law is in force."

In Jackson Mich. Miss Willard and Mrs. Lathrop led the women to the polls, and all worked heroically during the day. A fearful snow storm raged over the upper Peninsula with a snowfall of from two to four feet.

CHRONIC DISEASES PECULIAR TO MEN.

BROKEN DOWN It is a sad but unavoidable reflection that thousands of men who should be the bone and sinew of their country, pillars of society, of the church, and of the state, are broken down both physically and mentally before they have reached the zenith of their usefulness. Every indiscretion, the result of ignorance and folly; over-exertion of mind and body, induced by inordinate ambition; dissipation and exposure, are continually working the ruin of thousands, whose ability, energy and integrity the world needs to preserve the equilibrium of civilization. Some fall before they have entered the arena of active life, while many more, enervated by the effects of youthful folly, after a few years of ambitious labor, find themselves incompetent for the arduous duties of business and professional life, and are forced to retire ignominiously from the field of action to meet an untimely death, or to drag out a weary and unsatisfactory existence, incapacitated for both the duties and enjoyments of life.

SELF-ABUSE The leading physicians and scientific writers, the superintendents of insane asylums, and the surgeons of hospitals, unite in ascribing to the effects of self-abuse the great majority of the wasted lives which come under their notice. Said the great Sir Astley Cooper: "Show me an unsuccessful man, a suicide, or a maniac, and I will show you a victim of self-abuse." We might cite thousands of such sayings, but this one is the tone of them all. Ruined life, shattered health, disappointed ambition, muddled brain, inevitably follow indulgence in this terrible habit, oftentimes innocently acquired. Parents should instruct their children in time, not blame them or that evil which their own neglect first permitted to exist.

SPERMATORRHOEA or loss of the animal fluid, is almost always the result of self-abuse, and, unless cured, almost invariably results in complete or partial impotency, and frequently in insanity and death. The loss often occurs during sleep, or at the stool, and is even from the slightest cause. Sometimes the escape is imperceptible. Indigestion, inattention, emaciation, shortness of breath, palpitation, nervous debility, are all symptoms of this exhaustion. Subsequently, the yellow skin reveals the bones; the sunken eyes are surrounded by a leaden circle, the vivacious imagination becomes dull, the active mind insipid, in short, the spring, or vital force, having lost its tension, every function wanes in consequence. Marital excesses also cause the same disease.

SYMPTOMS The symptoms of spermatorrhoea are both bodily and mental. The bodily symptoms are increased appetite or voracity, in nausea afterwards flushed face, colic, difficulty of breathing and cough, distension of stomach and intestines, muscular facility, irregular action of the heart, apoplexy, diarrhoea, constipation, loss of substance, cadaverous appearance of skin, hollow or sunken eyes, extreme sensibility to cold, loss of hair, pulmonary catarrh, indolence or indisposition to exercise, lassitude, fatigue on slightest exertion. Climax—Confirmed Debility. The general mental symptoms are: Restlessness, sighing, sensation of congestion, want of energy, uncertainty of the voice, vertigo, want of purpose, dimness of sight, dullness of hearing, aversion to society, blushing want of confidence, avoidance of conversation, desire for solitude, listlessness and inability to fix the attention on a particular subject, cowardice, depression of spirits, giddiness, loss of memory, excitability of temper, moroseness, trembling of the hands, sudden pallor, etc. The patient has a haggard, dejected appearance, is irritable and unsatisfied with present condition, and cold towards those who should be most dear to him, has an uncertain gait, fears imaginary dangers, lacks moral courage, is drowsy, and has dreams which cause sudden waking from sleep.

CURE. The treatment of this complaint has too long been relegated to the quack, who plunders those who trust him without mercy. The family doctor, never having enquired into the subject, is ignorant of its dire effects, and often laughs at the poor sufferer who appeals to him for aid. Most sufferers from such a cause are also timid in revealing their secret to one with whom they come in daily contact. Having long recognized the necessity for energetic measures in combating this great cause of shame and misery, we give particular attention to such cases. Those trusting us in this delicate matter may rely upon the utmost secrecy being maintained, and should they place themselves under our professional care, upon a speedy and positive cure.

IMPEDIMENTS To marriage marries from impotency or from genital malformation. We solicit correspondence in this department, having already secured the happiest results in every one of the several hundred cases treated.

STRICTURE Of the Urethra, or narrowing of the urinary canal, is due to many causes, such as gonorrhoea or inflammation from any cause, injury, self-abuse, etc. It may be considered of slight consequence at first, but it is one of those diseases which never improve if left to nature, but on the contrary necessarily grows worse; the passage becomes narrower as age advances, until the urine in time ceases to flow except drop by drop. Then the sufferer applies to his family physician, who after hours of torture in ineffectual attempts to pass the catheter, gives the patient up to die; or some of the more courageous will puncture the bladder, giving temporary relief, but insuring death from inflammation or exhaustion. We positively and permanently cure stricture without pain, and without cutting or tearing.

VARICOCELE Consists of an enlarged condition of the spermatic veins in the scrotum. In well-marked cases the veins have a knotted appearance, feeling much like a bundle of worms of earthworms. In warm weather, and when the patient takes active exercise on his feet, the veins become more distended, and often give rise to great uneasiness, and sometimes to considerable pain. It commonly results from long continued and fatiguing exercise in the upright position, over excitement of the sexual organs, constipation or anything that obstructs the free circulation of the blood in the spermatic veins. In bad cases, the pressure of the enlarged veins upon the testicles produce a washing of those organs which generally results in impotency. When associated with spermatorrhoea, the cure of the latter disease generally results in a removal of the varicocele. As in the treatment of all other complaints we aim to cure varicocele without an operation. After many trials and many discouragements we have succeeded in reducing to a system our new and original method of treatment. By this we cure the worst cases in quarter the time necessary in other methods, and without any pain.

SUFFERERS From private diseases of either sex should remember that we answer all letters, in a plain envelope, and give an opinion on every case submitted to us free of charge. Consultation and opinion, in person or by letter, will cost you nothing. It cannot harm you, and may be the means of your obtaining health and happiness. Remember they will be at the WINDSOR HOTEL where they will remain until WEDNESDAY NIGHT, MAY 18th, ONLY FOUR DAYS. If you cannot call write to the ERIE MEDICAL AND SURGICAL ASSOCIATION, Cor. Main and Swan Streets, BUFFALO, N.Y., U.S.A.
