THE DAILY WHIG.

"Opifer per Orbem Dicor."

THE "WHIG" ENDORSED.

Among the many evidences recently received, touching the satisfaction which the conduct of this paper, politically, gives the people, is the following:

BELLEVILLE, May 13.—(To the Editor): As a constant reader of your paper I presume to drop you a few lines to give my opinion of how you run it. You are well aware everybody has an idea that he or she could edit a paper, and I am no exception to the rule. Politically a strong liberal I much admire the course of the WHIG. Most of our papers on either side keep constantly abusing their opponents as if there were no good in them, and that the only hope of our country was in their extermination. Just before elections this is to be expected. But why should it be continued? The sooner we forget that our neighbor or friend is not in accord with us politically the sooner are we able to meet and converse as friends. Some are always dragging in their politics. It's a great mistake. Politics are the curse of the country; they make complete fools of us electors. Keep on your course, Mr. Editor. Let the interest of our country be ever uppermost. Then, when you desire to wield political influence you will have far more weight than if your columns were constantly filled with political editorials.—Yours, A READER.

The writer of this is a liberal, but he is not blinded to the virtues of his tory friends, and he does not think his own party is quite infallible. All persons are not like him, however. The WHIG has no doubt offended a few men with great political aspirations, and men who have entertained the mistaken idea that it is the business of the press to apologize for anything and everything done in the name of party. It will survive the disfavor of these individuals, and go on its way, rejoicing in the fact that its usefulness was never greater, and that its endorsement has never been so cordial and so general. It has its views upon certain public questions, and that the expression of them is finding popular favour it has had abundant proof.

The moderation of the WHIG's attack upon those who differ with it politically has been commended. It has convinced the majority of its readers that nothing is to be gained by bitterness of conflict, that if it cannot benefit a cause or candidate by the respectable treatment of the opposition it has no business in the fight. Two campaigns have been conducted by it upon this plan, and it has had no regrets to express, no wounds to heal, no broken friendships to reconcile; and a policy so fruitful of good it has no disposition to abandon.

It may not pay the best to be thus somewhat independent in thought and action, but it adds immensely to the influence of the journal, and to the respect in which it is held by the public.

THE IRON AGE.

In regard to the recent change in the tariff, so far as the duty on iron is concerned, there is a conflict of opinion. Those who have large interests in the mineral riches of the country, who know most the value of them, may have anticipated some such departure as that which Sir Charles Tupper has taken, but they did not expect it so soon, and the inauguration of the iron age is revolutionary in more senses than one. Though hinted at in some quarters, and possibly for a purpose, the merchants and founders and iron workers generally have been startled by the adoption of a tariff which must, for the present at least, and possibly for a considerable time, seriously affect their business. Smelting works are not erected in a day, and until they are, and in a position to supply the market with iron equal to that whose importation is practically prohibited, (since it cannot be profitably imported), the trade and occupation of an inestimable number must be injured.

Sir Charles Tupper, in discussing the iron duties, referred to the mines along the line of the Kingston and Pembroke railway and Ontario Central railway, and referred to the possible erection of smelting works at several places, and especially at Kingston. Such an institution has been sought before, and under circumstances much less favourable than those which are now presented. Rumour has it that the syndicate of American gentlemen, who have acquired valuable mining lands in the district of Kingston, contemplate the construction of works at which to convert the ore into metal for consumption in the Canadian market. Such was not the original intention of the syndicate. Their purpose was to develop the mines and utilize the ore, but not to smelt it in Canada. The change of base on the part of our government may suggest new possibilities, and if smelting works must be erected anywhere, location in Kingston will be a necessity.

It will be with smelting works, however, as it was with cotton mills. Those in a position to operate immediately will absolutely coin money, and great are the prospects of the works at Londonderry, N.S. Of course no one knew what Tupper was thinking about prior to the delivery of the budget speech, but it is singular that a new syndicate, at the head of which Sir George Stephen, should have negotiated for the Londonderry works, that Sir George should have haunted the commons while the budget debate was going on, and that, simultaneously with its close, the announcement should be made that the negotiations aforesaid have been closed, that the Londonderry business is to be run for all it is worth, and that the outlook is exceedingly promising. A coincidence; only that and nothing more. Those interested in the Londonderry works are certain to make a fortune, and that, too, before there can be injurious competition. The fates have surely favoured the Stephen syndicate. They have in this, as in the case of the C.P.R. contract, conveyed their delightful message by the mouth of the lord high commissioner.

IN MEMORIAM.

The Late Mrs. R. D. Cartwright. On Saturday evening the mother of Rev. C. E. and Sir Richard Cartwright passed away at the advanced age of 78. She had been ill for some time, and her demise was not unexpected, but death under any circumstances brings bereavement, and in this case it brings the usual sorrow and heaviness of heart. The deceased was the widow of the late Rev. R. D. Cartwright, of the Church of England, and for some time the chaplain of the penitentiary, which position, it is worthy of note, his son occupies to-day. She had five children, but three of whom survive her, the sons already mentioned and Mrs. Jamieson, wife of a brigade surgeon of the British army and at present in Aldershot. For days she had been sinking, and Sir Richard was apprized of the fact and eager to hasten from parliament to her side. He was unable to finish his criticism of the budget speech on Thursday night, and he would not commit the work he had begun to any one else. On Friday he completed his task, among the most important of the session, and left Ottawa for Kingston. On Saturday he arrived here, some hours before his mother died, and in time for recognition by her. She was a good old lady, full of piety and much given to good work, and her reward is certain. She was one of the founders of the Orphans' Home, and held the position of corresponding secretary to the time of her death. For fifty years she had been active in good works, and the last thing she aimed at was the establishment of a Kindergarten school.

Late Mrs. W. Newman.

A large circle of relatives and friends has been bereaved by the death of Mrs. W. Newman, which occurred this morning. A week ago Friday, while engaged with domestic duty, she was taken ill, suddenly and seriously, and affected with partial paralysis. There was hope in her case until Wednesday, when hemorrhage set in, and from that time her recovery was regarded as impossible. She was the eldest daughter of the late Joseph Jackson, and sister of Joseph Jackson, of the editorial staff of the New York Graphic, and William Jackson, of the Kingston News. She was, too, the mother of ten children, some of whom are yet young and must miss the love and care which only a mother can bestow upon them. Mr. Jackson, of New York, arrived this afternoon, and the funeral occurs on Wednesday afternoon. The family has our deepest sympathy.

A BIG DELEGATION.

Men Interested in Iron Ore—They Spend Some Days in the Vicinity.

At noon to-day a large party of Americans, interested in the development of the iron mines along the K. & P. R., arrived here, and proceeded to Glendower to inspect the Zanesville mine. The party left New York last night in a special car. The visitors are: H. H. Hollister, F. S. Flower, of the New York stock exchange; ex-Governor A. C. Beach, ex-Mayor B. E. Taggart, Silas S. George, Rolly George, Watertown; Charles F. Fearing, Louis Snyder, W. A. Spaight, Matthew Drau, J. F. Storey, H. G. Craig, E. P. Post, W. E. Cooper, New York; E. M. Black, of the Wall Street Daily News; John D. Flower, vice-president of the K. & P. R. R. Co.; ex-Senator Albert Daggett, with Mrs. Miss and Master Daggett, Brooklyn; Henry Seibert, of the Chicago and Indiana R. R. Co.; ex-Senator, H. S. Kearney, vice-president of the N.Y. Central & Hudson River Ry.; W. G. Pollock, Cleveland. Here they were joined by C. F. Gildersleeve, Hon. G. A. Kirkpatrick, James Swift, B. W. Folger, M. H. Folger, Judge Price and M. Grady. Plenty of supplies were provided for the journey. The party return to the city to-night, hold a meeting of the company for organization, and to-morrow inspect all the company's property on the line of the railway.

It is said that the officers of the new company will be: President—Henry Seibert, New York. Secretary—D. L. Gibbens, New York. Treasurer—Fred. S. Flower, New York. It is possible that endeavors will be made for the establishment of iron smelting works here, in view of the present high protection afforded iron men.

POLITICAL JOTTINGS.

Called to the Senate—People, Concurrence, Hurt, Returning Stolen Money.

On Tuesday Mr. McCarthy will introduce a bill for the protection of railway employees.

Hon. P. Fortin, ex-M.P. for Gaspe, has been called to the senate for the Kennebec district.

Hon. Mr. Abbott will not for the present, it is understood, resign the Montreal mayoralty. He has been gazetted as senator for the district of Inverness.

The Mercier government has received nearly $4,000 already of conscience money from parties in different sections of the province, since they have begun their investigation of the colonization funds.

Mrs. F. A. Riddell, of Beausoleil, Que., gives notice in the Gazette that she will apply to parliament for a bill of divorce from her husband on the ground of adultery and desertion.

The Montreal Post, which first charged Mr. Curran M.P., with procuring the removal of laborers from the Lachine canal, has withdrawn its statement as far as that gentleman is concerned.

Big Gun Practice.

There was big gun practice at Fort Frederick to-day. Capt. Douglas gave an exhibition of Nordenfeldt quick firing three pounder. The shots were aimed at a target on the Myles shoal, over a mile and a quarter away. A big forty pounder was also exercised. The military men were out in force to see the practice.

SEASONABLE POETRY.

How dear to my head was the Fur Cap of winter.

The nice curly cap that now I am fain To swap for the sable and felt newcomer, Which, because it's so light I return to again.

But like to the Crofters' thatched hut of Kilkenny,

That the soft summer breeze may creep thro' any day,

Is the welcome Straw Hat, because lighter than any,

And cheaper; it costs but a quarter in May,

And GALLOWAY'S is the place to get it.

The above soliloquy forced itself upon me in consequence of the return of spring weather, and as others sing it let them remember that GALLOWAY sang it first, and give him a call at
