THE DAY IN NAPANEE.

The Queen's Own Rifles of Toronto Spend Their Holiday Most Pleasantly.

Special to the Whig. NAPANEE, May 24. - The birthday of her majesty was celebrated here to-day in right loyal style. The Queen's Own Rifles, of Toronto, about 400 strong, under command of Major Hamilton, who arrived here on Saturday night, and encamped on the fair grounds, paraded through the town at noon and presented a fine appearance. In the afternoon games and athletic sports were held on the fair grounds and attracted a large concourse of people. The pleasure was, however, somewhat disturbed by frequent showers of rain, and the programme was not fully carried out. The business and residential parts of the town were gaily decorated, and the sight presented in the morning was most pleasing. The Queen's Own returned to Toronto to-night. They have had a most enjoyable visit. On Monday afternoon they were entertained at a complimentary excursion down the bay and in the evening the officers were banquetted at the Huffman House. The townspeople were most gracious in their hospitality and the officers and men carry away with them many kind recollections of their visit.

MONTREAL CONFERENCE.

THE ELECTION OF DR. W. J. SHAW TO THE PRESIDENCY.

The Contest Lying Between Him and Rev. J. W. Sparling-A Kingston Boy vs. a Kingston Pastor-Speech Full of Feeling and Blessed Memories.

The fourth annual session of the Montreal conference of the Methodist church opened at ten o'clock in the Sydenham street church to-day. Rev. Dr. Carman officiated. For an hour a prayer service was held. After the reading of the scriptures, and prayer by Rev. R. Whiting, Rev. Dr. Carman proceeded to review the work of the general conference, so far as it related to duties of the annual conferences. He arged the temperance committee to consider the needs of the hour. The chief desire for which conference was held was to ascertain what kind of work they were doing and if they could do it better. He made a strong address, contending that he saw no hope for the world in anything but in Jesus. The policy of the general conference as to education was referred to. The federation of Victoria college with the Toronto university was to be a fact, and the conference could discuss how the work was to be most successfully carried out. He hoped Toronto would stand as well by Victoria college as the good city of Kingston had stood by Queen's. The success of Methodism in educational work had stirred up all the other churches and he was glad of it. He trusted the spirit of God would rest upon the conference during

The clerical and lay members of the conference were called. There was a fair representation of both present.

At 11:20 o'clock the conference proceeded to elect its president.

The first ballot resultedas follows: J.W. Sparling, 50; W. I. Shaw, 60; A.B. Chambers, 19; W. H. Graham, 2; James Allen, 1; W. McGill, 3; W. H. Sparling, 2; J. Armstrong, 1. No election, as none of the candidates received a majority. A half dozen of Sparling's votes were thrown out, as they did not indicate which of the three Sparlings they were meant for.

The second ballot resulted ; J. W. Sparling, 71; W. I. Shaw, 68; W. H. Grabam, 1; W. McGill, 1; A.B. Chambers, 4. Again unsuccessful, though Mr. Sparling was only two ballots behind. The conflict lay between a Kingston boy and a Kingston pastor. The conference was bound to honor Kingston, but whom would it choose? There was considerable excitement. Never before had there been such a riva'ry for a post of honor.

The third ballot gave Sparling, 69; Shaw, 74; Graham, 1. The Kingston boy took the president's chair amid great applause. Dr. Carman introduced him pleasantly.

The president-elect said that he had got a surprise. He regretted to have been in competition with the honored pastor of Sydenham street church. (Cheers.) However, he presumed that his brother could say in the words of a we'l-known hymn :

"If you get there before I do Tell them I'm a-coming too."
The remark called forth loud applause. Dr. Shaw then touched on the work of the conference. It was in Kingston he was born, and born again. Here he preached his first sermon, here he was ordained, and here he was elected to the presidency, and in yonder cemetery lay the remains of his father, his mother, his sister, his brother, and his son. He reconsecrated himself to the work of the church, and prayed God that he might be successful while he held office. His sisters, Mrs. Dr. Skinner, Mrs. William Skinner, and Miss Shaw, were present and deeply moved by the election of their brother to the highest position in the gift of the conference.

The Coming Clergymen.

Rev. W. Timberlake, set down for the Third Methodist church, has been in the ministry since 1871, and resided at Shefford, Coaticook, Magog, Danville and Aylmer. He is a particularly active young man, with raven black hair and moustache. Richard Wilson, set down for the Fourth Methodist church, has been in the active work of the ministry since 1848. He is pleasant-faced gentleman, well advanced in years. In 1873-74 he resided in this city, having a superannuated relation with the church. He is now in charge of the Brockville second church; and he is the father of Houghton W. Wilson, and of H. Wilson, a recent graduate of Queen's university.

O'BRIEN IN HAMILTON

THE MEETING QUIETER THAN IT WAS EXPECTED TO BE.

The Nationalist Leader very Weak-The Speeches Given in the Palace Rink, and the Resolution Carried by the Audience-A Shooting Afterwards-A Cabman Seriously Hurt.

HAMILTON, May 23.-Mr. Wm. O'Brien and Mr. Kilbride had a most enthusiastic reception. They came by the 2.55 train from Niagara Falls, and over 1,000 people gathered to greet them. O'Brien and Kilbride, and the president of the National league, led the procession, and hundreds of admirers walked beside his carriage. The crowd remained outside the hotel and cheered, but Mr. O'Brien it was said didnot feel able to make a speech. The crowd insisted that he should at least show himself, and he yielded. He waited till the enthusiasm had subsided and said :"People of Hamilton, I thank you for your welcome. I want to reserve for to-night what little strength I have, and, unfortunately, it is not much."

A Voice, - "If you haven't, we have." Mr. O'Brien continued : "Thank God, all along the line the battle of Ireland is a winning battle. (Cheers.) The great work to which our leader, Mr. Parnell, and the greatest of Englishmen, William Ewart Gladstone (cheers for Gladstone,) have devoted themselves is nearly finished, and the world will not be much older until we will be inviting you to the inauguration of our parliament in College Green." (Great cheers.) Mr. O'Brien then retired.

A great crowd gathered about the hotel as the hour came for the lecture, but Mr. O'Brien and the committee left by the side door and drove to the Palace rink. It was crowded. Mr. James O'Brien presided. The police arrangements were excellent. Chief McKinnon had the entire force on duty. After speeches by O'Brien and Kilbride a resolution, condemning Lord Lansdowne's Luggacurran evictions as inhuman, and declaring him unworthy of the high office he holds in Canada, was moved and seconded. Speeches were made in support thereof. At the close of the meeting Mr. O'Brien and members of the league took cabs for the Royal hotel. There was a good deal of shouting and cheering, and crowds of friends and opponents followed the cabs. Passing along Merrick street, which is not brilliantly lighted, four pistol shots were fired from the sidewalk, and one bullet struck the wrist of John Nelson, the cabman who drove the hack next O'Brien's. A great crowd gathered at the main entrance to the hotel, but no violence was offered O'Brien. After he had got in the house a bad egg was thrown at the door, and the globe of the electric light at the entrance was broken by a stone. The crowd remained in front of the hotel cheering for O'Brien and Lansdowne till they were moved a block away by the police. No further demonstrations of violence were made, Mr. O'Brien, fatigued and worn out, left in the morning for Niagara Falls, whence he goes to Montreal.

A TERRIBLE DEATH.

Mrs. Pocock Instantly Killed at Brockville

-Circumstances of the Accident. BROCKVILLE, May 25 .- Mrs. Samuel Keefer and her mother, Mrs. C. A. B. Pocock, of Toronto, were driving in a dog cart when the horse shied and began to kick, smashing the dashboard. The horse dashed off at a furious rate and struck a tree, throwing the occupants of the rig out backwards. Mrs. Pocock was terribly injured about the head and neck, and expired almost immediately. Mrs. Keefer was shaken up, but not very seriously. Mrs. Pocock was the wife of Capt. C. A. B. Pocock, Toronto. Last Tuesday the deceased lady went to Brockville, and on Saturday Capt. Pocock went as ansistant curate to Woodbridge. She leaves three unmarried daughters and two sons.
