WHAT SHALL WE WEAR?

PLAIN BUT ELEGANT STYLES IN FASHIONABLE STATIONERY.

Mourning Attire for All Conditions and Ages—How a Widow Ought to Dress, Both at Home and Out of Doors—The Popular Lorgnette.

In the accompanying illustrations are given the two important toilets in mourning attire—the widow's out of door and in door costumes.

WIDOW'S OUT DOOR TOILET.

The out door toilet is made with a plain skirt entirely covered with crape and fuffed thickly at the back for the tournure; the visite and veil are also crape; in fact, as a widow wears the deepest and longest mourning of any one, her dress should be composed entirely of crape for the first six months at least, also mantle and bonnet, from which is suspended a crape veil generally thrown back over the bonnet and hanging down the back from one to two yards, the longer being more elegant. Mary Stuart bonnets are a favorite shape for widows, and the cap for in doors also.

WIDOW'S HOUSE TOILET.

The in door dress shown in the illustration is entirely of crape, with a white crape cap, collar and deep cuffs. At first the cap should be made of black crape and subsequently white, plain muslin or crape, with turndown collar and deep cuffs to match. After the first deep mourning of six or even twelve months the widow's dress may be made of crape imperial, a new material, or for fuller toilet rich, dull, corded crape, deeply trimmed with crape, and so on, the crape lessening until jet ornaments are admitted.

In the mourning costume for a parent the dress is made of black cashmere trimmed with crape bands—bow and ends and fuffed chemisette. For father or mother deep crape is worn for six months; plain black for six months, and half mourning for three. The same rule applies to son and daughter.
The longest period of wearing mourning for a grandparent is nine months, the shortest six. For a brother or sister, the longest period of deep mourning is six months. Complimentary mourning is worn for three months, and consists of black and white first, then grays and then mauve. For general lightening of mourning, velvet may be worn soon after six months. Elderly ladies not unusually retain black, and something approaching widow's bonnet or cap, perpetually. The above models and descriptions are from The Season.

Letters, Notes and Note Paper.

It is astonishing to notice how plain all stationery has become. Not ten years ago every lady had her monogram and her crest on her paper, or a motto, or her initials in facsimile put in one corner in a dash of red or blue or purple. Now she has to find something ragged edged and plain if she wishes her note to be in the fashion. There exists, however, no objection to an initial, or even to a little crest, if it is really one's own. Thick paper and square envelopes, plain white, solid and strong, with a wax seal—these are the best and most fashionable styles—although one occasionally sees on the writing desks of fashionable women letter paper and envelopes of smaller size.

Monograms, if used at all, should be in the center of the paper, but they are quite out of fashion. A dash across one corner, in the writer's hand, is somewhat popular, but nothing is so fashionable as plainness. Deep red or other tinted paper is vulgar, and so is that very ugly paper which is marbled.

Rules are of no avail in letter writing. An epistolary style is as much the outcropping of individual character as is one's conversation and cannot be taught. It should be clear, simple and not careless. Handwriting has grown large and bold; the minute Italian hand seems to be quite out of date. Women particularly aim at a noble, broad, sweeping English hand.

All letters to strangers and notes of formal character should, as a rule, be written in the third person, and must be answered in the same way. This is a thing very carefully to be observed. If you are asked to dinner informally, answer informally; if formally, answer formally. Let your note follow in style exactly that of the invitation.—Harper's Bazar.

Fashion Notes.

Matched toilets are growing in favor.

Knit gloves have broad stitching on the backs.

Mohairs in wide stripes have made their appearance.

Very high straight collars are seen on the new dresses.

Yellow and red wheels are again seen on ladies' carriages.

The sailor styles are represented in many garments for children.

A new idea in black lace dresses is that of using Scotch plaid silk for the underskirt.

SPEECH OF DR. M'GLYNN.

Made at a Meeting in New York—"We Want the Earth," He Says.

New York Morning Journal.
Public interest in the Anti-Poverty society meetings is by no means on the wane. A large force of police guarded each entrance to the Academy of Music on Sunday night. Even ticket holders who arrived three-quarters of an hour before the proceedings commenced found it impossible to gain admission.

Henry George was there. So was Miss Agatha Muir, with her well-trained concordian chorus of 100 voices. Music has now become an indispensable concomitant of the society's meetings.

John McMackin presided. And he addressed the meeting, not as a representative of the united labor party, but as a Catholic. "As a Catholic," continued Mr. McMackin, "I have learned to know what Catholicity is. I can distinguish between my duty as a Catholic and my rights as an American citizen." (Loud cheers.)

There was a loud, ringing salvo of applause when Dr. McGlynn approached the footlights. Several little girls with floral emblems bigger than themselves approached him to offer their gifts. The reverend gentleman patted each child on the cheeks and kissed her.

"It is a glorious thing," began the doctor, "to be permitted to justify the ways of God to man, to hear a summons come as though from the very voice of God, to forget our baser selves, to rise a little nearer to the dignity of rational beings, and although we are animals, condemned to walk the earth, yet to spurn the earth and walk in Heaven. "This truth makes life worth living. The blessed consolation that comes from this truth makes the burden worth the bearing. To the man who believes in this faith fighting and suffering for justice's sake becomes a pleasure. Yes, friends, there is a fierce delight in the struggle for justice."

Vociferous cheering punctuated this sentence, and such cries as "Fight on!" "You're a martyr for the right!" made it evident the audience interpreted the speaker's words as referring to himself.

"We want the earth! We want the land, because we want the Kingdom of Heaven. We want the earth because God wishes we should have it, and we would be sinning against the Holy Ghost were we to surrender one jot, one tittle of our demand.

"If they do not permit us to teach these things from the pulpit," continued Dr. McGlynn, "we shall preach them from the stage of theatres, from the public market places, from barks by the seashore, and even from the tail of a cart. In truth, my friends, the time is not far distant when you'll have to come to theatres to get your religion.

"If the Son of Man came to earth to-day he would not be allowed to speak from any of His pulpits. His dress, His manners, His doctrines would appear strange to those who claim to represent Him here."

Continuing the speaker said it caused him heartfelt and unconsolable regret that those who represented Christ on earth should so misunderstand His doctrines. "Thou shalt not steal!" formed a text for the remaining portion of Dr. McGlynn's latest rhetorical effort.

GLEANINGS.

Young ladies should be very careful how they gloss their hair. The Phillistine giant, Goliath, died of a "hang on the forehead."

The Rev. Geo. H. Thayer, of Bourbon, Ind., says: "Both myself and wife owe our lives to Shiloh's consumption cure." W. J. Wilson, agent, Kingston.

A Topeka woman invented an egg-beater and sold it for $1,400. This beats the record.

Sleepless nights made miserable by that terrible cough. Shiloh's cure is the remedy for you. For sale by W. J. Wilson, agent, Kingston.

While at West Point Phil Sheridan was arrested and confined three days in the guardhouse for brushing a fly off his nose while on duty.

Shiloh's Vitalizer is what you need for constipation, loss of appetite, dizziness, and all symptoms of dyspepsia. Price 10 and 75 cents per bottle. W. J. Wilson, agent.

Mrs. Hannah O'Brien, an Irish widow in New Haven, had her house draped in mourning on Queen Victoria's birthday.

Shiloh's cough and consumption cure it sold by us on a guarantee. It cures consumption. W. J. Wilson, agent, Kingston. Kansas city last year consumed 22,880,000 pounds of beef, 6,000,000 pounds of pork, and 418,000 pounds of mutton, all of which cost $2,400,000.

Shiloh's catarrh remedy is a positive cure for catarrh and diphtheria. For sale by W. J. Wilson, druggist.

A rattlesnake was found in the mail pouch taken on the train at Morrow's station, Ga., the other day, and he soon had full possession of the mail car.

Sleepless nights made miserable by that terrible cough. Shiloh's Cure is the remedy for you. W. J. Wilson, agent, Kingston.

A Welsh minister, wearing a life-preserver, took up a collection for the heathen among the passengers on the steamship Celtic after the collision. It was a good time to pass the hat when the passengers expected to go to the bottom. That minister ought to be a real estate agent.

Shiloh's catarrh remedy—a positive cure for catarrh, diphtheria, and canker mouth

Astonishing Success.

It is the duty of every person who has used Boschee's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing consumption, severe coughs, croup, asthma, pneumonia, and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all druggists to recommend it to the poor, dying consumptive, at least to try one bottle, as 80,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as the German Syrup cannot be too widely known. Ask your druggist about it. Sample bottles to try, sold at 10 cents. Regular size 75 cts. Sold by all druggists and dealers in the United States and Canada.

Something for the Preachers.

Rev. H. H. Fairall, D.D., editor of the Jones Methodist, says editorially, in the November (1883) number of his paper: "We have tested the merits of Ely's Cream Balm, and believe that by a thorough course of treatment it will cure almost every case of catarrh. Ministers, as a class, are afflicted with head and throat troubles, and Catarrh seems more prevalent than ever. We cannot recommend Ely's Cream Balm too highly."

B. Lawrence's Spectacles.

The only sure aids to perfect vision, at J. G. King's drug store. Buy none other. See every pair is stamped "B.L." Imitations abound. The frame may sometimes be closely imitated the lens never.

Are you made miserable by indigestion, constipation, dizziness, loss of appetite, yellow skin? Shiloh's Vitalizer is a positive cure. W. J. Wilson, agent, Kingston.
