

SETTLED UNDER CANVAS.

THE MILITARY CAMP OF THE DISTRICT FAIRLY OPENED.

Some of the Corps Did Not Arrive Here Until a Late Hour - Fine Weather Hoped For - Such a Deluge of Rain as Fell Last September Not Desired Again.

"Splendid weather for the camp." This observation was made by an officer of one of the visiting corps to another. They heartily agreed on this point.

For once the government had "struck the nail on the head" in selecting the month of June for field movements.

Last year the camp at Kingston was held late in the season, and the weather was so cold and rainy that there was but four days' drill out of the twelve. Many of the volunteers at that time contracted severe colds and went home disgusted with the camp and all that the name implies.

Yesterday was a busy day for the Canada Pacific, Kingston and Pembroke, and Grand Trunk railways. Besides conveying excursion parties from one point to another they had to transport troops to the Kingston military camp from western counties. The camp is again located on Barrieffield common. To the left, after crossing the bridge, is the east division of artillery, "A" battery, (two guns), Kingston, Gananoque, and Durham field batteries of artillery, and the Third regiment of cavalry, (three troops), are camped. On the military college grounds there are tents for the accommodation of the brigade staff and members of the 40th, 45th, and 46th batts. of infantry.

The troops commenced to arrive at about 4 o'clock, and continued to move to their quarters until 9 o'clock, at which time the camp was completely organized.

The first corps in were: "A" battery, Kingston field battery, the 40th, 45th, and 46th battalions of infantry, and "A" troop of cavalry (Third regiment). At 6 o'clock the Gananoque field battery, which started for Kingston at 11 o'clock in the morning, reached the grounds. It had a long and wearisome trip, and during it an accident occurred. J. C. Rogers fell off a gun carriage, and before he could recover himself a wheel passed over his left arm. Miraculously the limb was not broken, but it was bruised to such an extent that Rogers was rendered unfit for service; it was to-day sent home. It was nearly 9 o'clock when the Durham field battery and "B" and "C" troops of cavalry reported. These corps have an able set of men and a fine class of horses.

The officer of the day yesterday was Col. Cubitt, of the 45th battalion, and the guards were furnished by the 40th battalion. Today the soldiers began drilling, and, judging by their movements, they will need a lot of work before they are fit to appear for inspection.

The officer to-day was Col. Deacon, 45th battalion, and the medical duties were discharged by Dr. Turner, Third regiment of cavalry. The 45th battalion furnished the guard, and two companies of the 40th battalion practised at the butts.

The strength of the camp is as follows:

Table with columns: Officers, Men, Horses. Rows include Cavalry, 3rd Regiment; "A" Battery (two guns); Kingston Field Battery; Durham Field Battery; Gananoque Field Battery; 40th Battalion; 45th Battalion; 46th Battalion; Total.

THE CELEBRATION COMMITTEE.

Collections Still Going On - The Amount Available for Sports Not Yet Known.

A meeting of the sub-committees interested in the conduct of the jubilee celebration, was held in the council chamber on Monday evening. The collectors reported that they had only been promised $475. It was pointed out by Mr. Phippen that if all the items on the programme for a two days' celebration were to be carried out nearly $2,000 would be needed. Those present thought there would be no difficulty in getting that amount. Mr. Carruthers stated that the yachtmen had decided to steer clear of the jubilee celebration. They would not hold races. Ald. Ellbeck wanted $500 for baseball, but finding that he could not get so large a sum would take $150, and no less. The matches would be free on the first day, and on the second day games would be played in the Catarqui Driving Park, and there horse races would be held. On this occasion an admission fee would be charged. The members of the racing association wanted a grant, and also the right to charge an admission fee. Some one said they would get more money if horse races were held than if they were not. Ald. McIntyre was not opposed to races. He wished them to be held, and at the expense of the association which would profit by them. He was of the opinion that a very respectable portion of the community was opposed to the sport. Neither did he think it right to give money for baseball matches, if they were to be held in the Catarqui Driving Park. The meeting adjourned until Wednesday evening.

MARINE PARAGRAPHS.

Interesting Items Gathered Along the Harbour - Vessel Movements.

The schrs. White Oak, B. W. Folger and P. Bennett are loading lumber at Rathbun's dock for Oswego.

The schr. Hall, from Duluth, discharged 29,000 bushels of wheat at Portsmouth yesterday. She cleared for Kingston.

The schr. Brandon, built in the M. F. Co.'s shipyard, was to have been launched yesterday. When the timbers holding her were removed she moved twenty feet and then stopped. Two tugs were pressed into service but they could not release her.

Clearance - Tug Jessie Hall, Oswego, barges in tow; sloop Lorraine, Cape Vincent, 1,800 ties; schr. Kate Eccles, Charlotte, light.

Arrivals - Schr. H. Dudley, Toronto, 15,478 bush wheat; schr. W. T. Greenwood, Toronto, 9,500 bush wheat; barge Minnie Francis, Oswego, 154 tons coal; schr. Craftsman, Dexter, light; schr. Elgin, Charlotte, 256 tons coal.

THE DRY DOCK QUESTION.

Result of the Deputation's Visit to Ottawa Selecting the Dock's Site.

Before the members of the council board dispersed on Monday evening Ald. McIntyre stated that he and Ald. Muckleton had been to Ottawa and had laid the resolution, which had been passed anent the construction of a dry dock before Sir John Macdonald. After reading the motion, and hearing the statements with reference to the advisability of building a dock at Kingston, Sir John said he would send an engineer to the city to select the most appropriate site. The deputation thought it would not be judicious to do anything affecting the King street esplanade, and therefore did not mention the subject to the premier. The fact that there has been appropriated $10,000 for an examining warehouse in the city is sufficient proof that it will be built.

AT HYMEN'S ALTAR.

Andrew Maclean - Miss E. J. Wilson.

To-day Rev. W. B. Carey, at Howe Island, united in marriage Miss Eliza Jane Wilson to Mr. Andrew Maclean, of this city. They were attended by Miss Galloway and Mr. Middleton. The bride, who is a great favourite with the Howes Islanders, received many costly presents. The wedded couple will visit Montreal, Quebec, Gaspe, Charlottetown, Picton, Halifax, Annapolis, St. John, Boston and New York. They will sail up the Hudson river and go from Albany to Niagara Falls and return home via Hamilton and Toronto.

It Was a Great Success.

The audience at the first performance of "Zozo, the Magic Queen," last night was not as large as it might be, but the success of the play was most complete. "Zozo" is a spectacular piece, and very pretty when skillfully carried out, which it was not on a former occasion. Now, however, under the management of Mr. G. H. Adams, everything moves smoothly and with charming effect. To see "Zozo" now is to appreciate it. Mr. Adams is one of the most versatile comedians of the day, and as "Capt. Bill" is a strikingly original character. Those sharing the honours of the evening with him are Miss Florence Bayard, as "Zozo," and Miss Fannie Hanlon (a cousin of the famous Hanlon brothers) as "Rhododendron." The scenic effects are very artistic. "Zozo" will be repeated this and to-morrow evenings.

THE BASE BALL FEVER.

THE KINGSTON CLUBS ON THE JUBILEE MATCHES.

The Kingstons Defeat the Pictons Easily - The Score Too Big For Pleasant Contemplation - The New Battery Successful - The Park Nine Ahead at Belleville When the Rain Stopped the Play.

Thirty-eight to four! And in favour of the Kingstons.

This was the result of the first match in which the Kingston base-ball club took part this season. It occurred yesterday afternoon on the Regiopolis college ground, which is exceedingly convenient in its location. There was a great curiosity to see the new players, whose record had preceded them, and of whom much was expected. The new battery, Barnfather and Young, is perhaps the best that has been in the city in any connection and with any club. They are handsome men, skilled in their work, and given to very little talk. They let their performance speak for itself, and those who saw them yesterday are of the opinion that in them Manager Carson has a treasure. Young is a fine pitcher, having perfect control of the ball and varying the curves in such a manner as to utterly confound and confuse the batters. Barnfather catches beautifully and with ease, and his throwing to bases is sure every time. And not only are they experts in their respective specialties, but as batters and base runners they are a success. "The men," said a gentleman visiting the ball field yesterday, "are well and favourably known in base-ball circles, and the Kingstons are to be congratulated upon securing them." Allen and Conde are good basemen. Allen is a change pitcher, and in the box has done some capital execution.

Play ball was called by Mayor Biggar at 3.20. The Bellevilles went to the bat. In the first innings Jones, the Belleville slugger, was the first to step into the batter's box. He struck at the wind a couple of times before knocking a high foul fly which was taken by Jeff Lovett. Goodwin struck to Moran and got to his first on an error of Little. Lewis was caught out on strikes. Sullivan went to first on balls. When Fraser went to the bat, Goodwin stood on third and Sullivan had got down to second. The Belleville party, who made up the bigger part of the spectators, seemed confident that some member of their team would score, but he did not. Fraser was retired on strikes.

Walker introduced the Park Nine to the bat. He found the pitcher, after he had delivered a few balls, and struck to short stop, but being slower than the ball in getting to first was put out. Millan struck to receive the sphere. He succeeded in getting it down to the first in time to retire the runner. Fisher took his base on balls. He stole second and third and ran for home when J. Little struck to short stop and was put out on the first.

On the conclusion of the second innings cyphers were credited to each team. In the third innings Moran made a brilliant catch for the Park Nine. A sharp fly was struck by Hutcheson between short and third. Moran ran a few steps, sprang into the air and caught it in one hand. For this he was loudly applauded. Jones made a safe base hit between second and short. He ran to second where, in the opinion of the Kingstons as well as a large number of Belleville people, he was put out, but the umpire thought different and called him safe, and was brought home by Lewis, who made a two base hit. Goodwin struck a foul fly, for which Lovett had run a considerable distance, but he caught it.

Lovett struck to the first and out. Moran sent a grounder to the third and reached his first on an error of first baseman. Walker struck a sharp fly to the first which he seized and also put Moran, who had almost reached his second, before the fly was knocked out. Double play.

In the concluding innings Belleville made nothing. Millan made a base hit between second and first, stole second and third and scored. Fisher struck to the left field, who "muffed" it. He stole to second, got to third on a baulk, and next scored. J. Little batted a fly to the left fielder and was caught out. McIntyre struck to the pitcher and went out on first. McConville made a two base hit and was brought home by T. Little, who made two bases. Little was standing on third when Lovett struck to the pitcher and was retired.

It began to rain after the Nine had two runs scored and at the end of the inning the umpire called time. After a wait of a quarter of an hour he declared the game off. James Little had the top of the first finger of his right hand burst open by a hot ball. C. McConville had to keep the third and fourth fingers of his right hand bandaged together, owing to the injury which he received a few days ago.

Mayor Biggar gave some very unfair decisions. At one time the Nine started to come in off the field and quit play. On another occasion Manager Polly objected to his umpiring any longer. His unjust decisions were the means of allowing the Belleville team to score.

Park Nine - Belleville.

Over four hundred admirers of the Park boarded the str. Maud yesterday morning en route to Belleville, to witness the match at the city of the bay. Kingston was left at 7:20 and Belleville reached at 1:30. The sail, although a long one, was rather pleasant. Staley's quadrille band enlivened the trip by supplying excellent dancing music. Yesterday being a gala day in Belleville every thing had a holiday appearance. Shops were closed and thousands of people thronged the streets. About four hundred of the gentler sex had assembled on the wharf to greet the Kingstons. The Park Nine was escorted to the Union hotel.

The match was announced for 3:30 p.m., and at that time a larger crowd had never been seen within the exhibition grounds, where the game was played. Every seat in the grand stand was occupied, and nearly fifteen hundred were satisfied with standing room around the rail encircling the diamond.

Park Nine - H. Walker, third base; D. Millan, left field; J. Fisher, right field; J. Little, first base; J. McIntyre, pitcher; C. McConville, second base; T. Little, centre field; Jeff Lovett, catcher; P. Moran, short stop.
