MISERY IN LABRADOR.

PEOPLE HAVE PASSED THROUGH A PERIOD OF STARVATION.

A Missionary Reseches the Newfoundland Government to do Something for the People—Last Winter's Fearful Experiences Cannot Safely be Repeated.

New York World.
 Halifax, N. S., July 19.—Rev. Frank W. Colley, missionary at Labrador, gives a graphic account of the heartrending destitution prevailing there. He declares that words cannot describe the sufferings of the poor. He tells of families of helpless old people and equally helpless children enduring the rigors of the late winter with the thermometer 33° below zero, living in huts, sleeping on bare ground, covered only with old sails and subsisting on rock cod, the poorest kind of codfish known, and on hard tack supplied by the government. To catch the fish the perishing people had to travel five miles over the rocks. Bread, tea, molasses, flour, meat of any kind, or any of the necessaries of life, are unknown to them. Slow starvation had driven the father of one family mad, and the poor wretch had been trying to eat his own boots. The puny cod for breakfast, dinner and supper, weeks upon weeks and months upon months, while keeping the poor wretches from actual death only served to be a daily torture to them, and was of itself enough to drive the whole population into raving maniacs.

Missionary Colley declares that he was implored for help at every second house visited in all the vast region. The inhabitants were driven to such desperate straits that wives and mothers even had to sell their wedding rings for bread. At Grady's Stable Bay, Rocky Bay, Spotted Island and Seal Island whole families were slowly starving in January. How they existed in the winter God only knows. The scanty aid sent by the Newfoundland government was distributed before half the winter was over. Mr. Colley declares that only fear of a repetition of the terrible suffering induces him now to make the terrible facts public.

A large portion of the coast is sealed up by ice all winter long, and navigation at Cartwright, the missionary's home, closed in October last, and remained so until the middle of June.

It is impossible for the few who have money to get supplies in winter. The missionary himself accompanied two men one hundred miles over the rocky wilderness to get two barrels of flour, but could not get them. Twenty miles further on they got one barrel of the commonest kind as a great favor by paying $9.50. In times past the people of Labrador lived on the fat of the land, game in variety and seals were abundant, but now these also have failed. The missionary concludes a three-column narrative by demanding in the name of humanity that the Newfoundland government immediately send relief to that district and also provide means for transporting the wretched people to some other country.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Dangerous Railway Crossings.

CATAWAQU, July 16.—(To the Editor): The county clerk has forwarded a petition to the governor-general, signed by nearly 1,000 bona fide ratepayers of Kingston and Frontenac, praying the government to provide protection for the lives of her majesty's subjects at the railway crossings, and when it is understood that the petition lay at only a few places for signatures, and but slight exertions was used to obtain names to it, the large number that came forward and signed it shows the amount of importance the public places in the matter. When we take into account that since the completion of the railroads in this part scores of valuable lives have been sacrificed, from causes traceable to the unprotected state of the railroad crossings in this vicinity, it is no wonder that an appeal is made to the government for protection. Simple protection against loss of life and property is all that is asked, and this a small outlay on the part of the company would secure. It is to be hoped, therefore, that the government will feel it to be its duty to cause such protection to be placed at the crossings as will prevent the occurrence of frightful and heartrending scenes. We are a law-abiding people and seek redress in a constitutional manner. Railroad companies have been notified, members of the house of commons have been made personally acquainted with the facts, and yet not a move has been made to remedy the evil. How long is this state of affairs to exist in the county? I ask, sir, how long will the people who have willingly and gratuitously given their millions in bonuses and government subsidies to aid railroads project in the country be subjected to such inconveniences and uncertainties? The committee having the matter in charge feel confident that should an enquiry be instituted by the government it can place before it such evidence as will induce the authorities to take immediate action. As has been already said the people have been allowed their money to be freely spent in building railroads for the purpose of assisting the commercial business and opening up the resources of the country, which they find to be largely to their interest to do, and may be inclined to be as liberal in the future as they have been in the past. But it should be solemnly impressed upon the minds of municipal councils, as well as governments, that before placing the people's money in hands of speculating companies to see to it that the law was of such a nature as that the lives and property of subjects would be thoroughly protected at those places where railroads must necessarily intersect the public thoroughfares. But permit me, before closing, to bring before the notice of the public the humane interest taken in this matter by the proprietors and clerks of the following houses where the petitions lay for signatures: St. Lawrence house, the Windsor hotel, and the Bay of Quinte temperance house.—Yours, ONE OF THE COMMITTEE.

[Ex-Warden M. J. Fair and the committee deserve the greatest credit for bringing this long standing complaint once more to the point. The government and the county members have neglected it in the past, but if the gentlemen now acting keep up the agitation it may be felt at the next election. These occasions seem to be the only opportunities, and the farmers' unions should see they are not neglected.—ED. WHIG.]

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.

Intense heat augments the annoyance of skin disease, and encourages the development of febrile disorders; wherefore they should, as they may, be removed by these detergent and purifying preparations. In stomach complaints, liver affections, pains and spasms of the bowels, Holloway's Ointment well-given over the affected part immediately relieves the greatest pain, prevents congestion and inflammation, checks the threatening diarrhoea and averts incipient cholera. The poorer inhabitants of large cities will find these remedies to be their best friend when any pestilence rages, or when, from unknown causes, eruptions, boils, abscesses or ulcerations betoken the presence of taints or impurities within the system, and call for instant and effective curative medicines.

IN MEMORIAM.

The Late William Germain.

William Germain, one of the oldest residents of Pittsburg, who died at his home on July 12th, was a son of a tenant farmer living within three miles of Leeds, England, and was born in 1808. At the age of eighteen years he joined the army, and during the troubles in Canada, in 1836-37, was one of a detachment of regulars who volunteered to cross the Atlantic to assist in quelling the disturbances. When they landed in Halifax they were transferred to small canal boats which brought them up the St. Lawrence as far as Montreal. They then took to marching and tramped through the woods to Amherstburg. Mr. Germain saw the Carolina, the steamer engaged in carrying food to MacKenzie and his followers on Navy Island, go over the Niagara Falls. While still very young he was promoted to sergeant-major, and a short while later to quarter-master. He was a good scholar and penman. After leaving the regular army he received the commission of senior captain in the militia, and was stationed at Niagara. After two years service in the militia he tired of military life, and, removing to Pittsburg, engaged in farming. He was married in 1841 to Mary A. Hughes, eldest daughter of Robert Hughes, of the Gore of Pittsburg, by whom he had eight children. In February, 1860, he lost his beloved wife, but was subsequently married to Elizabeth J. McLean, daughter of John McLean, sr., of Pittsburg, and by this wife had also eight children. He was a remarkably healthy man, very cheerful in disposition, being bright and active, until within 36 hours of his death, the terrible heat of the previous week bringing on a prostration from which he could not rally.

Politically Mr. Germain was a strong liberal, but not a bigoted one, and was always willing to defend his position by fair argument. He scorned to pander to popular feeling, and only acted in what he believed to be an honest way. A good specimen of the honest independent yeoman he took the liveliest interest in the welfare of his country, and was foremost in movements calculated to advance its progress. He was cut off suddenly, but not before he had done his duty to his country and family. He lived to see his large family grow up and become prosperous, trained by him to be useful members of society, and to be a pride and honor to him in his old age. His memory will be held at large in grateful recollection by all who cherish strict integrity, honest manly independence, and persevering well-rewarded industry.

AT HYMEN'S ALTAR.

E. Malcolm Young—Miss Clara B. Boutler.

Miss Clara B. Boutler, eldest daughter of Wellington Boutler, was united in marriage to E. Malcolm Young, barrister, Picton, son of Oliver Young, Ameliasburg, on Tuesday. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Coulthard, Picton, assisted by Mr. Rattray, Queen's college. The groomsmen were Mr. Martin, Toronto, and E. Boutler, and the bridesmaids were Miss Wiggins, Napane, and Miss Clara Boutler, Demorestville. The bride was richly attired in white silk trimmed with lace. There was a magnificent spread for about seventy guests. The wedding presents were abundant and beautiful.

Give Them a Chance!

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter, which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption of any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Roschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

Battersea Notes.

Messrs. Sayer and Lawrence, Mr. Nania and lady, of New York, who spent last week here have left for Muskoka.—Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Spike are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Laycock, in the west.—Miss Maud Purdy, of Hartington, is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. Spike, at Millburn.—John Campbell's new house presents a fine appearance.—C. M. Vanluvan is spending his vacation at home.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to the taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind.

Heating Buildings.

M. Mouly has submitted to official investigation his system of heating buildings, by which he is enabled to transport heat, with hardly any loss, to distances up to 300 or 400 yards. The inventor completely isolates his pipes by means of air jackets. The pipes can be laid underground or overhead. At the entrance of the central pipe a jet of steam is placed, which, acting as an injector, forces in air, and heats the latter at the same time. The air drawn in is obtained from the first jacket, and thus is elevated in temperature before it comes in contact with the steam. By this means great economy in fuel is obtained.

Like Magic.

"It always acted like magic. I had scarcely ever need to give the second dose of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for summer complaints." Mrs. Walter Govenclock, of Ethel, Ont.

Point Road Items.

July 20.—The continuous drought is writing the grain, and farmers expect a small return.—Miss Mag Mullen is visiting relatives in Montreal.—W. T. Barrett, of Moose Jaw, N.W.T., is spending his vacation at home.—Mr. Harrison has purchased the lot and residence of J. Leader for a handsome sum.—The Barrieffield Sports anticipate a grand future.

From Manitoba.

"I have been cured of chronic diarrhoea by the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I used about twelve bottles of it and am now entirely free from the disease." William McLaren, Clearwater, Manitoba.

In Better Humour Now.

"My son, aged eleven, was cured of an eruptive humor that covered his head and face with sores, by two bottles of Burdock Blood Purifiers and Pills," testifies Mrs. Mary Fulford, of Port Hope, Ont.
