

MEDICINES.

Cheap Drugs "the dearest things" "on Earth."

The Advantages of Morse's Carbolated Cod Liver Oil.

It is believed that the not infrequent and discouraging failures of plain Cod Liver Oil and other tonic and alterative treatment to cure consumption, grow out of the fact they have no positive power to arrest the decay of the lungs; that while Cod Liver Oil supplies the waste of adipose tissue and vitality that the disease has made, as no other known substance can, it does not exercise any controlling power over the disease itself; it only gives Nature a fair chance to work her own cure. Somewhat more is wanted—SOMETHING TO ARREST THE DISEASE—THAT DESTROYS LIFE—some prophylactic agent that shall act directly upon the disease to check it while the Cod Liver Oil is building up the system. This important addition we have in Morse's Carbolated Cod Liver Oil. The power of Carbolic Acid to arrest decay—something marvelous. The destruction of matter cannot proceed where it is administered. Its disinfectant, purifying and cleansing properties are truly remarkable and have been of the greatest practical value to medical men. It is palatable, and now put up in bottles holding a full pint. Price, $1. Formula on every label.

We have on hand constantly a fresh and complete stock of DRUGS, FANCY GOODS, PERFUMERY, ETC.

Also all the leading Patent Medicines, and a full stock of Paints, Oils, Etc. Prescriptions carefully dispensed. Good value guaranteed. Favor us with a call.

A Sluggish Liver

Causes the Stomach and Bowels to become disordered, and the whole System to suffer from debility. In all such cases Ayer's Pills gives prompt relief.

After much suffering from Liver and Stomach troubles, I have finally been cured by taking Ayer's Cathartic Pills. I always find them prompt and thorough in their action, and their occasional use keeps me in a perfectly healthy condition.—Ralph Weeman, Annapolis, Md.

Twenty-five years ago I suffered from torpid liver, which was restored to healthy action by taking Ayer's Pills. Since that time I have never been without them. They regulate the bowels, assist digestion, and increase the appetite, more surely than any other medicine.—Paul Churchill, Haverhill, Mass.

INVIGORATED.

I know of no remedy equal to Ayer's Pills for Stomach and Liver Disorders. I suffered from a Torpid Liver and Dyspepsia, for eighteen months. My skin was yellow, and my tongue coated. I had no appetite, suffered from Headache, was pale and emaciated. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills, taken in moderate doses, restored me to perfect health.—Waldo Miles, Oberlin Ohio.

Ayer's Pills are a superior family medicine. They strengthen and invigorate the digestive organs, create an appetite, and remove the horrible depression and despondency resulting from Liver Complaint. I have used these Pills, in my family, for years, and they never fail to give entire satisfaction.—Otto Montgomery, Oshkosh Wis.

SCIENCE AND PROGRESS.

AN INSTRUMENT THAT MAKES RANGE FINDING AN EASY MATTER.

A Form of Serpent Which Plays an Important Part in the Indian Traditions of America—Curious Facts About a Rare and Beautiful Bird. After infinite labor and expenditure of much time Dr. Guillemard, the English explorer, while taking observations in Kamscatka and New Guinea, succeeded in securing alive two or three specimens of that most rare bird, the Twelve-wired Bird of Paradise. In his illustrated work entitled "The Cruise of the Marchesa," recently published, Dr. Guillemard describes this bird.

TWELVE WIRED BIRD OF PARADISE.

The subular plumes, whose prolonged and wire like shafts have given the bird its English name, are of a rich golden yellow, and the pectoral shield, when spread, shows to advantage its tipping of metallic emerald. These creatures feed on the fruit of the pandanus, with an occasional creek-winch as a relish. In devouring the insects, which they do by throwing them in the air and catching them again, they display the wonderful grass green coloring of the inside of the mouth and throat. A male bird that was caught tamed readily, but the least fall of temperature affected him, and he died before Dr. Guillemard got beyond the tropics with him.

The natives of New Guinea will often search a month in the forest to find the usual roosting place of one of these birds. Having found the tree, the hunter conceals himself beneath it, and having noted the exact branch chosen climbs up at night and noiselessly places a cloth over the unsuspecting victim.

A New Measuring Instrument.

Professor Cerobitani, of Verona, is credited with having contrived an ingenious instrument for ascertaining the distances of accessible and inaccessible points from the observer and from each other—in a word, an easy method of range finding. The apparatus consists mainly of a pair of telescopes mounted on a stand and fixed on a tripod for use. The telescopes are both brought to bear on the object, and a reading is then taken on a graduated scale on the instrument, which, compared with a set of printed tables, gives the distance. Distances can be measured between far off objects, and, by means of a sheet of paper fixed on a drawing board, a rough plan of the country under measurement can be made. In the same way the distances of ships at sea or of moving objects on land may be determined. Thus, the contrivance appears to be well adapted, not only for land surveying, but particularly so for military purposes. It is stated to have been already adopted in this latter connection by the German government.

The Serpent Symbol.

The occurrence of the serpent symbol, or serpent myths, among many tribes of American Indians is noted by all ethnological students. In a recent issue of Science occur some notes on a peculiar form of serpent which plays an important part in the traditions of the northwest American natives.

THE SISIUTI, A SERPENT SYMBOL.

The cut represents this characteristic symbol, or sisiuti as it is termed. It shows a double headed snake with a known face in the center. It is known to the Selish tribes of the Gulf of Georgia, and to the numerous tribes of Kwakiuti lineage. It is the crest of one of the gentes of the Kwakiuti, who paint it on their house fronts. The beam which supports the heavy rafters of their houses is carved so as to represent the "Sisiuti," as it is called by the Kwakiuti, and the drums, chairs and dancing implements of the gens have it for their ornament. A beam of this kind is in the museum at Ottawa, Ont.

The traditions referring to the Sisiuti are very numerous. One of the most remarkable is that of Qanqilq, the son of God, descended from heaven and met the Sisiuti. He killed it, skinned it, and took out its eyes. The latter he used as stones for his sling, the former as a belt, and both served him to accomplish many exploits.

Fresh Water Pearls.

The cultivation of fresh water mussels has become an industry of considerable importance in Saxony and other parts of Germany. The pearls are generally inferior to those of the genuine pearl oysters, but occasionally a gem of real excellence is produced. Some very fine settings of seed were exhibited at the exposition of Berlin. The Venetians carried on this branch of trade to a considerable extent during the Middle Ages, and controlled it until 1621, when the elector of Saxony also undertook it, at the suggestion of Moritz Schmirler, a draper of Oelsnitz, and appointed Schmirler "first pearl fisher." On his death he was succeeded by his son, and the business has continued in the family until the present day, under the superintendency of the forestry department, in whose care are the waters of the region.

The Old Theory in regard to Fire.

The old theory in regard to fire, according to Building, is becoming obsolete. The idea was formerly that the fire should be confined and smothered if possible, for lack of air, but the modern idea is to give vent to the building that the flames and smoke and heat may escape, in order that the firemen may gain access to the building and concentrate their efforts to the extinguishing of the fire. In a building filled with flames and smoke it is almost impossible to locate the fire, and the firemen are at a loss how to direct their efforts for its extinguishment. A building once cleared of the smother, and it is not difficult to reach the fire. That this plan is successful is demonstrated by the fact that in our large cities the loss by each fire is very much less than formerly.

To Apply Watch Oil.

Watch oil ought to be conveyed to the watch only with an absolutely clean medium, and steel is to be preferred by all odds. Many use tallow, but this cannot be kept so clean, nor is it so easily cleaned, and we would recommend to all workmen to use steel as usually.

THE TURF.

Michael Dwyer wagers more money in a week than his brother Philip in a month.

Capt. Brown values Troubadour at $40,000. Haggin and Baldwin are the heaviest winners of stakes in the west.

Johnny Murphy, the popular trainer and driver, has entirely recovered from the effects of the painful operation performed on him early in the season.

Roscoe Conkling always attracts attention when he is on the road. He drives the reins over a fast team as easily as he twists a witness about in a cross examination.

Frank Work, the owner of Edward and Dick Swiveller, is in New York looking after his horses. He drives on the road daily with his fast team, Otsego Prince and mate.

Fred Vanderbilt, the owner of the champion team Aldine and Early Rose, is seldom seen on the road. He has his horses now at Newport, where he occasionally gives them a fast spin.

R. W. Wallen has sold to Charles Boyle, of Canada, the chestnut filly Queen of Elizabeth, foaled 1884, by Sensation, dam Elizabeth by Vauxhall. The Queen was a failure this season.

A. A. Donner, the son of Robert Donner, is as fond of a trotting horse as his father. He drives a fast bay gelding on the road when he is not detained through business at the Ledger office.

Satan never gets left. Peers finished first in a 2-year-old stake the other day at Monmouth, but Satan that finished second gets the money because Peers was ridden less than her proper weight.

The chestnut mare Spray, property of D. Swigert, died at Elmendorf Stud, Muirs, Ky., on July 3. She was foaled 1865, by Bulletin, dam Sea Breeze, by imported Albion, and was the dam of Falconer and Glen-spray.

Uncle Jake Vanderbilt is still looking hale, hearty and is driving, although now 80 years old. He has not been on the boulevard or driving track since his brother died, but takes daily spins at Staten Island behind his trotter Boston.

A. de Cordova is a Wall street broker. He is the treasurer and secretary of the Gentlemen's driving club. He is about 53 years of age, and although he has no very fast horses is very fond of the trotters. He is seen at the track nearly every afternoon.

Sheriff Hugh J. Grant owns the fast trotter Kenilworth. Sheriff Grant spends a great deal of his spare time driving on the road, and sends Kenilworth on the grand circuit to win money to pay for this expensive pleasure. He has always got his eyes open for a new good horse.

Nathan Straus, the owner of Majolica, has two fast nags at Saranac Lake. They are Bessie and Bessie Sprague. Mr. Straus would like to become the owner of Libby S., but thinks $12,000 a lot of money to pay for her. His mare Pottery Girl is at Cleveland and is going to trot in the grand circuit.

Mr. A. B. Claffin, one of the judges at the recent meeting held at Fleetwood, is very popular on Wall street and on the road. He is a son of the late H. B. Claffin, and handles the reins dexterously over his team, Overmann and mate. He sent them along recently, doing a mile in 2:33 and a fraction.

Hon. August Belmont has exchanged with W. C. Daly the brown colt Songster, 2 years old, by Luke Blackburn, dam imported Malibran, by Cathedral, for Mr. Daly's chestnut mare Bahama, foaled 1883, by imported Mortemer, dam Notre Dame, by Lexington, out of Novice, by imported Glencoe. Bahama will go to Mr. Belmont's stock farm.

STORIES ABOUT CHILDREN.

"Ma," said Bertie, "should I say 'pants' or 'trousers'?" "Trousers, my dear," said the mother. "Well, then," said Bertie, "I think Bridget had better give Fido some water; he trousers awfully."—Tid Bits.

Little Nellie, aged 2 1/2, on omitting her father in her prayer, was told to pray for papa as usual, and refused. Her mother insisting, Nellie said petulantly: "Well, do bless papa, for pity's sake."—Babyhood.

Little girl has just returned from market: Mother—Well, Mary Ann, didn't the butcher have pig's feet? Mary Ann—Oh, mamma! I went and looked, but I could not see whether he had pig's feet or not, for he had his boots on.—Harper's Bazar.

Little Helen E—, aged 5 years, while visiting a farm, was asked to pick up a large egg plant from which the young farmer had mischievously removed the stem. She tried several times, but her chubby hands continually slipped off the smooth surface. At last she straightened up with a sigh, and said, "I can't lift it, cause the how-you-pick-it-up is gone."—Youth's Companion.

The other day—he is now 3 years old—he was much edified by a pair of twins who called on him. That evening, on his expressing a wish to say his prayers, he was taught the Lord's prayer. "Is God a man?" he began in his usual remorseless style of interrogation. "No," was the answer. "But it says 'a man,'" he persisted. "Amen," was the gentle correction, which elicited the startling query: "Why, mamma, is God twins?"—Philadelphia Call.
