SERMONS OF THE FUTURE

heart and sympathy and under the benediction and perpetual presence of a Christian minister.
 But I remark again, the religious discourse of the future will be an awakening sermon. From altar rail to the front door step under that sermon an audience will get up and start for heaven. There will be in it many a staccato passage. It will not be a lullaby; it will be a battle charge. Men will drop their sins, for they will feel the hot breath of pursuing retribution on the back of their necks. It will be sympathetic with all the physical distresses as well as the spiritual distresses of the world. Christ not only preached, but he healed paralysis, and he healed epilepsy, and he healed the dumb and the blind and ten lepers.
 That religious discourse of the future will be an everyday sermon, going right down into every man's life, and it will teach him how to vote, how to bargain, how to plow, how to do any work he is called to, how to wield trowel and pen and pencil and yardstick and plane. And it will teach women how to preside over their households, and how to educate their children, and how to imitate Miriam and Esther and Vashti and Eunice, the mother of Timothy, and Mary, the mother of Christ; and those women who, on northern and southern battle fields, were mistaken by the wounded for angels of mercy fresh from the throne of God.

Yes, I have to tell you the religious discourse of the future will be a reported sermon. If you have any idea that printing was invented simply to print secular books, and stenography and phonography were contrived merely to set forth secular ideas, you are mistaken. The printing press is to be the great agency of Gospel proclamation. It is high time that good men, instead of denouncing the press, employ it to scatter forth the Gospel of Jesus Christ. The vast majority of people in our cities do not come to church, and nothing but the printed sermon can reach them and call them to pardon, and life, and peace, and heaven.

So I cannot understand the nervousness of some of my brethren of the ministry. When they see a newspaper man coming in they say: "Alas, there is a reporter." Every added reporter is ten thousand, fifty thousand, a hundred thousand immortal souls added to the auditory. The time will come when all the village, town and city newspapers will reproduce the Gospel of Jesus Christ, and sermons preached on the Sabbath will reverberate all around the world, and, some by type, and some by voice, all nations will be evangelized.

The practical bearing of this is upon those who are engaged in Christian work, not only upon theological students and young ministers, but upon all who preach the Gospel and all who exhort in meetings, and that is all of you if you are doing your duty. Do you exhort in prayer meeting? Be short and be spirited. Do you teach in Bible class? Though you have to study every night be interesting. Do you assist people on the subject of religion in their homes or in public places? Study adroitness and use common sense. The most graceful and most beautiful thing on earth is the religion of Jesus Christ, and if you awkwardly present it it is defamation. We must do our work rapidly, and we must do it effectively. Soon our time for work will be gone.

A dying Christian took out his watch and gave it to a friend and said: "Take that watch, I have no more use for it; time is ended for me and eternity begins." Oh, my friends, when our watch has ticked away for us the last moment, and our clock has struck for us the last hour, may it be found we did our work well, that we did it in the very best way, and whether we preached the Gospel in pulpits or taught Sabbath classes, or administered to the sick as physicians, or bargained as merchants, or pleaded the law as attorneys, or were busy as artisans or as husbandmen or as mechanics, or were, like Martha, called to give a meal to a hungry Christ; or, like Hannah, to make a coat for a prophet; or, like Deborah, to rouse the courage of some timid Barak in the Lord's conflict; we did our work in such a way that it will stand the test of the judgment. And in the long procession of the redeemed that march around the throne, may it be found there are many there brought to God through our instrumentality, and in whose rescue we are exultant.

But, oh, you unsaved, wait not for that religious discourse of the future. It may come after your obsequies. It may come after the stonemason has chiseled our name on the slab, fifty years before. Do not wait for a great steamer of the Cunard or White Star line to take you off the wreck, but hail the first craft with however low a mast and however small a bulk, and however poor a rudder, and however weak a captain. Better a disabled schooner that comes up in time than a full rigged brig that comes up after you have sunk.

Instead of waiting for that religious discourse of the future—it may be forty, fifty years off—take this plain invitation of a man who, to have given you spiritual eyesight, would be glad to be called the spittle by the hand of Christ put on the eyes of a blind man, and who would consider the highest compliment of this service if, at the close, 500 men should start from these doors saying: "Whether he be a sinner or no, I know not. This one thing I know, whereas I was blind, now I see."

Swifter than shadows over the plain, quicker than birds in their autumnal flight, hastier than eagles to their prey, he you to a sympathetic Christ. The orchestras of heaven have already strung their instruments to celebrate your rescue.

And many were the voices around the throne: Rejoice, for the Lord brings back his own.

Hanging Ruloff.
 "I never saw but one man hanged," remarked Dr. John Thompson to a tourist recently, "but that one illustrated the force of habit even in the agonies of death. Of course you remember the murderer Ruloff, who was hanged at Binghamton some twelve or fourteen years ago. I was one of the physicians who attended the execution. Ruloff was a man who believed in nothing. When he walked out for execution preceded by the chief of police of Binghamton and followed by the sheriff and his deputies, he wore old fashioned trousers with pockets in the outside seams. His elbows were not so pinioned but that he could thrust his hands in his pockets, and he had them in as he stood with the noose about his neck listening to the reading of the death warrant and the last words that were said, with the indifference of a stoic. In fact, his hands were still in his pockets when the drop fell, but the sudden jerk wrenched one of them out. I noticed as I stood waiting for the swaying of the limp body to cease that twice a strong effort was made by his hand to thrust itself back into his pocket. The second attempt was partially successful, and literally Ruloff died with his hands in his pockets. I was informed that it was his habitual custom to walk and think with his hands in his trousers pockets."—Albany Journal.

After Long Years.
 "I was troubled with liver complaint for a number of years, finding no cure. I tried B.B.B. I took four bottles and am perfectly cured, strong and hearty." Mrs. Maria Ackett, Alma, Ont.

DISTRICT DASHES.

The Spice of the Articles Colled From The Newspapers of the Vicinity.

On Wednesday another immense floating bog found its way into Napanee harbor, and such is its proportions that it occupies the entire water space between Downey's and Rathbun's docks. These bogs are a great nuisance to vessel captains.

Deseronto takes kindly to the Salvation army. Capt. Drew, formerly of Napanee, was surprised a few nights ago, to find at her quarters four new chairs, one rocking chair, and a new table, for the use of the army.

On Tuesday, M. Fitzmaurice, Renfrew, received the intelligence that his younger brother Patrick had died in Chicago from an attack of sunstroke. Messrs. Michael and James Fitzmaurice and Miss Susan Morgan left to be present at the funeral.
 One day recently Calvin Russell, jr., and his sisters were driving into Renfrew, the brother smoking. Miss Russell suddenly discovered that her dress was on fire. She jumped out of the vehicle, but this only served to fan the flames. Calvin jumped out, and after rapid exertions extinguished the flames. His hands were terribly injured.

The financial statement of the Newburgh Methodist circuit shows a balance on hand, after meeting all expenditures, of $44.53. There was in all the sum of $1,225.03 raised in the field: Newburgh contributed $372.72, Switzerville $269.31, Wesley church $231.25, Camden East $145.25, Napanee Mills $146, Mount Pleasant $36, Bethel $12.80, and the quarterly collections amounted to $41.70.

On Saturday last an old man, named Alex. Smith, died in gaol in Napanee after a long illness. The old man was sent to the gaol from Ernestown in November last, as a vagrant, and has for the past seven months been a constant resident of the institution. Some time since Chief Allen started to take him to Kingston Hospital, but had only proceeded a short distance when the old man became so ill that they had to turn back. Deceased has no friends that we know of.

WORK AND WAGES.

Workmen's Day Celebration—Taking Care of Little Children of Cahoes.

The strikers at Pittsburg are resuming work in the coke regions.
 The labor convention at Minneapolis will be held with open doors.

The cigar-makers of Montreal have resolved to celebrate the first Monday in September as workmen's day by a procession in the forenoon and a picnic in the afternoon.

At Cohoes, N.Y., Assistant State Factory Inspector Hooley discovered that a number of children were at work in the mills whose parents has taken false affidavits as to their ages, and will prosecute some of them for perjury.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember: No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

Wiman and the Detroit Team.

Regarding the reports that Erastus Wiman was making an effort to purchase the Detroit team and enter it in the American association next year and dispose of the Metropolitan, Mr. Wiman said: "I have not yet made any definite negotiations for the Detroit team. I should like to have them very much, but I cannot afford to pay the price they want, $50,000. Even if I do get another team, I may give up baseball at Staten Island. The Metropolitan are certainly not a success."

A Source of Danger.

The frequent source of danger attending bowel complaints during the summer and fall is the liability to check the diarrhoea too suddenly. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry will not do this. Inflammation of the bowels does not follow its use, as is too often the case with powerful opiates and astringents. It cures promptly and in a natural manner.

Doctors Can Get Square.

"Freddie, what are you going to do when you get to be a big man?" asked a prairie avenue mother of her ten-year-old son.
 "A doctor," answered Freddie, promptly.
 "Wouldn't you like to be a lawyer, like papa?"
 "Yes, but I'd rather be a doctor."
 "Why is that?"
 "Cause they don't have so much trouble to get their money."
 "Indeed. And why not?"
 "Cause, when people don't pay they can give 'em more medicine."

A Cure for Drunkenness.

Opium, morphine, chloral, tobacco, and kindred habits. The medicine may be given in tea or coffee without the knowledge of the person taking it if so desired. Send 6c in stamps, for book and testimonials from those who have been cured. Address M.V. Lubon, 46 Wellington St. East, Toronto, Ont. Cut this out for future reference. When writing mention this paper.

An Early Eviction.

A little Austin boy, whose impetuous parents are always moving from one house to another, was asked by the Sunday school teacher:
 "Way did the Israelites move out of Egypt?"
 "Because they couldn't pay their rent, I reckon."

Are You Going to Travel.

Don't forget a supply of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It is superior remedy for sea sickness, and a positive cure for all bowel complaints induced by bad water, change of diet, or of climate. Whether at home or abroad, it should be kept at hand in case of emergency.
