RAILWAY ACCIDENT AT SHERBROOKE .-

The Mo_treal Herald says—a singular accident occurred at Sherbrooke. When the the Portland train was expected in, a snow which spans the St. Francis at that place, J. Lawson, Quebec; D. A. Ross, Montrea by a second engine behind. Soon after treal; D. Martin, New York; A. Waters, & they had left the station, one of the men | Chatham; N. G. Smith and son, Butlaher employed there came running back, saying that the bridge was broken, and this turnelout to be the case. The bridge, was broken, short off in the middle. The most remarkable part has still to be told. The snow plough and the hindmost engine were precipitated through the chasm into the river, but though there were three men upon the second engine, they were fortunate enough to escape unhurt. The first engine had cleared the danger. The driver, it appears, heard something that alarmed him on getting upon the bridge, and put on steam so rapidly as not only to drive his engine over the part about to give way der him, but to jerk the couplings apart But for this latter piece of good fortune, the engine would probably have been dragged down by the weight of the snow plough and the following engine. But while the men who were thrown down through the break escaped with a few bruises, a man on the engine which escaped was unfortuni ly killed. The same jerk which broke couplings, threw him down between foremost engine and the tender, so that the wheels of the latter passed over his body. and of course killed him on the spot. scems to be a Providential circumstance that the mischief was before the Portland train came up; otherwise it is to be feared that a much greater loss of life would have resulted from it. The Portland train was, of course, stopped on the east side of the bridge, and the passengers brought across the river, and put into carriages on the west- [7]-6in-d&w-262 FLEMING BROS.
