The County Election.

A large and influential meeting of Mr. Calvin's friends was held on the evening of Saturday, the 3rd inst., at Mr. Carson's, near Battersea, in the township of Storrington. Mr. Vankleek was appointed chairman and Mr. Davis Secretary. Mr. Calvin then came forward and made a very satisfactory explanation of his policy. Mr. Calvin was followed on the floor by Mr. Wright, of Storrington, and several other gentlemen, and after a vote of thanks to the chairman and secretary, three hearty cheers were given for Mr. Calvin, and the meeting dispersed. The meeting was extremely enthusiastic, and was unanimously of the opinion that we had already too many lawyers in Parliament.

The Toronto Telegraph says Mr. Calvin has no opponent in Frontenac for the House of Assembly. Whatever may be the religion of the people down there it is clear they are strong Calvinists.

Sporting News.

The return match between the Young Canada Club of Pittsburg and the Victoria Juveniles of Kingston, was played yesterday afternoon on the Cricket Ground, and was won by the former, who took the first, second and fourth games. The first game lasted 5, the second 7, the third 5 minutes, and the fourth 1 hour and 40 minutes.

The La Crosse match "for the Championship of Canada," was played on Saturday at Montreal, between the Shamrock Club and the Caughnawaga Indians, taking the first, third and fourth games. The Shamrock took the second game in three minutes. They played well, but are decidedly no match for the red skins.

The cricket match at Philadelphia began on Saturday. A telegram says:

The international cricket match between the All-England Eleven and the American Twenty-Two of Philadelphia began to-day. The Americans won the toss, and sent the Eleven to the field at two o'clock. The first man appeared at the bat, and the game continued with several interruptions by the rain until five o'clock, when the stumps were drawn for the day. At that time there were 12 wickets down for 55 runs. The best stand was made by Cadwalader and Morgan; the former by a safe and steady play secured 15, and the latter 9. Freeman's bowling was very effective.

From Saratoga Springs.

THE SEASON AT SARATOGA—CLOSING SCENES—THE ARISTOCRATS—THE WEATHER, ETC.

Saratoga Springs, Oct. 1st.

At Saratoga Springs the fashionable summer season of 1868 has far exceeded anything ever known before in the way of fashionable seasons on the face of the globe. The various places of summer resort on the line of the great fashionable summer tour of America have this year been crowded to overflowing, but Saratoga being a sort of head centre of them all for the fashionable world, has been unusually crowded during the recent fashionable term. Since the erection of the new Congress Hall, Saratoga seems to have become more popular than ever, and although this hotel will accommodate about 1,500 people, the demand for accommodation has been far greater than on any previous years. The season here is now drawing to a close. The various habitues are beginning to seek their homes in the different parts of the land, and many new homes have doubtless been contracted for during the past season. Saratoga is known all over the world as a great place for beau-catcherie, and it is very unfashionable to visit Saratoga for one week without having at least five strings to your bow, and as a natural consequence when strained up so hard, the bridge may come down and then some are sure to be taken. The number of weddings resulting from a flirtation at Saratoga each season is almost innumerable, and now the general reputation of Saratoga as a place for match-making is known all over the world. The popular affectations have been all the rage this season at this resort. That nonsensical deformity, the "Grecian Bend" but more sensibly known as the "Chollie Stoop," also the "Italian Nestle," have all found their disciples in the pleasure tourists. Also, the fashionable limp, the lisping and other contortions of the English Language. The black patch of court plaster, and lastly the stylish St. Vitus Dance, have all been well represented here. What will be done another season it is hard to tell, for it really seems as if the store had been exhausted, and that another season parties would have to become sensible again, as a natural consequence; and besides many of these deformities would destroy the life of an ordinary person in less than two months, if persisted in for two whole months as vigorously as has been seen here for a few weeks at a time. The weather here at the present time is beautiful in the extreme, cool and mild.

Yours, &c.

The Rate of Advertising in Canada.

This demands general revision, and it is greatly to be regretted that a Convention of the Daily Press has not been convened to regulate the matter. The practice of charging Continuations of Advertisement only one fourth the rate of the First Insertions, might have been done twenty-five years ago, but now it is positively absurd; for it only fills the newspaper with old Advertisements which nobody reads. The Globe has inaugurated a change which we trust will be made general in the course of a few months. Let Weekly Newspaper Publishers do as they choose, but Daily Newspaper men should think seriously of making a change. Hear the Globe:—

"It has been the fashion in Canada to charge for advertisements four times as much for the first insertion as for the second or any future publication. This system has long been abolished in Britain and in the larger cities of the United States. The same charge is made there for each insertion, and this is certainly the right principle. In a well regulated newspaper, not overcrowded with advertisements, one insertion ought to be as good as another. If an advertisement is stale to the reader and not read, it ought to be taken out and a new one substituted. The effect of the existing system is to fill the newspaper with old advertisements seldom read by the public and not worth much to the advertiser. The true system of advertising is to have short, fresh, pithy announcements, and to have every corner of the paper fresh and readable every morning."

JUDICIARY IN QUEBEC PROVINCE.—The judges occupying the bench are not part colorly adapted to fulfil their duties. One of them is as deaf as a bat; counsel need good lungs, and have to speak loudly to catch his Honor's attention, and very often, wearied or disgusted, they settle the point in dispute between themselves. The scene is rather amusing when an eminent lawyer endeavors to catch the ear of the Court, and after having done so, the Court renders a decision not at all pertinent to the question at issue. The other judge has the happy faculty of hearing well, but he cannot make himself heard and understood, so indistinct are his tones, and careless his delivery. But both are of the highest reputation for learning, classical and legal, and manage to get along with the law breakers and law seekers, though there is occasional grumbling. The one afflicted with deafness may probably be soon pensioned off; and the other advised to speak more distinctly.

The city of Quebec seems to be fast going back to a state of wilderness. Robberies of the most audacious order are nightly committed, and we see that a police-officer, who has been criticised by the press for not arresting thieves which he had followed, answers that these people certainly carried concealed weapons. To compile a this sad state of affairs we see that wolves and lynxes are almost every day killed in the inhabited part of that unfortunate capital.

LATEST FROM SPAIN—REPUBLIC PROCLAIMED AT MADRID—PERFECT ORDER REIGNS THERE — DIPLOMATIC APPOINTMENT — ADDRESS BY DISRAELI — COMMERCIAL TREATY BETWEEN FRANCE AND HOLLAND.

Paris, Oct. 2, (evening.)

The latest reports from Spain state that Marshal Serrano will not go to Madrid, because the national guard who hold possession of the city refuse to admit the troops of the regular army under his command. It is rumored that republic has been proclaimed at Madrid. A proclamation has been issued at Catalonia demanding a federal republican form of government for Spain.

The Right Hon. Benjamin Disraeli has issued an address to his constituents of Buckinghamshire. He recites in the usual way the course pursued by the Ministry on the question of the Reform act, the national finances, the relations existing between England and foreign powers, and the triumphant termination of the Abyssinian war. He comments at considerable length on the reform project, gives its history and recounts his objections thereto. He holds that the Ministry had a right to expect that the whigs would wait and learn the temper of the new parliament on that question before pressing its consideration. But their leaders saw fit to bring before the House of Commons at the very last moment a measure severing the Church and State, for the disestablishment of the Irish Church meant and included it. It involved also the stirring up of additional rancor and bitterness in Ireland. It would unsettle property and make confiscation contageous, and worse than all, it would give England over to Popery, and practically, to the rule of a foreign power.

Madrid, Oct. 3.

Marshal Serrano, accompanied by seven generals of the army, entered Madrid to-day in triumph. The streets and buildings, public and private, were superbly decorated, and a large civil and military procession escorted the Generals through the city. The route of procession was crowded with citizens, who received Serrano and the generals with wild enthusiasm. The procession was followed by a parade and review of the National Guard. This was a great patriotic display, and was made the occasion of striking manifestations of popular will. The troops carried side by side with their flags, banners on which were inscribed "Down with the Bourbons," "Sovereignty of the People," "Religious Liberty," "Free Education," and other mottoes of similar character. Marshal Serrano made a patriotic address. He announced that he had united with General Prim in calling Marshal Espartero, Duke of Vittoria, to the head of the State. The formation of a new cabinet has been completed as follows:—Marshal Serrano, President; Castello, Minister of Commerce: Topete, Minister of Marine; Aguirre, Minister of Justice; General Prim, Minister of War; Olozagha, Minister of Foreign Affairs; and Madoz, Minister of Finance.

Latest from Halifax.

SPEECH OF THE HON. JOSEPH HOWE.

Halifax, Oct. 3.

Unionists and Antis are drawing consolation from a speech made by Mr. Howe at the opening of the Intercolonial Coal Mining Company's, at Pictou, on Thursday. There is no verbatim report published. A union Journal reports him as follows:—"We cannot fight England. Canada tried that once, and she got a lot of muskets and put marbles, and set men to fire them off, which they did and run away. They were big fools. What would Nova Scotia be if, without men, muskets marbles, she attempted that game? Great Britain he averred to be the greatest maritime nation on the globe, and likely, with her sea coast larger than that of France or of the United States, to remain so for the next thousand years, which was far enough in the future to look forward to. The true policy of Nova Scotia was amity and friendship with Great Britain. He next took up the relations of the United States—pronounced an eulogism upon the hardy industry and enterprise of the people, spoke of the richness of its territory, of the wonderful progres it had made, and gave it as his deliberate conviction that the United States were a very good neighbour, and long might they remain so. He then referred to the Canadians and declared that the Nova Scotians had no cause of quarrel with the people of Canada. If there was anybody to quarrel with it was the six Nova Scotians who had done us wrong; but as for the Canadians, they were a fine, manly, noble hearted race, and when a miscreant press had sought to plunge this country in infamy by proposing that Sir John A. and his party should be pelted with rotten eggs he had fairly boiled over with indignation; he had penned a letter and nothing gave him greater satisfaction. But a wrong had been done; let us not blame the Canadians. They never meant it. If there were any feelings of hatred they should be banished. Let us remember the hundred years of common history we and they have had—the hundred years of efforts in the same direction. When Robert Baldwin was working for responsible Government in Canada, he was aiding by his vote and voice, working here for the same thing and aiding him by his vote and voice—let us remember the hundred years in the heart of friendship, and the hundred years in the future, and forget all about the one or two years of estrangement and of strife.

Anticipating the accuracy of this report and say if the speech had any political significance it was of determined hostility to the Union.

Mr. Brydges' appointment as Railway Commission is generally condemned by Unionists and Antis look upon it as an indication that the Intercolonial will be a grand job.

THE MILITIA STAFF.—As Ontario is reduced from eight brigade divisions to four military districts, and Quebec from eight brigade divisions to three districts, it is expected that the services of several brigade majors will be dispensed with. However, nothing will be done towards the appointment of the officers of the militia for three months, or until Sir George returns from England. If but one brigade major is retained for a district, then nine would be removed in Ontario and Quebec.

St. John, N.B., Oct. 3.

The announcement is made that Hon. C. Fisher has been appointed Judge of the Supreme Court in room of Judge, now Lieut-Governor Wilmot.

It is rumored that Mr. Charles Council, M.P., for Carleton County, will resign his seat in the House of Commons and stand for the Local Legislature in place of Mr. Jas. Hartley, the late member. In this case it is probable that Mr. S. P. Fisher, a brother of Mr. Charles Fisher, will go to the House of Commons for Carleton.

The New Governor-General of Canada.

[From the London Express, Sept. 18.]

The appointment to the Governorship of Canada rises far above the sphere of party politics; and the selection of Sir John Young will probably give satisfaction to the thinkers of both sides. A trained official; a politician whose Parliamentary career dates from the year before the passing of the first Reform Bill; a statesman who has graduated in public business and in the art of governing men in the several offices of Lord of the Treasury, Chief Secretary for Ireland, Lord High Commissioner of the Ionian Islands, and finally as Governor of New South Wales, Sir John Young is well qualified to discharge duties of his new post. The merest scientist in politics knows how delicate those duties are, and how much depends upon the tact, temper and skill of the representative of the English Crown in Canada. A private despatch to the Home Government, from Sir John Young, while Lord High Commissioner, led, it has been generally believed, to the cession of the Ionian Islands, and there has been no reason to doubt the soundness of the opinions by them expressed. Indeed, it would have been difficult to have found a new Governor for Canada to whom the word "safe" would more emphatically apply; and the appointment announced to-day is in every way direct antithesis to the ridiculous attempt to foist Lord Mayo upon India. Sir John Young is a Liberal of the earnest, thoughtful type, and, like Mr. Gladstone, commenced public life as a conservative, afterwards holding a prominent place in the Peelite section of the House. The new Governor assumes the reins of office when the horizon is happily clear, and when none of the complex questions which agitate the Canadian mind from time to time have an aspect indicative of trouble. But the peculiarity of the politics of this great colony is that the points in its internal policy, and the rivalry between its different religious and national elements are at least as difficult to deal with as its relations with the parent and other States. Matters of intense insignificance, clouds scarcely bigger than a man's hand, may arise at any moment, and it is satisfactory to know that a statesman of the ability and experience of Sir John Young is equal to all such contingencies.

The Northwest Transfer—Trouble Ahead.

Hon Mr. Campbell, who was to be one of the mission to England on the North West question, has found it impossible for him to leave, and thus Sir G. E. Cartier and Hon. Mr. McDougall will compose the delegation It is understood that the Imperial government wish to have the question arranged, and introduce a bill at the next next session of parliament to unite the Territory to the Dominion, and provide for its Government.

It is important that the public here should keep in view the great difficulties which present themselves to our delegates, at the very outset of their North-west mission. It has already been pointed out in these columns that the Imperial Act of last session, relating to the transfer of the H. B. Company's rights, contains two exceedingly suspicious clauses. The first is that which affirms the right of the Company to maintain its corporate existence for an indefinite length of time, after the transfer have been made such an extension of its chartered rights cannot be necessary to enable the Company to wind up its business. If so, is it not intended that after surrendering to the Dominion the section of its property which has become the least valuable for hunting purposes—surrendering it, too, at an extravagant price—the old monopolists desire to carry on their trade, as before, in the higher latitudes? Let us watch this scheme closely. For, we may depend on it, the Company will gouge us, if the Duke of Buckingham's influence can (as it probably has been) secured against us.

But that is not all that our delegates will have to contend against. The same Imperial Act positively declares that, nothing which it contains shall involve the Hom Government in any outlay or guarantee for the purchase of the Company's rights. That closely foreshadows a breach of the provincial engagement of 1866, when an Imperial guarantee for a loan to secure the transfer, formed part of the Union scheme. Mr. Cardwell's successor, it is clear, does not hold himself in any way bound by that engagement, so that we renew negotations for the North west purchase under circumstances every way less hopeful than those under which the question was formerly ventilated.

Mr. Disraeli has a fight before him for the next three months; and if the Killice interest—covering the greater share of the Hudson's Bay Company's influence—can be secured by selling out the Dominion to them body and bones, it would be a fine stroke of political business. And what could we do to spoil it? Nothing absolutely nothing—so far as we see.

Speaking of this Imperial Act, morever, is it true, or is it not true, that it was passed while the Finance Minister for the Dominion was a daily visitor to the Colonial Office three months ago? That is a point of some interest. In any case, we should have thought Lord Monck would have been fully advised at the provisions of the North-west Bill while it was under discussion. Surely, if opportunity for remonstrance had been given, the Privy Council at Ottawa would have remonstrated—at least against the clause which cancels the provisional agreement for an Imperial guarantee. Meanwhile, the difficulties in the way of successful negotiation may as well be pondered over, so that the public may be prepared to a bear of a failure. The delegates propose, it is said, to be gone only two months. If, in that time, they effect an honest and fair bargain, they will prove themselves the ablest diplomats within the wide boundaries of the Dominion.—Toronto Telegraph.

The Passage of the Dardanelles.

A considerable amount of the nonsense has been telegraphed, and written, concerning the passage of Admiral Farragut's fine ship through the Dardanelles. We now have a correct account of the whole affair, and can see what a mountain has been made out of a molehill by a sensation-loving compiler of telegrams. It appears that Mr. Morris, the United States Envoy, wrote to the Turkish Minister of Foreign Affairs, in a very respectful manner, saying, that he was aware, that large vessels of war were not as a general thing allowed to pass through the Dardanelles, unless they had a Prince of the blood royal on board, but that as the United States could not produce a Prince, he hoped that the privilege would be allowed to the Chief Naval officer of the Republic. The Turkish Minister replied, that he would permit the Admiral to pass, but his doing so, must not be taken as a precedent.
