TUESDAY MORNING, NOV. 15, 1870.

CORRECTION.—In last Wednesday's British Whig a paragraph appeared under the Caption "Stabbing Affray," reporting an occurrence at Marysville, between two persons, Baker and Mullin. We now regret to find that the information on which the matter was published was falsely given, and we regret its having appeared to do injury to the parties concerned.

INQUEST ON THOMAS GRAHAM.—On Sunday afternoon last, to suit the convenience of all parties, Dr. Barker held an inquest on the body of Mr. Thomas Graham, at his late residence in Pittsburgh. It appeared in evidence that on the Friday previous he was returning home with a horse and buggy, when in the middle road his horse ran away, and pitched him out on his head into the road, where he was found dead by his neighbors a very short time after the horse had bolted. The deceased had been drinking of late, but was not drunk at the time of the accident. Verdict in accordance with the facts.

DO YOU WANT a First-Class Overcoat or Pea-Jacket? Yes, I do! Then go to W. J. PEACY, Brock Street, where you can get them cut and made as they ought to be.

TURNED UP SAFE.—The schooner Everleigh, which left Toledo for Kingston on the 18th October, with 12,000 bushels of wheat, and was reported as lost in all probability, arrived here safely on Sunday—all hands well. The vessel was out in the terrific storm on Lake Erie, and had her wheel and cabin swept away. She was very fortunately brought to anchor, and thereby the vessel and the lives of the crew were saved. Five times the Everleigh was ingulphed in a mountain of waves, each time those on board momentarily gave themselves up for lost, but every time she gallantly came up again above the waves, and rode out the storm safely. She has been an extraordinarily long time coming from Port Colborne, which gave currency to the reports of the loss. It was unfavorable for the discharge of the cargo yesterday, and it cannot be ascertained whether it is damaged or not.

SEQUEL TO A LIBEL CASE.—A charge of perjury, arising out of the libel case Davy vs. Scott et al, tried at the last Assizes here, has been preferred against the plaintiff by one of the defendants in that action. Mr. Davy was arrested yesterday under a warrant issued by Mayor Huffman of Napanee, and was brought before that gentleman last evening for examination. Mr. Davy, of course, waived examination and gave bail. The case will be disposed of at the Court of General Sessions next month. There is much to fear that the charge arises from a spirit of vindictiveness any thing but creditable to the editor of the Casket.

SECOND SNOW.—Mother Earth wore her white mantle yesterday and from the appearances she made it is evident that fall fashions are going out. It began to snow at 11 o'clock and kept up a continual fall all day of abominable half slee, half snow, giving us an early and uncomfortable glimpse of winter. This is not in the popular idea the first snow, that having fallen in fact on 31st October. There are no hopes of sleighing just yet—a while.

FOR LARCENY.—A man named Stewart was committed to the County Gaol on Saturday by Mr. Craig, J. P., of Portsmouth, on a charge of stealing from the house of Anne Davis, in that village. He will be tried at the approaching sessions.

POLICE COURT, MONDAY.

Before Mr. Creighton:

There was a small horde of miserables brought up to make up the sacrifical offering to the shrine of mortality and justice.

Lewis Curran, alias Louis the Indian, was up for the aboriginal weakness of drinking too much fire-water, and sent to gaol for ten days in default of the ready.

Jas. Murphy, who was arrested last week on a suspicion of burglary, was charged with assaulting Corporal Black of the Depot Volunteers, and fined $15, in default of which he went to gaol for one month. Black had got a new pair of boots, and Murphy had got tight. The latter noticed the new boots, and in a lark tramped on them, hurting the wearer's foot. Black remonstrated, and Murphy repeated the offence, accompanying it with an insulting epithet. Black knocked him down, as he deserved, and having finished that business walked off to his barracks. Murphy followed him, and in a vindictive spirit hit him on the head with a stone, cutting him badly. For which he was very properly punished.

John McLean, up again for drunkenness, was fined $2 for the delight.

Fanny Brickwood was drunk, so the Police said. She was discharged as she is on a moral tack at present, but missed stays for once.

John Doyle, the notorious, was arrested by Policemen Bennett and Hoyle, after a long search. He cannot always elude the powers that be. The "peelers" had been seeking his whereabouts all Friday without success, and on Saturday morning Bennett started early, accompanied by a well trained spaniel, scouring Bryan's Bush even below the Grand Trunk Depot, when on returning his dog got on a scent of the prisoner, and traced him to the house of a woman on Division Street. On the Police officer entering and taking him into custody, Doyle felt somewhat astonished, and throwing off the defiant disposition displayed by him on all occasions, submitted to the arrest, and was locked up in the cells securely. No traces of the beef or tallow, supposed to have been sold on by him from the slaughter house of Mr. Geale, have been found, although he offered a large quantity of the latter for sale on Friday morning. He was therefore committed to gaol for 60 days for vagrancy, for which charge he is amenable at all times.

AGRARIAN MURDER IN TIPPERARY.—The body of Patrick Murphy, land-bailiff to Captain Ledwell, was found, on Tuesday night, lying on the road, about two miles from Templemore. Life was not quite extinct when the unfortunate man was found, but he was totally insensible, and expired in a few minutes. During the night the police arrested two men on suspicion. Murphy was beaten to death with stones.

RIOT IN CORK.

Cork, Nov. 13.—Some fifty soldiers undertook to-night to avenge the death of Gibson, a private in the first Dragoon Guards, who was killed in a quarrel with some citizens last week. They provoked a fight with the townspeople, which soon became hot. They were shortly reinforced by forty comrades and the mob of people also increased. A scene of indiscriminate violence followed, and was only stopped by the interference of a strong body of police. Several soldiers, policemen and citizens were badly injured, but no deaths reported. All the rioters are under arrest.

GIANTS.

In one of his recent lectures, Professor Silliman, the younger, alluded to the discovery of the skeleton of an enormous lizard of eighty feet. The Professor inferred, as no living specimen of such magnitude has been found, that the species which it represents had degenerated. The verity of his position he rather singularly endeavored to enforce by an allusion to the well known existence of giants in old times. The following is the date upon which this singular hypothesis is based:

The giant exhibited at Rouen, 1833, the the Professor says, measured nearly eight teen feet.

Garaptus saw a girl that was ten feet high.

Fannius, who lived in the time of Eugene II, measured 11½ feet.

The Chevalier Scroz, in his voyage to the Peak of Teneriff, found in one of the caverns of that mountain the head of the Genich, who had sixty teeth, and was not less than 15 feet high.

The giant Farragus, slain by Orlando, nephew of Charlemagne, was 20 feet high.

In 1500, near Rouen, was found a skeleton, whose skull held a bushel of corn, and who was 19 feet high.

The giant Ricart was 33 feet high; his thigh bones were found in 1703, near the river Moderi.

In 1624, near the castle in Dauphine, a tomb was found 30 feet long, 15 feet wide, and 8 feet high, on which was cut the words, Meutobuchus Rex. The skeleton was found entire, 24 feet long, 10 feet across the shoulders, and 5 feet from breast bone to the back.

Near Palmero, in 1513, was found the skeleton of a giant 30 feet high, and in 1559, another 44 feet high.

Near Mazarino, in Sicily, in 1815, was found the skeleton of a giant 30 feet high. The head was the size of a hogshead, and each of his teeth weighed five ounces.

We have no doubt there were giants in those days, and the past was more prolific in producing them than the present. But the history of giants during the olden time was not more than that of dwarfs, several of whom were even smaller than the Thumbs and Nutts of our time.

ANOTHER BRIGAND OUTRAGE IN GREECE.

Another act of brigandage has alarmed all Greece, revived the general indignation at the misgovernment of the country, and convinced thinking men that the whole political system must be reorganized in order to save Greece from anarchy. A band of brigands, said to number about twenty, crossed the frontier from Turkey a few days since, marched into Greece four days unobserved, and, though reported to include men well known to the central and local authorities as possessing intimate acquaintance with the country around Livadeia, was allowed to take up its quarters in the neighbourhood of the town without discovery. Livadeia is a flourishing provincial town of 6,000 inhabitants, the centre of a rich agricultural district, the residence of wealthy landed proprietors, possessing a mayor, a municipal council and police and rural guards paid by the community. It is the residence of an eparch who represents the grandeur and inefficiency of the central administration in a kingdom without roads. On Tuesday, the 11th, Mr. Philon, the deputy of Livadeia, proprietor of a large hereditary landed estate in the vicinity, and Mr. Leonardides, in whose house he was staying, were carried off by brigands, who entered the town while it was still light. The manner of this capture in a town house was in accordance with the usual tacts of the brigands, and illustrates the neglect of all precautions on the part of a large force stationed at Livadeia to maintain public security. During the short Grecian twilight, six brigands walked into the town in parties of two, looking as like peasants as they could. They crept in at the door unnoticed, pinioned and gagged captives, and intimated and silenced the women before any alarm could be given. Other brigands were at the same time watching in the street to prevent anybody leaving or entering the house without being seized. After it was dark the brigands carried off their captives, taking them separately through the streets placed between two guards, and thus the band gained the open country. They declared to the women before they left the house that if any information was given, and a pursuit attempted, they would murder their prisoners. Their deed was therefore concealed for some hours, and they had the whole night to gain their place of concealment without being pursued by the irregular bands maintained by the Ministry of the Interior to watch over the public security. Hitherto no trace has been discovered of the coming and going of this band of twenty men. Great sympathy is felt for Mr. Philon, who is personally well known and highly esteemed. He is a man of education, has been elected President of the Chamber of Deputies and occupies a high political position.

ECONOMICAL HOUSEKEEPING.—We have now before us a circular published by the Sea Moss Farine Co., which we advise every one who takes an interest in the food question to read. It describes, concisely, the origin and uses of the edible Sea Moss Farine, and presents an array of scientific and other testimony in its favor which can hardly fail to convince the most skeptical of its paramount claims as an economic, wholesome, digestible, eminently nutritious, and very pleasant addition to the national caste. This at least is the conclusion at which many of the most eminent hotel keepers, artistic cooks, physicians, chemists, merchants, &c., of New York, have arrived, and they state their opinions on the subject over their own signatures, in the pamphlet to which we allude.

THE ROYAL MARRIAGE.—Three-and twenty years ago, when the Queen and the late Prince Consort paid a visit to Inverary Castle, her Majesty, with characteristic love of children, noted "a fair little fellow," a description of whom appears in the "Journal of Our Life in the Highlands." The passage, which has now a special interest, is as follows:—"Our reception was in the true Highland fashion . . . The pipers walked before the carriage and the Highlanders on either side as we approached the house. Outside stood the Marquis of Lorne, just two years old, a dear, white, fat, fair little fellow, with reddish hair, but very delicate features, like both his father and mother—he is such a merry, independent little child. He had a black velvet dress and jacket, with a "sporran" scarf, and Highland bonnet."

I can testify to the high therapeutical value of FELLOWS' COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES, and consider it deserving of attention by the profession generally.

Mayor of the City of St. John.

BREAKFAST—EPPS'S COCOA—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—The very agreeable character of this preparation has rendered it a general favourite. The CIVIL SERVICE GAZETTE remarks:—"The singular success which Mr. Epps attained by his homœopathic preparation of cocoa has not been surpassed by any experimentalist. By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills." Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold by the Trade only in ½lb., ¼lb., and ⅛lb. tin-lined packets, labelled JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.
