THE MISS-NOMERS. Miss Brown is exceedingly fair, Miss White is red as a berry. Miss Black has a grey head of hair.

Miss Graves is a flirt over merry ;

Miss Lightbody weighs sixteen stone,

Miss Hare wears a wig and has none,

Miss Rich can scarcely muster a guinea

And Miss Solemon is a sad ninny! Miss Mildmay's a terrible scold. Miss Dove's ever cross and contrary ; Miss Young is now grown very old, And Miss Heavyside's light as a fairy Miss Short is at least tive feet ten, Miss Noble's of humble extraction.

While Miss Still is forever in action. Miss Greene is a regular blue, Miss Scarlet looks pale as a lilly :

Miss Love has a hatred toward men.

Muss Violet ne'er shrinks from our view, And Miss Wiseman thinks all men silly Miss Goodchild is a naughty young elf, Miss Lyons from terror a fool, Miss Mee's not at all like myself, Miss Carpenter no one can rule!

Miss Saddler ne'er mounted a herse. WhileGroom from from the stable will run Miss Kilmere can't look at a corpse. And Miss Aimwell never levelled a gun; Miss Greathead has no brains at all. Miss Heartwell is ever complaining. Miss Dance ne'r has been at a ball. Overhearts Miss Fairweather likes reign-

Miss Wright she is constantly wrong. Miss Tickell, alas! is not funny; Miss Singer ne er warbled a seng. And alas! Miss Cash has no money Miss Bateman would give all she's worth To purchase a man to her liking. Miss Merry is shocked at all mirth. Miss Bexer the men don't find striking

Miss Bliss does with sorrow o'erflow. Miss Hope in despair seeks the tomb Miss Joy still anticipates woe. And Miss Charity's never "at home !" Miss Hamlet resides in the city, The nerves of Miss Steadfast are shaken: Miss Prettiman's beau is not pretty,

Miss Faithful her love has forsaken Miss Porter despises all froth. Miss Scales they'll make wait I thinking.

Miss Meekly is apt to be wroth.

Miss Lotty to meanness is sinking Miss Seymore's as blind as a bat, Miss Last at a party is first; Mi s Brindle dislikes a striped cat, And Miss Waters has always a thirst. Miss Knight is now changed into Day, Miss Day wanta to marry a Knight,

And Miss Steady assisted her flight No misapprehensions be making-Though wrong the dear sex to miss-call, There's no harm, I hope, in mistaking.

The French Government has just completed in L'Orient navy-yard a new armored vessel, which its architects believe will lead to a complete revolution in naval construction. It is named 'L'Espardon" (the Swordfish). Two powerful engines supply motive power, and allow it to rush at an enemy, to fly from him, and to pivot on itself. It presents a spherical surface scarcely visible above water. As if this spherical form was not enough to prevent boarding, the vessel is provided on deck with a number of small tubes. which enables the officers to inundate the the deck with scalding, blinding steam. It has an immense steel spur or break, 71 feet long and 12 inches in diameter, which will enable it to pierce the armor of the stoutest plated vessel. Its one gun (which on a tower in the centre of the vessel) has a range of 8,000 yards.
