SONG OF THE SEASONS. Gaunt winter flinging flakes of snow, Deep burdening field and wood and hill. Dim days, dark nights, slow trailing fogs.

And bleakened air severe and chill.

And still they change till all is done. Young spring with promise in her eyes, And fragrant breath from dewy mouth And magic touches for the nooks Of budding flowers when wind is south

And swift the seasons circling run-

And so they change till all is done. Then summer stands erect and tall, With early sunrise for the lawn, And all points West, North West and South Thick feliaged woods and glittering seas, And loud bird chirpings in the dawn. And swift the seasons circling run-And so they change till all is done.

> Brown autumn, quiet with ripe fruits, And haggards stacked with harvest gold. And fiery flushes for the leaves, And silent cloud skies soft outrolled. And so the seasons circling run-And still they change till all is done.

Swift speeds our life from less to more. This line offers the inducements of plea- The child, the man, the work, the rest, The sobering mind, the ripening soul, For so the seasons circling run-And swift they change till all is done.

For ever true to central force, And steadfast, come the balm or blight. And so indeed the seasons run-And last is best when all is done.

LOSS OF A GOVERNMENT SCHOONER. -The Stella Marr, which has for a long time plied as a packet between Halifax and St. Pierre, Miquelon, left the former port on the 25th of March for St. Pierre. On the morning of the 26th she struck on the south side of Sable Island, and became a total wreck. The crew and part of the cargo, rigging and sails were saved. The crew remained on the Island for more than a month, until the arrival of the Dominion steamer Lady Head, which took them off and carried them to Halifax, arriving there on Tuesday last.

FAITH IN PROVIDENCE. - The destruction of San Salvador by an earthquake is followed by a curious revelation of the temper of a people who have become accustomed to a severe shaking-up. Twice within eighteen years, that luckless city has been levelled by such shocks, but on the first occasion the proposal to remove to safer quarters was scornfully rejected by the survivors, and they went back to the old place and rebuilt it and re-occupied it, only to be again overwhelmed.
