CAPTAIN RANKIN. - A loud outery is being made against Capt. Rankin, of the steamer Renud, for alleged deserting of passengers at the time of their danger manly. Capt. Rankin is well known in Kingston Views in stock. Kingston, and his character is such that ne one would lightly accuse him of any gross dereliction of duty in such a trying time. We are hopeful that the Court of went ashore first because he was fully aware of the difficulty and danger of the act, and also of the necessity for prompt measures of relief, and of a personal dealing with and engaging for the rescue

LINDLEY'S THEATRE. - The audience in the City Hall last evening at the Theatre performance last evening was not quite so numerous as on the previous evening. The play was "Rip-Van-Winkle," founded on W shington Irving's romance of that character of "Rip" with unquestionable ability, and proved himself to be an acter TWO who understood the character he represented. Miss Florence Webster played her part as "Gretchen" wither usual good pany who participated in the play per- MCMILLAN & KERR. formed their parts creditably. Mr. Lindley "brought down the house" several times with his comic songs, which were received with demonstrations of approval.
