AT THE LAST.

Three little words within my brain Beat back and forth their one refrain. Three little words, whose dull distress Means everything and nothingness, Unbidden move my lips instead Of other utterance : She is dead.

Here, lingering, we talked of late Beside the hedge-grown garden gate; Till, smuling, ere the twilight fell She bade me take a last farewell. Those were the final words she said-But yesterday—and she is dead.

The color I had, praised before : The swaying length, where she would pass, For one last smile - and she is dead ! Could I have known what was to come.

Those hours had not been blind and dumb I would have followed close with Death Have striven for every glance and breat But now—the final word is said, The last look taken- she is dead.

We were not lovers—such as they
