You involuntarily grasp the rolling-pin and look O. S. STRANGE, M.D., Medical Examiner. around as though you have expected to see him. Then you call the girl to repack the barrel, and start up stairs to look after something that is easier to find, but finally change your mind, and pass the balance of the day in digging carpet tacks ! and worthless wood from the palms of your feet, and concecting lies about the wealth of your uncle; and the moon looks through the window at night, and touches up with a glow of burnished silver several lengths of stove-pipe, a halfdozen odd chairs, a sheet of dingy zinc, and a barrel with bedquilts foaming over the top. -Rubenstein's two hundred and fifteen
