"NEPOTISM" AND NEPOTISM.

Therefore Mr. BLAKE was guilty of 'ne- Parliament. potism.' So reasoned the Conservative journals. What are we to think, then, of the appointment by the Ottawa Government of a nephew of the Premier to a lucrative office in Manitoba, the chief dudals, about which so much ado was made in Mr. BLAKE's case, the appointee is a blood relative of the Premier, and the office a fat one, so that the charge of 'nepotism' could very fairly be laid at the feet of the man of clean hands, if the Opposition Press were inclined to attack him with the trumpery missiles with which the Tory prints are wont to assail Mr. BLAKE and his friends. In good truth, it is very apparent that Sir John is more ready to feather his own nest and those of his relatives than the gentlemen whom his organs so wildly charge with improper practices. But, perhaps, the Premier was moved to make the appointment by Governor Morris, who, if report speaks truly, would interpose no strenuous objection against his ex-Secretary being translated to the office of paymaster of the Manitoba Police, and could bear with more equanimity the sight of the public interests suffering in the matter of the Nor'-West Police than by the neglect of the duties of his own office. So Sir John has kindly pitchforked his relative into a snug berth, may hap in order to relieve his friend Mr. Morris from an uncomfortable burden. As he and his organs are so fond of accusing their opponents with being nepotists, and are continually citing English pracrelatives to offices in his gift, for which
