IMAGINARY. - A telegram from Kingston to the Provincial papers says :- "The things are not what they seem. Life is City Council have presented the Police real! single blessedness a fib; man thou Magistrate with a handsome horse and phaeton, in recognition of his valuable services." There is no ground for such a report (though no doubt Mr. Strange wishes shall 'tell.' Stop, young woman-that there was) and its publication is singular, will do. to say the least.

CAUGHT COLD. - A gentleman passing home last night noticed an intoxicated individual asleep on the grass. As the night was quite cold, the gentleman roused the sleeper and told him he had better go home. The man was very hoarse and coughed a great deal. He stared in a bewildered way at the fence, and then look ing at the gentleman, he said "Now I know how I caught such a bad cold. The fence is all open; makes fearful draft, shure ! T's wat 'tis."
