IRON WORKS,

Important to the Users of Steam.

REASONS

WHY TANDY'S PATENT BOILER IS SUPERIOR TO ALL OTHERS:

1st.—It is simple in construction, easy to keep clean and less liable to get out of order than any other Boiler.

2nd.—It is constructed on sound scientific principles, the water circulating as near as practicable at right angles with the action of the heat.

3rd.—The water circulates inside the tubes which gives double the strength and one third more effective heating surface with the same number and description of tubes when fixed in an ordinary Boiler.

4th.—It is one third lighter than other Boilers with the same amount of evaporative power and cheaper in a corresponding degree.

5th.—It cannot prime, it gives perfectly dry steam and effects a saving in fuel of at least 30 per cent on any ordinary Boiler.

6th.—It requires no brick work to set it and is applicable to every variety of purpose, both for steam engines and heating buildings by water or steam.

☞ N.B.—I will replace any other boiler now in use with my Patent Boiler and take the saving in fuel in part payment. It can be seen in operation at my Works.

One of the Testimonials.

From Dr Duncan McCallum, Montreal:

I, the undersigned, have been suffering very much for the last two years from Rheumatism in the ankle joint, so much so that I was often prevented from attending to my calling, but three applications of Dr Birnbaum's Rheumatism and Gout Remedy gave me that relief from pain and stiffness which I did not experience for the last two years, and after eight days' use of this remedy I find myself entirely cured.

I owe this statement to the public, to the profession and to the merits of the genuine article. DUNCAN MCCALLUM M.D.

PROSPECTUS.

The 'NATIONAL INSURANCE COMPANY,' of Montreal, was incorporated under an Act passed at the last Session of the Dominion Parliament, for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance. The promoters believe there is ample room for more Canadian Insurance Companies, and that their organization will not only supply a want of additional facilities for doing business, but will serve a patriotic purpose of building up Home Institutions, keeping in the county the capital so much needed for its development.

The Capital Stock of the National is $2,000 000 (with power to increase to $5,000,000) in 20,000 shares of $100 each. Ten per cent is payable on subscription, which will give the Company, on the present Capital, the sum of $200,000, which is all that is required to place the Company on a sound financial basis. The remainder of the capital is subject to the calls of the Directors, although it is not anticipated that any further calls will be necessary.

PARSON KELLY.

Old Parson Kelly's fair young wife, Irene,
Died when but three months wed,
And no new love has ever come between
His true heart and the dead.
Though now for sixty years the grass has grown
Upon the grave, and on its simple stone
The moss
And yellow lichens creep her name across.

Outside the door, in the warm summer air,
The old man sits for hours.
The idle wind, that stirs his silver hair,
Is sweet with June's first flowers;
But dull his mind, and clouded with the haze
Of life's last weary, November days;
And dim
The past and present look to him.

The sunny scene around, confused and blurred,
The twitter of the birds,
Blend in his mind with voices long since heard
Glad childhood's careless words,
Old hymns and scriptures texts; while indistinct
Yet strong one thought with all fair things is linked—
The bride
Of his lost youth is ever by his side.

By its sweet weight of snowy blossoms bowed,
The rose branch tree hangs low,
And in the sunshine, like a fleecy cloud,
Sways slowly to and fro.
"Oh, is it you," the old man asks, Irene?
And smiles and fancies that her face he's seen
Beneath
The opening roses of a bridal wreath.

Down from the gambrel roof a white dove flits
The sunshine on its wings,
And lighting close to where the dreamer sits,
A vision with it brings—
A golden gleam from some long vanished day,
Dear love! he calls; then, Why will you not stay?
He sighs,
For, at his voice, the bird looks up and flies.

Oh, constant heart! whose failing thoughts cling fast
To one long laid in dust,
Still seeing, turned to thine, as in the past,
Her look of perfect trust;
Her soft voice hearing in the south wind's breath
Dream on! Love pure as thine shall outlive death,
And when
The gates unfold, her eyes meet thine again

A Drop of Joy in Every Word.

Flemington, Hunterdon Co., N.J. June 26, 1874.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.: Dear Sir—It is with a happy heart that I pen these lines to ackowledge that you and your Golden Medicine Discovery and Purgative Pellets are blessings to the World. These medicines cannot be too highly praised, for they have almost brought me out of the grave. Three months ago I was broken out with large ulcers and sores on my body, limbs and face. I procured your Golden Medical Discovery and Purgative Pellets, and have taken six bottles, and to day I am in good health, all those ugly ulcers having healed and left my skin in a natural, healthy condition. I thought at one time I could not be cured. Although I can but poorly express my gratitude to you, yet there is a drop of joy in every word I write. God's blessing rest on you and your wonderful medicines is the humble prayer of

Yours truly, JAMES O. BELLIS.

When a medicine will promptly cure such terrible eating ulcers and free the blood of the virulent poison causing them who can longer doubt its wonderful virtues? Dr. Pierce, however, does not wish to place his Golden Medical Discovery in the catalogue of quack patent nostrums by recommending it to cure every disease, nor does he so recommend it, but what he does claim is this, that there is but one form of blood disease that it will not cure, and that disease is cancer. He does not recommend his Discovery for that disease, yet he knows it to be the most searching blood cleanser yet discovered, and that it will free the blood and system of all other known blood poisons, be they animal, vegetable or mineral. The Golden Discovery is warranted by him to cure the worst forms of skin diseases, as all forms of Blotches, Pimples and Eruptions, also all Glandular Swellings, and the worst form of Scrofulous and Ulcerated Sores of Neck, Legs or other parts and all Scrofulous Diseases of the Bones, as White Swellings, Fever Sores, Hip Joint and Spinal Diseases, all of which belong to Scrofulous diseases.

Hemorrhoids (or Piles) are permanently cured by Mathieu's Pile Ointment, or money refunded. Price $1 per Pot, or 6 Pots for $5. Sold wholesale and retail by the Wingate Chemical Company, Montreal, and retail by all druggists, or will be forwarded to any address on receipt of price by Dr. E. Mathieu, 198 Notre Dame Street, Montreal.

A CARD.—To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D., Bible House, New York City

As nutriment is latent force and as the accumulation of force is dependent upon the activity of that part which absorbs nutriment, it follows that any process or means which provides for the assimilation of food, must augment the energy of the great nervous centres. Fellows' Hypophosphites contains the principles which acting upon the stomach and lacteals, cause the due and perfect assimilation of food and thus restores that energy which makes a strong and various manhood.

☞ Thousands of people are now carelessly allowing themselves to drift through the preliminary symptoms of consumption, under the fatal delusion that they are troubled with nothing but a slight cold. How necessary is it then that a cold should be cared for from its inception, and every exertion used to get rid of it. Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers will stop the hacking cough in in a few minutes and by their influence on the bronchial and pulmonary organs all fears of dangerous results will soon be dissipated—but they must be taken in time. Sold by all druggists and country dealers. Price 25c per box.

Owners of Horses Rejoicing.—And why not? And who knows but what their horses are rejoicing as well; who can prove the contrary? But their owners rejoice because of the astonishing and almost miraculous effects on their horses of "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." Some were lean and poor having no appetite, others would devour their food ravenously, yet derive no benefit from it; some were hide-bound, with rough and shaggy hair; others had several colds and coughs; many had the heaves and other complaints peculiar to horses; on all it operated like a charm, the disease or complaint was speedily removed, the appetite and digestive organs corrected, the skin softened and a sleek and shining appearance given to the coat all without any danger to, or preventing the horse being used. Remember the name and see that the signature of Hurd & Co.'s is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., proprietors. Sold by all medicine dealers.

A LEAP YEAR PLOT.

It was leap year, the—— day of June, 1868, and Tom Rathburn sat in his office deep in the complexities of a difficult case for Tom was a thriving young lawyer who held a monopoly of all the important law business in the town of W——

A handsome fellow was Tom, and a clever one, and enough of a catch to keep in a continual palpitation the hearts of some twenty or thirty susceptible young ladies, and the head of their manœuvering mammas, to say nothing of brothers, who liked influence, and male parents with an eye to the main chance; and Tom bore his honors meekly, did his duty by all, and would have acted Lothario to perfection were it not that, however, he attempted to conceal it, every one was pretty sure that his heart had been given away some two or three years previous, and one knew it, and that was lovely Mary Field, who held the gift fee.

Ah, but poor Mary! it was doubtful if, after all, the gift was worth the having, for it was of that troublesom nature, that from the moment it came into her possession her peace of mind went away, and at the time of which we speak, her patience was nearly gone too.

A long engagement is a weary thing, particularly a long engagement kept secret, and more particularly still when no earthly reason exists why that engagement should not find a speedy end in matrimony.

But Tom "hadn't quite settled yet," and he "wanted to be better able to keep Mary like a lovely lady, as she was," and so forth and so on, ad infinitum. In fact though Tom was awfully in love, he liked dallying, and had an instinctive horror of housekeeping and babies. And so matters went on, and poor Mary was talked about and wondered at and speculated upon, and kept denying soft impeachments, until the accumulated Pelin of fibs she had piled to "o'ertop the shyish head of blue Olympus,'i and that before very long, too.

So affairs stood on the day of which we write, when Tom sat in his office studying out his difficult case, and Mary sat at home, perhaps—who knows?—trying to study out Tom.

But other business, equally urgent, was being carried on, if we might judge from the excited and determined countenance of a certain triumvirate, which was holding a solemn and important conclave in the little back parlor of Miss Minerva Williams, a dear, good, though somewhat vehement soul of forty summers. Miss Betsy Perkins, her contemporary in years held the chair, and Miss Mercy Moulson—Widow Moulson, as she was called—completed the distinguished trio.

The proceedings were carried on with much mystery and considerable emphatic talking, and after some two hours debate, terminated with sundry teacups full of warm consolation, the meeting adjourned and the parties seperated, mischief sparkling in the brilliant eyes of the fair widow tranquil complacency holding her throne in Miss Betsy's face, and high and stern resolve distinguished the uncompromising features of the warlike Minerva.

Not a very long time had passed when there came a knock at Tom's office door, and the prompt answer was—

"Come in!"

In walked Mrs. Mercy Moulson.

Our hero's politeness was excessive, and amid much bowing, speechifying and so forth, the fair visitant was comfortably installed in a chair, and Tom waited, all attention, for the disclosure of her business.

"You are, perhaps, surprised at seeing me, Mr. Rathburn?"

'Oh, dear, no,' replied the gallant Tom. 'Lawyers are never surprised, only happy," etc., etc.

"Hem," said the widow, 'I really—'

'Reassure yourself, my dear madam; take time," said Tom, considerately, perfectly sure that the lady had called to intrust him with law business of a delicate and lucrative nature. 'If you say so I will continue for a while—'

'Oh, no, it is best to have it over.—A—a excuse me; but—. This is very embarrasing.'

'Oh, no,' said Tom soothingly, 'no at all. I am the recipient of so many confidences you need not mind it all. Is there anything I can do for you?'

'Yes, I have come—or, rather no—and yet—. Oh, how dreadful it is to be a lonely unprotected woman.'

'Ah, it is indeed.' (A condolatory sigh from Tom.)

'For one who has been—been otherwise,' and the widow buried her face in a cambric handkerchief, 'the—daily sadness of a life of—I may say retrospect—musing in tears and solicitude over—over Mr Rathburn, never having been a widow yourself, you don't know what a doleful creature a widow is.'

'Ah, I know,' said Tom, quite prepared in the exuberance of his sympathy to declare himself a widow, or anything else that might be satisfactory. 'If I can serve you'—here he pressed her hand—'command—me."

'Do you remember my deceased husband!' inquired the lady, tremulously.

'I do, madame.'

'Now we're coming to it—some question of a will,' said Tom to himself.

'Was I a good wife to him!'

'Ah, madame, he best knew how good.'

'And could—could another love me, do you think!'

'Think!' was the exaggerated answer of the rash Thomas. 'I do not think, but I know it.

'Oh, happiness—dear Tom!' and the widow encircled his neck with her plump arms, and hid her blushing face on his shoulder. 'Then could you—would you marry me! It is leap year, you know.'

'Bless my soul, Mrs. Moulson, madame you're mad,' exclaimed Tom, staggering beneath the weight of his stout and helpless burden.

'Oh, no!' she said, leaning still more heavily; 'only happy Tom.'

'But—this is too much. Sit down there will you!' and he bundled the tender creature unceremoniously into the chair. 'I say you are mad.'

'I say I am not,' said the lady, positively. 'You see, Tom—'

'Don't call me Tom—I' won't stand it.'

'Dear me! it's you that is mad, I know Come now be reasonable. You can't refuse me and you know it, for it's leap year.'

'The duce I can't!' said Tom defiantly. 'I say, you had better get out of this for it's carrying a joke a little too far.'

'It's no joke at all' said the widow, beginning to sob. "You unkind, cru l man, oh! oh!'

'Oh, for the Lord's sake, do stop! Do you wan
