There it is again. The Woman's Centennial Journal points proudly to the fact, as a new proof of wowan's superiority to her tyrant, that the proportion. of women among those affected by sunstroke is very small. This fact is thought to prove that either the dress of women is better suited to the climate than that o men, or else the system, less heated by intoxicating liquors, is in a purer condition and more capable of withstanding extraneous influences of this nature. is also broadly hinted that perhaps they (the women) not only have greater power of endurance but on all occasions know how to take care of themselves, and how to not with becoming sonse and discretion But it may or may not have occurred the Journal that men expose themselves to the sun oftener and longer.

English statesmen are beginning to di cuss the question whether the nav supremacy of the nation can be sustained much longer, or whether that supremacy has not already become a thing of t past. So long as the English fleet wa thought equal to the combined nave power of France and Russia the coveted supremacy was assured. In this calcula tion no respect was paid to the other European powers, as they were, until lately, practically without a navy of suf ficient strength to deserve respect. Bu this condition of affairs has greatly chang ed within a few year, and now both Ger many and Italy can show a marine force of considerable strength. The scheme introduced by the Imperial Government of Germany in 1870, for the constructi of a navy which would correspond with the marvellous development which destinies of Prussia had undergone, now being carried out and will make an effective fleet more than equivalent to an equal number of vessels in the service of any other power.

THE PLATFORMS.

The Danocratic nominees for Presiden and Vice-President of the United State have, after a lengthy agitation of the great questions embodied in the St. Louis platform, accepted the nominations and given their views to the world. Much interest naturally centered in this declar ation of principles by the Democratic standard-beacers, as the position assume at once determines the lines of demarca tion separating the two great parties, an upon which the coming struggle must b fought out. The Republican candidate had resolutely shouldered the responsibilities and claimed from their friends recognition of their principles. It was well known, also, that Tilden and Hendricks were far from agreeing upon one and the chief question at issue - the cur rency dispute. The former favors hardmoney notions while the latter has been baudling his much-abused rag baby. ments, but not to take offect immediate- mand

ly. They want to wait for more propitions times, which, accordings to their horoscope, are discernable in the political heavens. There are many hard-money Democrate who must take exceptions to the expressed views of their candidates on the currency question, and our, pinion is that Hayes and Wheeler have decidedly the savantage on this score, and will find their position much strengthened since their opponents have offered a contrast There is little or no difference of opinion among the Republicans as regards the necessity for an immediate resumption of specie payments, the declarations of principles by their candidates being accopted with enthusiasm by the whole lakes party. Perhaps the Democrata will disgover before the election next November that a mistake has been made, as the on this subject. The condition of the South and the feeling growing out of the late rebellion are matters of serious port in the present history of American politics, and both parties naturally try t stand well on the questions involved. Tilden makes a specious bid for support from that quarter, but the prospects are way to the Fergus pic-nic. TUESDAY EV'NG, AUG. 8, 1876 rather on the side of the Republicans. On the Civil Service, Chinese and other points the promises are equally fair both sides, the general record of the parties being the only real authority for forming an opinion.

The crop is usually ready for the machine about the 20th of July, though in some neighborhoods, where a clay soil predominates, the harvest is pecessarily later. The first care is to have the crop exposed to as little rain as possible after being out and while curing for the barn or stack. Too much moisture during this stage of the harvesting will color the grain, and tepreciate its market value. No matter how large and plump the kernel may be, if the bright, popular color is wanting a lower grade of excellency is accorded. The late term of dry weather has greatly favored the harvesting of the barley crop in this section, and we are informed the color will be fully up to the desired standard. But in other respects the quality is inferior, but few fields coming up to the average for size and plumpness ject of influencing financial operations. of grain. This deficiency is attributed to the late, cold spring, which greatly retarded sowing; to the severe drouth that | teresting, owing to the participation thereimmediately followed the advent of warm weather; and finally to the extreme heat of the early part of July, which brought the grain to a premature ripeness. If we blowing down eight houses, had no other causes to militate against the farmer's prospects in this respect, the quality of the barley crop this year would place a high price out of the question. COAL OIL SHUGGLING.

This morning another seizure was made by Mr. George Briggs, now a Custon House official located on Wolfe Island It seems that Briggs got wind, of the smuggling in some way and kept a watch for it, and his patience was rewarded at Opening Up the Following Streets o'clock this morning by sighting the sloop Flirt, (of Oswego) bound down the river. He gave pursuit in a small boat, and when off Howe Island and within hailing distance, demanded the surrender of the craft, which was refused at first, but on Mr. Briggs presenting a revolver and pointing it at the helmsman be came to, and allowed Mr. Briggs to board her and take possession. The sloop contained 10 barrels of oil-the American article which the shipper was conveying to some point near here. This morning the Flirt was brought to Kingston in tow of the str Queen. Both oil and vessel have, course, been confiscated, and presume will be sold at an early date The vessel is valued at about $100; the oil at about 30 cents per gallon. This is the second time the Flirt has been seized by Briggs, having been taken last Friday for attempting to clear for Oswego without clearance papers. The craft was then liberated, on the captain giving bonds. There now seems to be no doubt years past, showing that the merits of the ÆINA have only to made be known to be appreciated by the insuring public. A strong fea-ture in its favor is that the whole of its TWEN. TY-TWO MILLION DOLLARS of Assets is invested in the United States and Canada where double the rate of Interest is obtained that is procurable in Europe. At 4 per cent compound interest, $100 increases in 50 years to only $710; while at 8 per cout, it amounts to $1,690; or nearly seven times as much. It is not surprising therefore that the ÆTNA can afford great advantages. TO AN HONEST, ENERGETIC, IN LUENTIAL GENTLEMAN, who can devote his whole talents to the work, a fine opportunity for success in life is now open in menaging this Company's General Agency for Central Canada, under and salary commission.
