CATARRH.

The Constitutional Remedy.

The Constitutional Catarrh Remedy is the first article placed before the public that proposed to cure Catarrh by taking up the constitutional remedy. It is the result of the whole difficulty, and thousands upon thousands of letters have been received by the proprietors, setting forth the marvels cures, and what is now known to the medical world, and all other ailments at the hands of Dr. Catarrh—what it always does. The following statements are only samples of what we have received from friends and foes, people to whom you can write, add not be us ones. Catarrh and its attendant evils, cold head, hacking cough, incipient consumption, bronchitis, pleurisy, &c., are the subjects of languidness, loss of appetite and general weakness, all leave together when the Constitutional Catarrh Remedy is taken as recommended.

Catarrh Remedy is the subject of Littleton's "Catarrh Remedy."

T. J. B. HARDING, Esq., Brockville, 1876.

My Dear Sir,—I respectfully endorse, from my own experience, the favorable account of the Constitutional Catarrh Remedy. It has affected me relief from Catarrh completely.

I used it for a week, and could not take copper ease of my self in bad weather.

Yours respectfully, C. W. HOPE.

2. T. J. B. HARDING, Esq., Brockville, 1876.—Sir: Having had Catarrh for a number of years, and having tried nearly all the remedies advertised that promised relief or cure, without the desired results. I used the Constitutional Remedy, and it was useless in trying to cure the disease. That was until fall to give the "Constitutional Catarrh Remedy" a trial, and did so, with great success. I am now perfectly well, and happy now to say, that after using three bottles, I am entirely cured and do not feel as if I ever had Catarrh. I also especially recommend this Remedy to those who have disease, and am satisfied that if they will only try one bottle it will need no other recommendation, and will convince the most sceptical.

Yours truly, T. J. B. HARDING, Esq., Brockville, 1876.
