Ald. Drennan spoke of leaving the matter to the Committee on Streets to look after, as it was the duty of that Committee to do so. Ald. McRossie said the Company was filling up the streets.

Ald. Drennan protested against the way in which the streets were being repaired, large boulders and dirt being put down to fly in dust on the streets. It was the duty the Chairman on Streets to see that the work was properly done. Ald. McRossie said the Company were making preparations to cover the streets with gravel, laying down a bed under it. Ald. Allen said it was time something was done to compel the Company to clean and repair the streets before the city should take steps to clean them. It was the duty of the Chairman to see that the Company did their duty properly. The privilege given was a great one, and surely they ought to do some thing in the matter.

Ald. Pense moved that the Mayor's com munication be referred to the Streets Committee with power to act. He drew attention to the fact that the Company did not do any more damage than the Water and Gas Companies in opening the streets.

After a few remarks by Ald. Drennan, Ald. Walkem asserted that the Company had not laid their track properly. On Kin street one side of the track was six or eigh inches higher than the other.
