The County Clerk Throws up the

The organ of the County Clerk or Thursday last attempted to reply to the charge that that official was a contracto with the County Council, and bluntly "makes a clean breast of it" to use its own language. After giving the particulars of the establishment of the sheet it procoods : "As the year drew to a close, ill health and other engagements compelled another change, and then it was that the plant &c., fell into Mr Elkington's hands and from general editor he became proprietor, but only until such time as a purchaser could be found, willing to take the plant without necessitating too great a sacrifice. t will be remembered that in a letter to the Whig the County Clerk said "as to the paragraph relating to my having a contract with the Corporation of the County of Frontenac, I beg to reply that I am legally advised that this charge is altogether unfounded and not within the meaning of the Municipal Act." What a pity all the other County Clerks had not Mr Elkington's legal adviser, as by that means they could turn a decent penny by contracting with their respective Councils and might even

MANIPULATE THE CONTRACTS to help their friends at an odd time What a pity the County Treasurer had not had this "legal advisor" on a recent occasion, he might have fared differently, and snapped his fingers at his enemies. The County Clerk, however, after all, C. WRIGHT, Wellington-st. appears not to have had much faith in his "legal adviser" as he adds

(ANOTHER BORILS SALE) "that notwithstanding the legal advice he has received, and to estop any question as to his right to be interested in any contract with the corporation of the county. Mr Elkington has consented to make a considerable sacrifice, and has when it bid fair to become a remunerative investment for the time, anxiety and outlay expended thereon." The County Clerk conveniently forgets to name the fice ! An explanation of this circumstance would probably let in a little light upon the conhection of the County Clerk with the Gazette.

ANOTHER ADMISSION. an indiscreet friend, and we are of opinion that some members of the County Council will scarcely thank him for the following : "Long prior to 1877 it had been felt, and often expressed, that the County paid too dear for its whistle that is, its printing and advertising - and did not receive an adequate amount of support from the ocal press. This feeling was brought to a focus at the beginning of last year, and a meeting of some of the leading ratepayers and members of the County Counci was called to discuss the subject and the feasibility of a journal being established ham. After the transaction of the busiwhich should essentially be the County ness the meeting adjourned for two Mr McDonald, a practical cutter of over 20 paper, furnishing to the ratepayers the weeks. years' experience in the largest cities in fullest information on all matters concerning the County, and, as much as possible, to be non-political and free from party spirit. ## The Double-Headed Official.

The County Clerk's organ has an article regarding the printing of the minutes the work himself owing, as he says, to as the many who are using our "being crowded with other county work ?" (what an admission!) asked the News to do them for him, which was done, and $104 charged. Any intelligent printor would say that there is nothing very remarkable in this, as if the County Clerk got all the county work, as a matter of course, he could afford to print | times at the minutes so much the cheaper. The accounts of 1875 which, probably, if the County Clerk had been attending to the duties for which he was drawing his salary from the county ratepayers, would have been published in 1876 were included in this, and probably the County Caller Co Clerk's experience as a publisher or printer has made him acquainted with the fact that figure work is worth double the price of ordinary composition. We may say that Mr Stacey, the accountant of the News, denies the accuracy of the R. & J. GARDINER county contractor's statement with reference to the amount to be paid for the print. ing of the minutes, and says he distinctly told him that they could not be done for $1 a page. As to the question of dictation we fancy it is full time the members of the County Council kept the Clerk in his Which we guarantee the best value ever To PARENTS : proper place as their servant and not their master, and we shall be very much surprised if he is not told so very promptly. Mr Elkington had a very fair chance given him, and if he has thrown it away he has no person to blame but himself.
