The Public Expenditure of the

Hon. Mr Campbell-I contend it is perfectly true, and everyone knows it, that the exertions of the Immigration Department are not directed to procuring immigrants from the United States, save as regards expatriated French Canadians, but from Europe, and my hon friend from Saugeon stated distinctly it was the immigrants that arrived at Quebec he referred to in his statement, because they are the only fruit the Government can take credit for from the expenditure on immigration. My hon, friend from Sangeon included the arrivals at Halifax, St. John, and Portland, as well as the arrivals at Quebec, in his statement. The arrivals from the United States into Manitoba, numbering over 2,084, he has excluded, and why not? What possible connection can they have with this expenditure? Hon. Mr Pelletier-I will show you

Hon. Mr Campbell-Then the next item is most extraordinary of all-"reported with settler's goods by custom houses, 11,759." These people come of their own free will into this country, yet the Government take credit for bringing them here as immigrants produced by the labours of the Department of Agriculture. I acquit the hon. Minister of Agriculture of intentional misrepresentation, but could anything be more misleading than to point to these arrivals as the result of the expenditure of his department? The hon. gentleman also stated that the refunds from the provinces had not been credited by the hon. Senator from Saugeen. He has credited them. They are in the Public Accounts, and my hon, friend deducted them, and the result is the net eximmigrants was $209,000. The hon, gentleman also charged him with not having credited the Icelandic immigrants' refund. F. RIGNEY'S MOVEMENT That also was deducted, and is not included in the $209,000.

Hon. Mr Pelletier-What year do you I referonly to the speech of this Session and the replies to it, and I say it was answered in a way that was misleading by the Minister of Agriculture. The $509, 000 represents the expenditure after making these deductions, and the result of it has been to bring some 7,000 immigrants into this country, making the per capita cost $26,50 per head. I carelessly stated it a few moments ago as $27.

Hon. Mr Pelletier-1 will prove that to be incorrect when you have done. Hon. Mr Campbell-I now turn for a few moments to the hon. Senator from Lambton, who found fault with my hon. friend from Saugeen for introducing financial matters into this Chamber, where he said we have no machinery for enquiring into the public accounts. He went so far as to say it diminished the efficiency or usefulness of this House, and said my hon, friend had "railed" at or brought "railing accusations" against the Government. With reference to the charge that it was an error to introduce financial matters in this House, and that its usefulness Kingston and Pembroke T Depot, ters in this House, and that its usefulness has been prejudiced thereby. I ask hon. gentleman who heard the speech of my Ferguson's Block, Princess-stree | friend from Saugeen last Session, whether they found, when they visited their homes and other parts of the country, that the reputation or usefulness of the House was

New Clothing Store not in the eyes of the people, increased by that speech, and the debate upon it? Hon. gentleman-Hear, hear. Hon. Mr Campbell-I daresay these debates and investigations have been inconvenient to the Government and disliked by the hon. Senator for Lambton, but that they have diminished the usefulness of this House, I utterly deny, and I am surrounded by hon, gentlemen who know that the House has not been injuriously affected, but quite the reverse, by the debates of last Session and this Session, connected with this class of subjects. With regard to the accusation of "railing at the Government," what could be more unfair? Does my hon. friend from Saugeen ever make a statement that he does not follow up by figures and has gone into those figures as he has done? Italian Warehouse, Which of us exposes himself so little to A Very Large and Well Assorted | charges of that kind? I am amazed at the industry of my hon. friend who, removed as he is, I believe, thoroughly from poli-Consisting of English, Scotch, French and | tical aspirations, and with no motives but Canadian Tweeds of the best manufacture. | the good of the country and the advancespent week after week, again and again, preparing those statements which have borne the brunt of every enquiry. S far from being open to the accusation of railing. I think the House will say he is entitled to, and will receive at the hands of the majority of the people of this country, every credit for his exertions, and the result he has achieved. The hon. gentlemen opposite charge my hon. friend with having based his statements on a fallacy-the expenditure of 1873-4. have already answered that in my remarks on the speech of the hon. Secretary of Four Doors Below the Albion Hotel, and State, and I will not again refer to it The hon. Squator from Lambton said the Government were committed, when they entered office, to an expenditure of $96, the Pacific Railway and meant that this Government was committed to that amount, they certainly have not gone on with it, save as they themselves thought expedient. Outside of that I do not know what public works there are cause such an expenditure. Then said there were $35,000,000 of the pub lie debt to be provided for. They ought to be exceedingly grateful they had an opportunity to provide for it. They aimply reduced the rate of interest, and have all the credit of doing so. Whether they could have reduced it still more, I will not discuss now. The hon. Senator (Mr Brown) shouted this statement at us with great vehemence, as though he were mentioning some appalling Where is the room for this violent mode of attack adopted by the hon. gentleman ! He not only referred to all those facts, but charged my hon friend from Saugeen, in addition, with having stated things which were not correct, having charged them with not presenting the accounts truly. The fact is, my hon.
