Our Paris Letter.

HOW THE FRENCH SPEND SUNDAY AT THE EXPOSITION-THE DAY THAT THE PRESI-DENT OF THE FRENCH REPUBLIC ATTENDS A HORSE RACE-THE EXPOSITION NOT YET READY FOR VISITORS OR DESCRIPTION - EX-ORBITANT CHARGES AND HYPERBOLICA EXPECTATIONS OF PARISIANS-THE BACK. WARDNESS OF THE U. S. AGRICULTURAL EXHIBIT.

(From our regular Correspondent.) Americans will remember the agitation the Sunday Exhibition question during our Centenuial, in Philadelphia. Here the que tion has never been discussed. It is not likely, when President McMahon and Gov ernment officials attend a horse race, as they did last Sunday at the Bois de Boulogne, that the municipal authorities will attempt to interfere with the more innocent recrea tions of the populace. It is doubtful if any class of visitors or exhibitors here, those from England and the United States perhaps excepted, are at all surprised or shooked at this Sabbath breaking. But though the shopkeeper keeps open his shop, and masons and carpenters are at work on buildings, though an American has to look at the almanac to reassure himself that it is the first day of the week, there seems still to remain a tradition in the French heart that Bill rejoice that it has been defeated outthis day is not quite like the others of the seven. It is the favourite day for heliday. On Sunday, at a very early hour, thousands of holiday makers flock towards th Exhibition from all parts of Paris. Every railway, omnibus, steamhoat; every "tramway" (the name given to street cars here) is taken by storm, and at all the stations a dense crowd is constantly forming. Senate. Late votes had on questions more Hundreds of cabs, loaded with whole families, may be seen all going in the same direction. At the gates long files gather and slowly pass through, those behind waiting for their turn with the philosophic patience of a French mob, except when it is charged with revolution. The Sunday visitors make the most of their time; as soon as they are past the barrier they spread in all directions, not a nook being left unexplored. They ex. amine every detail of the show with search ing interest, enter every building, and station evidently come to see all that can be seen in eight or nine hours, and they do not "fritter" away their time after the manner of the idle languid, blaze, week day visitor. Towards twelve a general need of refreshments is felt for Frenchmen have had nothing but a roll and cup of coffee since the day before. The cheap restaurants (most of the restaurants inside the grounds are very exerbitant in their charges) are soon tilled to overflowing. but the majority of the visitors seem to be of opinion that even the cheapest restaurants are too high in their charges, for they have brought a luncheon with them, which they eat standing. Sitting room is certainly one of the great accessities of this Exhibition. and shade is another absent desideratum: so the extempore breakfasters have to make their meal, as best they may, without the benches and sylvan surroundings which made the improvised picnics in Fairmont Park such an agreeable feature of the Centennial Exposition. Every week the details of the Exposition furnish greater interest, and though, at first glance, the improvements of the grounds and. buildings are almost imperceptible, on closer examination one sees an approach towards completion at a hundred different points. Sign of the Red Flag. Certain parts of the grounds which were, last week, in a very disagreeable condition guests come in very large numbers, prices a needle to an anchor. Washington Letter.

Washington, D.C., June 8, 1878, There has been perceptible progress few days. It always helps along business to have a day fixed for adjournment, and this year, though the 17th instant was and is thought by many to be too early, yet the increased number of hours of the daily sessions and the greater attention of the important | and at Very Moderate Prices, Committees to business will probably enable ing any necessary measures. It was settled on Wednesday that Scott's Texas Pacific Railroad subsidy bill should go over to the next session. A vote was reached in the House on Mr. Wood's tariff bill, and it was killed. Senator Blaine succeeded in getting through the Senate, by making one of the happiest speeches of his life, a bill giving a subsidy to two lines of and one from New Orleans. The general limsteamships to Brazil-oue from New York pression is that the House will agree to this. No other subsidy bill has a possibility of

The appropriation bills are mostly in an advanced position, and both Houses, through | Choice Redfern Wheat, the Conference Committees, show a disposition to yield since they find the bills must faul if not agreed to by the 17th. The Army Appropriation bill and the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation bill are the two on which the greatest contests will occur. Both Houses have agreed to the amendment to the former bill transferring the Indian Bureau to the War Department. and this transfer will probably be made Secretary Sherman has been sharply criticised for his seemingly hesitating course when called before the Committee to plead as to the authority of a letter put in evidence by Anderson as a copy of one written him and Webber by Mr. Sherman. It is contended that there is nothing in the letter inconsistent with the strictest integrity, though not particularly calculated, perhaps, to forward the work of 'disestablishing the machine;" and it was generally the opinion that Mr. Sherman would have better maintained the position assumed in his letter to Potter had he acknowledged or denied its authorship outright, or, if uncertain, to have said so while admitting his willingness to father its sentiments under certain circumstances, Mr Stanley Matthews has been unquestion ably left in an unenviable position by his letters to Anderson and Anderson's to him. exhibited before the Committee. Substantially, they make him appear to have listened to Anderson's stories of Republican frauds in Louisiana, and then to have busied himself in procuring for him (Anderson) a good, fat Federal office; as a sort of payment in full for Anderson's share in the campaign and election villaintes, and for the surrender of all compromising papers he claimed to hold in Matthews' possession. But only one side has yet been heard, and the same may be said of Mr Sherman. Matthews has emphatically denied any improper motive in what he did for Anderson, from his seat

Senate, and has requested an investigation, which was unanimously voted. The Senate's disinclination to concur in the army reduction voted by the House has been strengthened by late reports of Indian outbreaks. The reduction to 20,000 men was defeated by a vote of 40 to 19 yesterday. A Commission to inquire into the expediency of army reorganization was voted, and the Committee favour the transfer of the care of the Indians to the War Department, with but two dissenting votes. The Resumption Act repealers were badly defeated yesterday in the Senate, which insures us against further important financial legislation this season. Those opposed to Wood's absurd Tariff right, rather than have the consideration deferred till the next session. Wood, of course, feels very much out up over it, because, under the circumstances, it cannot be regarded as other than a very severe reflection upon that Reformer's methods. Mr Blaine made about the best argument of which subsidy is susceptible the other day in the tion. or less directly in its favour seem to show a partial reaction from the extremes to which we were pushed by the credit mobelier and Pacific mail scandals, and there is again manifested a disposition to meet subsidy
