THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

The special session of the British Parliament which commenced on Wednesday HURRAH FOR CHRISTMAS will be interesting. It was called on account of the commencement of hostilities) against the Ameer of Afghanistan, whose Lterritory has been lavaded by British ! forces. It appears to be the programme of the Liberal leaders in the two Houses of Parliament not to move any amend ment to the address in reply to the speech ONCEAYEAR selves with criticising the policy of the Administration, the Marquis of Hartington agreeing to vote in favour of the supplies in the House of Commons. is thought however, that at an early day a formal Party resolution of condemna-I tion will be proposed, which will test the Government's strength. It is further said I that the motion to be introduced in the COLDEN LION GROCERY House of Commons will not be moved by the Liberal leader, the Marquis of Hartington, but by an "independent" member, who is supposed to be a no less important member than the ex-leader, Mr Glad-I stone.
