This, The papers are still discussing the propo readers. Its partizanship seems to have driven it mad.

The Guelph Mercury talks about Mr Blake's return to the House of Commons "throwing terror into the Tory camp." This is following up the Hamilton Times' absurd nonsense on the subject. Mr Blake is an able man; but that the prospect of his presence in the House of Commons is "throwing terror into the Tory camp" is too ridiculous a statement to be treated seriously. While Mr Blake was in the House and in the Government he did not do such wonderful things as to cause his political opponents to regard him with any terror.

We do not expect that there will be any trouble in regard to the matter, nor have we heard of any dissatisfaction at the proposal. To secure the hearty co-operation of the members of the Party under any leader it is necessary that he be the unanimous choice of those who are to serve under him. If those who have taken a prominent position on the Conservative side of the House are satisfied that Mr Morris should succeed Mr Cameron, the less conspicuous members will, we have no doubt, endorse their action. If he be elected East Toronto, and if he be afterwards chosen as Opposition leader in the House of Assembly, we have every confidence that Mr Morris will win for himself the confidence and esteem of the Party at
