Washington, March 2. - The cabinet at its session yesterday, agreed upon an answer to the note of Earl Granville received here on 22nd of February, and it was mailed last night for London. It is brief, acknowledging in the most corteous language the receipt of Earl Granville's note, quoting that portion referring to the subject of consequential damages, and firmly adhering to our case as presented at Geneva. It is contended that the subject is one for arbitration under the treaty of Washington. The members of the cabinet till yesterday studiously avoided conversation on the subject, but after session, which lasted two eye witnesses. Their statements do not the note was finished, and that our governdiffer materially from the accounts already ment would stand by the position assumed in the beginning by the President. The mail from the State Department to Minister Shenck was immensely large, containing copies of th mooted points of the fwenty. An answer t the note of Secretary Fish, if any be sent, will not reach here before the 1st of April. New York, March 2. Arrived, the steamer France, from Liverpool.
