assure Parliament that, in case of fresh negotiations relative to the Alabama claims were entered upon with the American Gov. ernment, no proposals would be finally accepted until they had received the sanction of Parliament.

Mr Gladstone, in reply to Mr Horsman's question, said he informed the hon. gentleman last night that he had been unable to consult with his colleagues on the subject. He added that he was yet without the opportunity to do so, and consequently was not able to give the assurance asked for He would state, however, that Parliament would be informed at all times of the spirit, aim, direction, and policy of the Government on all important questions. As far as the Alabama claims were concerned he be. lieved the Speech of Her Majesty at the opening of the session gave all the necessary information. Mr Gladstone, in conclusion, said it would be impossible for the Government to delegate to Parliament the power of making treaties.

Mr Horsman, in reply to the last portion of Mr Gladstone's remarks, cited the fact that the American Senate had power to ratify or reject any treaty which the Gov ernment may negotiate.

it would be impossible to allow Parliament the treaty-making power, but at the same time stated that it was the duty of the Government to keep Parliament informed of any alteration of the Government policy.
