The Daily News.

TUESDAY EVENING, MAY 21.

THE NORTH WEST BOUNDARY OF ONTARIO.—The papers on this subject were laid before Parliament on Friday by Sir John A. Macdonald, and their perusal affords a very queer idea of statesmanship on the part of the Ontario Government. The correspondence opens with a letter from Mr Howland dated July 17th, 1871, suggesting the importance of having the boundary settled, and proposing a commission of two; one to be appointed by the Dominion Government, and one by the Ontario. A reply is sent to this communication on the 20th July promising the early consideration of the subject by the Governor's Council, and on July 28th the suggestion of the Ontario Governor is carried out by the Dominion authorities, and Mr G. E. Tache, of Quebec, is appointed Commissioner on the part of the Dominion, and the fact duly reported to Toronto on the 31st of the same month, and on September 21st the Lieut.-Governor of Ontario announces that Hon. W. McDougall has been appointed Commissioner on behalf of Ontario. On Nov. 30th a copy of an order in council is forwarded by Mr Howe on the subject of granting mining licenses and patents for lands in the neighbourhood of Lake Shebandowan and in places about the head of Lake Superior, and requests that the views of the Ontario Government may be communicated on the subject, at the same time a request is made that no licenses or patents should issue until the boundary line was fixed.

This ends the correspondence under the Sandfield McDonald administration, and as soon as the Blake Government became organized the reply to this suggestion is forwarded on Jany. 6th, 1872, by stating that the communication had been referred to the Commissioner of Crown Lands for Ontario, and as soon as a report upon it can be obtained, the decision of the Executive will be forwarded. And at the same time the Dominion Government is told that it would facilitate matters if the instructions to be given to the Dominion Commissioner were transmitted at the earlist moment for the consideration of the Ontario Government. This demand is acknowledged on Jany. 11th, and on March 14th the instructions are forwarded and an accompanying tracing to show the general boundary in the view of the Dominion Government. On March 26th, the Ontario Government acknowledges the receipt of this document, and then the strange announcement is made that:—The Commissioner appointed by Ontario has been instructed to abstain from any further action under his commission. And the document goes on to state that—

"The Committee advise that the Government of Canada be informed that the Province of Ontario claims that the boundary line is very different from the one defined by the instructions, and cannot consent to the prosecution of the Commission for the purpose of marking on the ground the line so defined."

Such a course of action very naturally caused a little flutter, and the Ontario Executive accordingly got a rap over the knuckles in a letter from the Secretary of State of date April 10th, in which the vehement and impetuous Grits are taught to look before they leap. Mr Howe recalls to their mind the fact of a saving clause in the instructions to this effect:

"That the Government of Ontario be invited to communicate their opinion together with a description of the boundary line which they would suggest as the correct one. Should it be found after an interchange of opinions that the two Governments cannot agree as to the location of the line, the Committee do not doubt that both Governments will feel it their duty to settle without delay, on some proper mode of determining, in an authoritative manner, the true position of such boundary."

The Ontario Government acknowledge the receipt of this letter, and by an order in council of date April 19th, they accept the proposed western boundary, and enclose their views on the boundary question as follows:

"The boundary line of Ontario is the international boundary from the mouth of Pigeon River, on Lake Superior, to a point west of the Lake of the Woods, where the international boundary line would be intersected by a line drawn north from the source of the Mississippi River, thence the boundary line of Ontario runs north to the point of intersection of the southern boundaries of the Hudson Bay Territories; thence the boundary line of Ontario is the southern boundary of those Territories to the point where that boundary would be intersected by a line drawn north from the head of Lake Temiscaming."

Not a word is said about the commission being allowed to proceed and settle the matter in dispute, and the correspondence closes on the 10th May by a minute of council asking the Ontario Government to prepare a statement of their case to be submitted immediately to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in England.

Now if any man can see any very great evidence of state-craft in the proceedings of the Blake Government, it is clear that his ideas are somewhat mixed. The Lieut.-Governor suggests a commission and one is appointed, and the moment the case is made out, it is found that the views of the two governments do not coincide. As soon as the Blake Ministry finds this out, it at once cancels its commissioner's commission and refuses to proceed further. Why the very fact of a commission being necessary presupposed a difference of opinion, and that certain matters were in dispute, and we can see no reason for the action of the Ontario Executive. We make no doubt that a grand howl will be raised over the expense of submitting the [illegible] case to the Privy Council, but there can the thing be determined! If the commission had been allowed to proceed, would very likely have determined all matters in dispute, and thus have saved a great sum to both treasuries. But this would not suit the Ontario fire-eaters, who perhaps were only too glad of an excuse to dismiss Mr Macdougall, probably to make way for some hungry applicant for his berth, and if the cards have now taken a new turn the Ontario Executive is simply to blame.

Another matter inadvertently comes to the surface during the discussion on this subject. The Globe had a tremendous article on this subject last week, and that too before the correspondence was made public. It would be interesting to know how the editor got his information. Is Mr Brown a member of the Ontario Executive, without the formality of being sworn in, and having the further right conferred upon him of divulging the executive secrets before the proper time? We would really like to see some explanation of the matter. The final correspondence was sent from Ottawa last Thursday and in the course of events could not have reached Toronto before Friday, the very day the papers were submitted at Ottawa, and yet the Globe appears to have known the whole matter in advance. It argues good journalistic ability, but the political morality is open to some grave doubts.

We of course are only too anxious to see the matter settled, but if not too late we would prefer to see the whole boundary settled in Canada, and we see no insuperable objections to its being done if the Ontario Government will allow the commission first appointed to proceed. But if such a course is now impossible, the fact will not be creditable to the parties who broke the matter off, and compelled the Dominion Executive to appeal to the highest court in the world. The moral is evident:—If you want to save expense, do not allow a Clear Grit Ministry to adjudicate, unless a thick and thin supporter is authorized by themselves to work up their case.

NEWS.—There is nothing like going from home for news occasionally. We find this verified by reading a telegram in the Globe of yesterday (Monday) from Kingston, which states that "a large and influential meeting was held on Saturday to nominate representatives for the city and country (county we suppose is meant) at the coming election." We are not told where this "large and influential meeting" was held, or who were present, except that "Mr Campbell was in the chair and Mr Agnew acted as Secretary." Who the Mr Campbell and Mr Agnew are, we are left to conjecture. We are further told that "Resolutions were carried condemning the action of our present representative (query which, the city or county?) and the capitulation at Washington was loudly denounced." How cruel for this "large and influential meeting" to carry resolutions "condemning the action of our present representatives." We hope it was not in consequence of the action of this "large and influential meeting" that the United States authorities have become so obstreperous lately. We are further informed that "A committee was formed to canvass the county and city; and the best efforts are to be put forth towards at last putting men in power who will look to the interests of the country." (Query, what about the city?) We are further kindly informed that this "large and influential meeting," as if wearied with their exertions in "carrying the resolutions," and "loudly denouncing the action of our present representative," stopped there, and so "No candidates were nominated, this important step being reserved for the meeting which is to take place in June, at which time it is expected the true feeling of the country will have been ascertained." One might think that this "'large and influential meeting' would have known something of the true feeling of the country" before meeting. Probably they had not heard that on the previous Thursday evening 125 of the peoples' representatives against 51 and 52 had voted in favour of the representative whom they were "condemning" and in favour of that "Washington capitulation" they were denouncing. It is very evident this little clique of Grit conspirators knew nothing of the feeling of the country, or they would have been ashamed to show their faces on Saturday. They may rest assured, however, that when they do come to know the feeling of the country it will bring them little comfort.

HYMENEAL.—As will be seen by the announcement in another column the Rev. Wm. Muckleston, Incumbent of Camden East, was this day united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Miss Ferres, a daughter of the late James M. Ferres, Esq.; Warden of the Provincial Penitentiary, and M. P. for Missiquoi. After the ceremony, which was performed at St. John's Church, Portsmouth, by the Rev. F. W. Dobbs, and the Rev. E. Loucks, of Williamsburgh, brother-in-law of the Bridegroom, the happy pair went off to New York on their wedding tour.

In the list of gentlemen who have been called to the bar, at Toronto we find the name of Mr James Alexander McDowall. Mr McDowall studied in the office of Messrs Campbell and Macdonnell. We gladly congratulate Mr McDowall upon his success.

THE NISSOURI MURDER — CONFESSION OF PHŒBE CAMPBELL.—We learn by the Mail that Phœbe Campbell has confessed that she and Coyle committed the murder of her husband. We will give full particulars to-morrow.

MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.—A meeting of the medical practitioners was called for last evening, (to elect a representative in the Council of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of this Terratorial Division), in the Mayor's Chambers, City Buildings; but there not being a quorum in attendance, proceedings were postponed to Thursday, till which time the meeting adjourned.

NOT SOLD.—The British American Hotel was not sold to-day, $14,000 being the highest offer.

Police Court.

(MR STRANGE, P.M., PRESIDING.)

Tuesday.—Mary Brunston, took a taste of something warm; it flew to her head and immediately she dropped into a state of semi-consciousness. The attendant constable repeated the charge preferred against this blooming Cruisette, and retired, reciting the well known lines,

When lovely woman stoops to folly,
And learns too late that gin betrays,
What charm can soothe her melancholy?

The Magistrate thought $2 and costs or 15 days would have the desired effect.

James Simpson was charged with drunkenness and furious driving—he being a city hackman. The police found his horses running at a fearful pace through the streets last evening, the prisoner sitting on the front seat utterly helpless through intoxication. He was fined $5 and costs or 15 days in gaol, his Worship at the same time remarking that he should not be granted a renewal of his license, and that if he (Simpson) were caught in a similar predicament again the punishment would be much more severe.

Agustus Goodall and Joseph Padden, two remarkable looking characters—one bearing the appearance of a person who had "roosted" out several nights, and the other as if he had been in bloody encounter, as indicated by his scratched and swollen face—paid the penalty of their transgressions (drunkenness and its attendant evils) to the tune of $2 or $15 days each.

John Ardiff, for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, was fined $2 and costs or 30 days in gaol. When locked in the cell, he upset the stove and pipes and otherwise acted so boisterously that it was necessary to remove his noisy presence to more secure quarters—a "move" which he considered, very "tough indeed."

Joseph and Timothy Green, boys of tender years, though hardened wretches of their age, were placed in the dock on a charge of breaking the trees in front of St. George's Hall, Wellington street, which they admitted. Committed for 30 days. The father of these children—too proud to beg, too honest to steal, though his sons are not very scrupulous as to what they do, it is said forces them to wander the street soliciting charity while he and his wife, "drunk and lazy," await their return to feast on their plunder.

The barge Annie left last evening for Montreal with 13,000 bushels of peas and wheat and 400 barrels of flour.

THE LONG SAULT.—The Canadian Navigation Company's Royal Mail steamers commenced running the Long Sault Rapids on Saturday—having avoided them in consequence of the low water so far this season.

The schooner Caledonia, in a damaged condition, was sold at the Court House, Belleville, under power of mortgage, for the sum of $2,925. Capt. Butler, of Cobourg, was the purchaser. The Caledonia is now at the shipyards of Messrs Rathbun, Mill Point, where she is to be thoroughly repaired.

The ice has drifted in blocking up the harbour yesterday and to-day, so that vessels could not enter. The propellers and tugs had some difficulty in getting in. A channel has been made this evening, and vessels are coming in freely. A large fleet is outside.

Garden Island, May 21.—Arrived last evening—Schooner D. M. Foster, from Bay City, with staves.

SUMMARY TRIALS.—Henry Trimmer, charged with burglary—forcibly entering the Grand Trunk Brewery on the night of the 15th of April and stealing from the till therein a small sum of money; and James Smith—stealing a pair of pants and a coat, both of which articles of clothing were found on his person, have each elected to be tried under the Summary Act in Interim Sessions, before Judge Burrowes on Thursday next. It is altogether likely that both will plead "guilty."

We omitted to mention when speaking of the late Mr Sidney Seobell yesterday that he presented to St. Paul's Church the communion table and chairs within the chancel, and was a large contributor to the building fund. The table and chairs were saved when the church was burned some years ago.

POLICE SALARIES.—The members of the Kingston police force are intending to present a memorial to the commissioners at the next monthly inspection asking for an increase of salary. It will not, we presume, be considered out of place; other places have advanced the remuneration allowed the police for sixteen hours service per diem, and Kingston is as well able to grant this reasonable request.

HUNTING.—Going to Kingston last Wednesday we (Gananoque Reporter) noticed large flocks of ducks, of the species known as 'Old Wives,' from their peculiar cry. Along the shore of St. John's Island the water was almost covered with them; and the steamer passed them at such a short distance that a man accustomed to shooting ducks might have killed hundreds.

ARRIVAL OF IMMIGRANTS.—Since last we referred to this subject, one hundred and eleven immigrants have arrived in Kingston, fifty of whom reached the city last evening, and were being distributed to various places and kinds of employment to-day. A large number of others—passengers by the steamship Prussian—were reported as being on their way hither. It will thus be observed that this district and agency is being well supplied with this class of people this season. The demand is in no wise diminishing—there is yet ample room for hundreds more. The arrivals so far are generally English, of healthy and robust constitution and well-able and willing to work.

We beg to call attention to the advertisement of Mr. Kent, of Kerby street, Hatton Garden, London, to be found in another column.

The mails by the Nestorian were delivered at the Kingston Post Office this morning.

The rehearsal of the united choirs of St. George's and St. Paul's, owing to the absence of Mr Doward, has been postponed from Wednesday to Thursday evening.

CANADIANS ABROAD.—It is only a few days since we referred to the manner in which Dr. McCammon passed his examination, and was admitted to the degree M.D. of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, and this morning we are in receipt of the Edinburgh Scotsman of 7th inst. by which we observe that Mr Gerald Bernard and Mr Elswood Chaffey, both of Kingston, and Graduates of the Royal College of Surgeons, Kingston, recently passed their final examinations, and were admitted L.R.C.P., Edinburgh, and L.R.C.S., Edinburgh. We have much pleasure in congratulating the friends of these young gentlemen on their brilliant success. We also observe among the same announcements the name of Mr John Fraser, Ontario, Canada, as having passed his final examination, and admitted a licentiate of the Royal College of Surgeons, Edinburgh. We may add that Dr. Chaffey is a son of Mr George Chaffey, and Dr. Bernard is a son of Major Bernard, of the late R.C.R.

The Court of Revision commenced to-day with the hearing of appeals against assessment for Cataraqui Ward. The cases of Frontenac Ward will be heard to-morrow afternoon.

MENDELSSOHN QUINTETTE CLUB.—We venture to remark that a very large and enthusiastic audience will be present at the City Hall on the evening of Friday next, to tender a warm and worthy reception to the Mendelssohn Club. Speaking of their concert at Detroit, the Free Press says:—"Close your eyes, and you are transported to another world, where the very air seems laden with melody; delicious strains are dying away on every passing breeze; and you revel in your rapturous dreams in rest more blissful than the Lotus Eaters till the last note has died upon your ear, and you are rudely awakened to the realities of life by the thunders of applause that burst forth on all sides of you.
